[illegible]he Pacific and Peace.
[illegible]ding and Thinking.
[illegible]ter Days and Weeks.
[illegible]ssia and Dreams.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WELCOMING THE Japanese prince, Takamatsu, brother of the Mikado, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler spoke tactfully and in a happy vein of Japan's achievements, and the name of Good Augur given to the Great Ocean that separates and unites America and Japan. The Pacific will be to the world in future what the Mediterranean was once, and the Atlantic is now, the earth's most important body of water.

Its name should be typical of relations between the Japanese and American nations. All competition between them should be competition in science, in more efficient methods of increasing human happiness and prosperity.

Within a generation the flying machine will have made the Pacific as narrow as the English Channel of 100 years ago, and Japan will be more accessible from America than England was from France when Napoleon sat waiting for a chance to attack.

ON SATURDAY the magnificent $7,000,000 Sterling Library became, officially, the property of Yale University. The new building, a handsome Gothic structure, is the gift of John W. Sterling, a New York lawyer, graduate of 1864, who left his entire fortune to Yale.

President Angell, of Yale, accepts the structure as "a temple of the mind."

THE LIBRARY exists, one of the finest in the world, and the two questions now are, how can you make young men read seriously, and how can you make them think, as they read?

Oceans and lakes are full of water. The problem is to distribute the water on dry ground. The library shelves carry all knowledge. The problem is to transfer it to human minds.

Newspapers should do that, working as nature does, spreading information in millions of small drops, as rain scatters water.

WILLIAM GREEN, head of the Federation of Labor, says the working weeks should be reduced to five days, thus ending unemployment.

There is no doubt that machinery produces faster than consumers can use its products under our social system.

There is no doubt that in ordinary times machinery, with men working six days, produces too much, making men idle.

And there is no doubt that men have got to live. No nation could exist, HALF STARVED AND HALF FED.

IF ALL the human beings on earth, "from Peking to Paris and from Paris to Rome," had all they need, food, clothes, automobiles, radios, washing machines, there would be no over-production, in fact not nearly enough.

But, while consumption slowly increases, some plan must be found to keep workers fed and contented, in this nation which has "too much of everything," except perhaps intelligence.

THE SHORTER day, shorter week, and perhaps, as Mr. Ford suggests, a shorter year of 10 working months, in many lines, will be necessary. Certainly human beings would be none the worse for a little leisure to study the earth on which they live.

And business, which has survived the eight-hour day, although some said it could not be done, could also survive the five-day week.

THE "LIBERAL," excellent monthly published by Ohio State University, asks:

"Is Russia dangerous?"

That question invites another:

"Dangerous to what, to whom?"

In Russia, a few men of terrific energy are trying to transform a nation of 200,000 agricultural villages into a great industrial nation. And those that mocked the effort at first, because they disliked Russia's political idea, now admit that it appears to be successful, temporarily at least.

TEMPORARILY, Russia may threaten producers of wheat and cotton in other countries, by lowering prices. The importation of American machinery appears to have produced extraordinary results. But there is no reason why Russia should be dangerous to this country, unless this country goes to sleep and fails to keep up with the procession. We have land, machines, money, men and intelligence, and should be able to hold our own.

Some day it will be shown that each nation, working shorter hours, fewer days, producing nearly all that it needs, buying what it lacks, can be made absolutely self-supporting. There will be no danger for anybody then, and probably little, if any, danger of war.

ANOTHER PUBLICATION, the Brooklyn Jewish Examiner, plans "a superb radio broadcast of the meaning of dreams," and asks, "would you kindly give us one of your typical dreams for interpretation?"

A typical dream with many is a dream of doing something really worth while in the world, and a typical awakening is the realization that the dream cannot come true. It is a dream that comes with youth, and fades as years pass.

An interesting dream is the "falling dream," said by evolutionists to date from the day when we lived in trees and our mothers occasionally dropped us off a branch.

CORONER SIFTS 2 GAS DEATHS

Coroner William J. McGregor, in company with Richard Clowes and James Shields, of the Perfect Exterminator Service, visited the Ramey Apartments, 12 East North avenue, today to investigate the fumigation process which yesterday took the lives of two women and affected three other tenants in the building. The building, police said, is owned by Nettie Gordon.

The coroner, who has been attending a crime school in Evanston, Ill., made a hurried trip home when informed of the deaths to take personal charge of the investigation.

He announced he would not hold the men on bond, since there

Mayor Continues To Gain in Hospital

Considerable improvement was noted again today in the condition of Mayor Charles H. Kline as the patient began his second week in St. Francis Hospital, where he was operated upon last week for a malignant carbuncle.

Although there were many callers at the hospital none of the Mayor's friends was permitted to see him. Only Mrs. Kline is permitted in the room. Today the Mayor was reported cheerful.

25 MARINES SLAIN IN BATTLE

10 Civilians Killed When Rebels Wreck U. S. Fruit Firm's Plantation, Offices

COLON, Panama, April 13.—(INS.)—Twenty-five United States Marines and 10 civilians were reported killed today in a clash with Nicaraguan rebels at Puerto Cabezas, according to unconfirmed dispatches reaching here from Bluefields.

The civilians were employes of the Standard Fruit Company, an American concern, whose offices and plantations were wrecked by a rebel band numbering several hundred.

Direct news from Puerto Cabezas was unobtainable, owing to the fact the rebels wrecked the radio station. A number of houses were reported burned to the ground by the insurgents.

The Marines were members of a detachment from U. S. S. Asheville, which was dispatched to Puerto Cabezas with the first outbreak of rebel activity yesterday.

AMMUNITION GONE

The clash occurred a short while after a landing force had been sent out from the Asheville. Meeting with unexpectedly strong opposition, the landing force soon exhausted their supply of ammunition. Several Marines were reported killed in the skirmish.

Prior to the arrival of the Asheville, a large force of rebels attacked the offices of the Standard Fruit Company at Puerto Cabezas. Several American employes were reported killed in defending the property, which was wrecked and looted by the insurgents.

The killings followed an earlier outbreak at Logtown, where Capt. Harlan Pefley, of the Marines, was slain by rebel bandits.

OPPOSED BY 500

Marine forces from the Asheville landed to find themselves confronted by 500 heavily armed insurgents, who immediately opened fire. The Marines returned the volley, and a sharp encounter occurred.

Bombing planes were sent out from Managua to aid the Marines, who entrenched themselves at Moss Farm for a last stand. The Marine patrol from Puerto Cabezas, under Sergt. Taylor, bore the brunt of the first rebel attack.

The U. S. S. Memphis, dispatched from Havana at the first sign of the outbreak, is expected to reach the disordered area shortly with a force of 500 men.

AVIATRIX RUTH NICHOLS

RUTH NICHOLS SETS RECORD

DETROIT, April 13.—(AP.)—Ruth Nichols, Rye, N. Y., aviatrix, set a new speed record for women over a three-kilometer course here this morning, with a speed of 210.685 miles per hour. Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam held the previous record of 181.157 miles an hour.

Taking off from the Grosse Isle Airport at 6:50 a. m., to avoid crosswinds forecast for later in the day, Miss Nichols, flying the Lockheed-Vega plane in which she set the women's altitude record last month, sped over an official course laid out near the flying field.

Miss Nichols made two flights, one against strong south wind and the other with the wind. Her speed was determined by averaging the two flights.

Kambach's $25,000 Estate Given Father

The will of former Councilman George J. Kambach, who died two weeks ago, was filed for probate today, and disposed of an estate valued at $25,000. The entire estate, with the exception of his insurance policies, was left to his father, George A. Kambach. The policies were left to his sister, who died shortly after her brother.

Prince of Belgians Leaves for America

DEMPSEY'S WIFE WILL FIGHT SUIT

By HAZEL FLYNN
International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Whatever the world may believe of the statement credited to Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, concerning his divorce plans, his wife, Estelle Taylor, film star, puts no stock in it. She declared today:

"Jack never said anything like that. He is too chivalrous."

That was her first remark after she had read a copyright story in the Los Angeles Examiner which said Dempsey had told reporters he was in Reno to get a divorce.

The Examiner story said he told the reporter he was there to get the divorce at his wife's behest; that he had hoped to dodge publicity for her sake, and that the pair had come to the parting of the ways because Estelle put her cinema career and the hope of a brilliant future in opera above home life.

FAITH APPARENT

I spent several hours alone with Estelle just after she had read the newspaper story. She was shocked, but still seemed to have faith in her husband. She said:

"I can't believe it. Jack couldn't say anything like that. Why I have just returned from putting my mother and grandmother on a train. They are bound for Salt Lake City, where Jack was to meet them.

"I must repeat that I don't believe he said any of those things. But if he did I'll fight him to the last ditch. I'll never let him get a divorce."

DENIES CAREER INTERFERED

Her deep eyes flashed as she considered what the newspaper quoted Dempsey as saying. She exclaimed:

"Not made him a real wife! Let my career interfere with our domestic happiness! Why I have given up dozens of engagements in order to be with him, and have crossed the continent nine times just to spend a few hours with him."

Elopement in Plane Balked By Weather, Cab Driver Acts as 'Cupid'

ATLANTA, Ga., April 13.—An attempted airplane elopement and its sequel were told today when it became known that Lillian Roth, featured movie and vaudeville "blues" singer, had married William C. Scott, 22, flying student and son of a Pittsburgh lumberman.

They were married by Dr. W. H. Faust, of the Gordon Street Baptist Church, after rain kept them from flying to North Carolina for the ceremony. Miss Roth had just completed a theatrical engagement here.

The couple thought it was necessary to wait five days between obtaining the license and being married in Georgia. On their return from the flying field, a taxi

CONTRACTOR FACES CITY PROBE

Ex-Controller Seeks to Prove Firm, Jobholder Hauled Materials Away

The charge that cement and left-over materials bought by the city for street improvements had been hauled to the storage yards of a city contractor and to the home of a city engineer was made today at City Council's public investigation of charges of inefficiency in the Department of Public Works.

Repeatedly blocked in his efforts to question Director Edward G. Lang concerning political appointments in his department and to show that the "door to fraud had been opened," Attorney Henry Oliver Evans, instigator of the probe, called Melvin Hart, a supervisor of the M. O'Herron Company, a city contractor, and obtained from him the declaration that new cement and other left over materials had been hauled to the O'Herron storage yards and to the home of Wesley A. Wolfe, a city engineer.

CEMENT TAKEN

Hart said that he had been ordered to haul the cement, left over from an improvement in Diamond street, away before "the boss got here." The cement, he said, was taken to the O'Herron Company South Side yards.

To Hart's charge that old paving materials had been hauled in O'Herron's trucks to his home, Wolfe, on the stand and questioned by Attorney Lee C. Beatty, counsel for Director Lang, said that he had used 237 truckloads of old material to improve Oklahoma street, where he lives. About 1,600 feet of this street, which he described as a "mudhole," was made passable by the use of the leftover materials, he said.

Hart, who said that he h[illegible] charge of trucks and drivers on a number of city improvements for which the O'Herron company had the contract, testified that he had

Hoover Grieved at Death Of Uncle Who Aided Him

Maj. Miles, 87, former Indian agent, who opened his home to the fatherless Herbert Hoover here 43 years ago, succumbed yesterday.

Both the President and Vice President Charles Curtis were "his boys." Mr. Hoover, following the death of his father, in West Branch, Ia., spent a year in the big stone residence from which the Osage Indians were ruled. Mr. Curtis, on the rolls of the Kaw tribe as a youth, was under the guardianship of Maj. Miles.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—President Hoover will be unable to attend the funeral of his uncle, Maj. Laban J. Miles, who died at Pawhuska, Okla., yesterday, but he was deeply grieved by his death.

President Hoover lived with Maj. Miles for a year when he was 7 years old.

Illinois Governor Vetoes State Dry Repealer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 13.—(AP.)—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson today vetoed a bill for repeal of the Illinois search and seizure laws.

The measure, which would have placed Illinois sixth in the column of states repealing their prohibition enforcement acts, had been enacted by the state Senate by only a two-vote margin, 26 to 24. For more than two decades the state Senate has been traditionally dry, while the House has thrice passed repeal bills.

In his veto message the Governor said the efforts of Illinois "wets" to strike all prohibition laws from the statute books was nullificationism.

Last November the voters of Illinois, by a large majority, expressed their approval of repeal in a referendum vote which was adopted as the chief argument of the anti-prohibition group in the Legislature this year.

HOOVER LAUDS RED CROSS RELIEF IN DROUGHT CRISIS

PRAISES ACT IN REFUSING U. S. FUND

Organization Would Have Lost 'Spiritually' by Acceptance, He Asserts

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Emerging from a winter marked by two national emergencies—the drought and unemployment — and during which their work was bitterly attacked by many members of Congress, those who direct the Red Cross assembled here amid the sunshine and cherry blossoms today and received the praise of their chief and President of the United States.

President Hoover said:

"During this past year this great mutual institution of the whole people has been put again to severe tests, not only as to its practical ability to meet national disaster, but a test involving its whole moral and spiritual purpose. You have, under most difficult handicaps, again demonstrated that it can meet and relieve human suffering in any national disaster."

CITES CONTROVERSY

He referred indirectly to the controversy with Congress regarding the attempt to force a government appropriation for drought relief work, and he put the date of the beginning of the Red Cross work as far back as last August. He said:

"It was that far-sighted action and that early action which enabled the saving of this multitude of people from infinite suffering. Unfortunately, men less familiar with the resources and the ability and the courage of the American people in mutual action under their own Red Cross, men no doubt genuinely concerned over the growing seriousness of the situation, were skeptical of your abilities and the forces which give it strength, and were insistent that the Red Cross should abandon its voluntary character, should abandon its independence and its foundations in service which are part of the spiritual life of our country, and become in effect a government bureau through federal appropriations as the source of its funds."

"VITAL FORCE"

He said the critics had failed to take into account the fact that the Red Cross represents "a vital and precious force in our people—their ability and strength in voluntary action and their sense of service and of moral responsibility."

Mr. Hoover declared the Red Cross sprang from the people and is part of their spiritual expression. He said:

"It was a momentous decision which confronted you, to refuse the easy course that was proposed (a congressional appropriation of $25,000,000), and it has been due to you, to your courage, your resolution, and devotion, that it has been possible even in time of extreme economic difficulty. To prove your strength and ability to meet national emergencies, by finding from your members the financial resources on the one hand and the ability and sense of service for distribution on the ohter.

RUIN TO SPIRIT

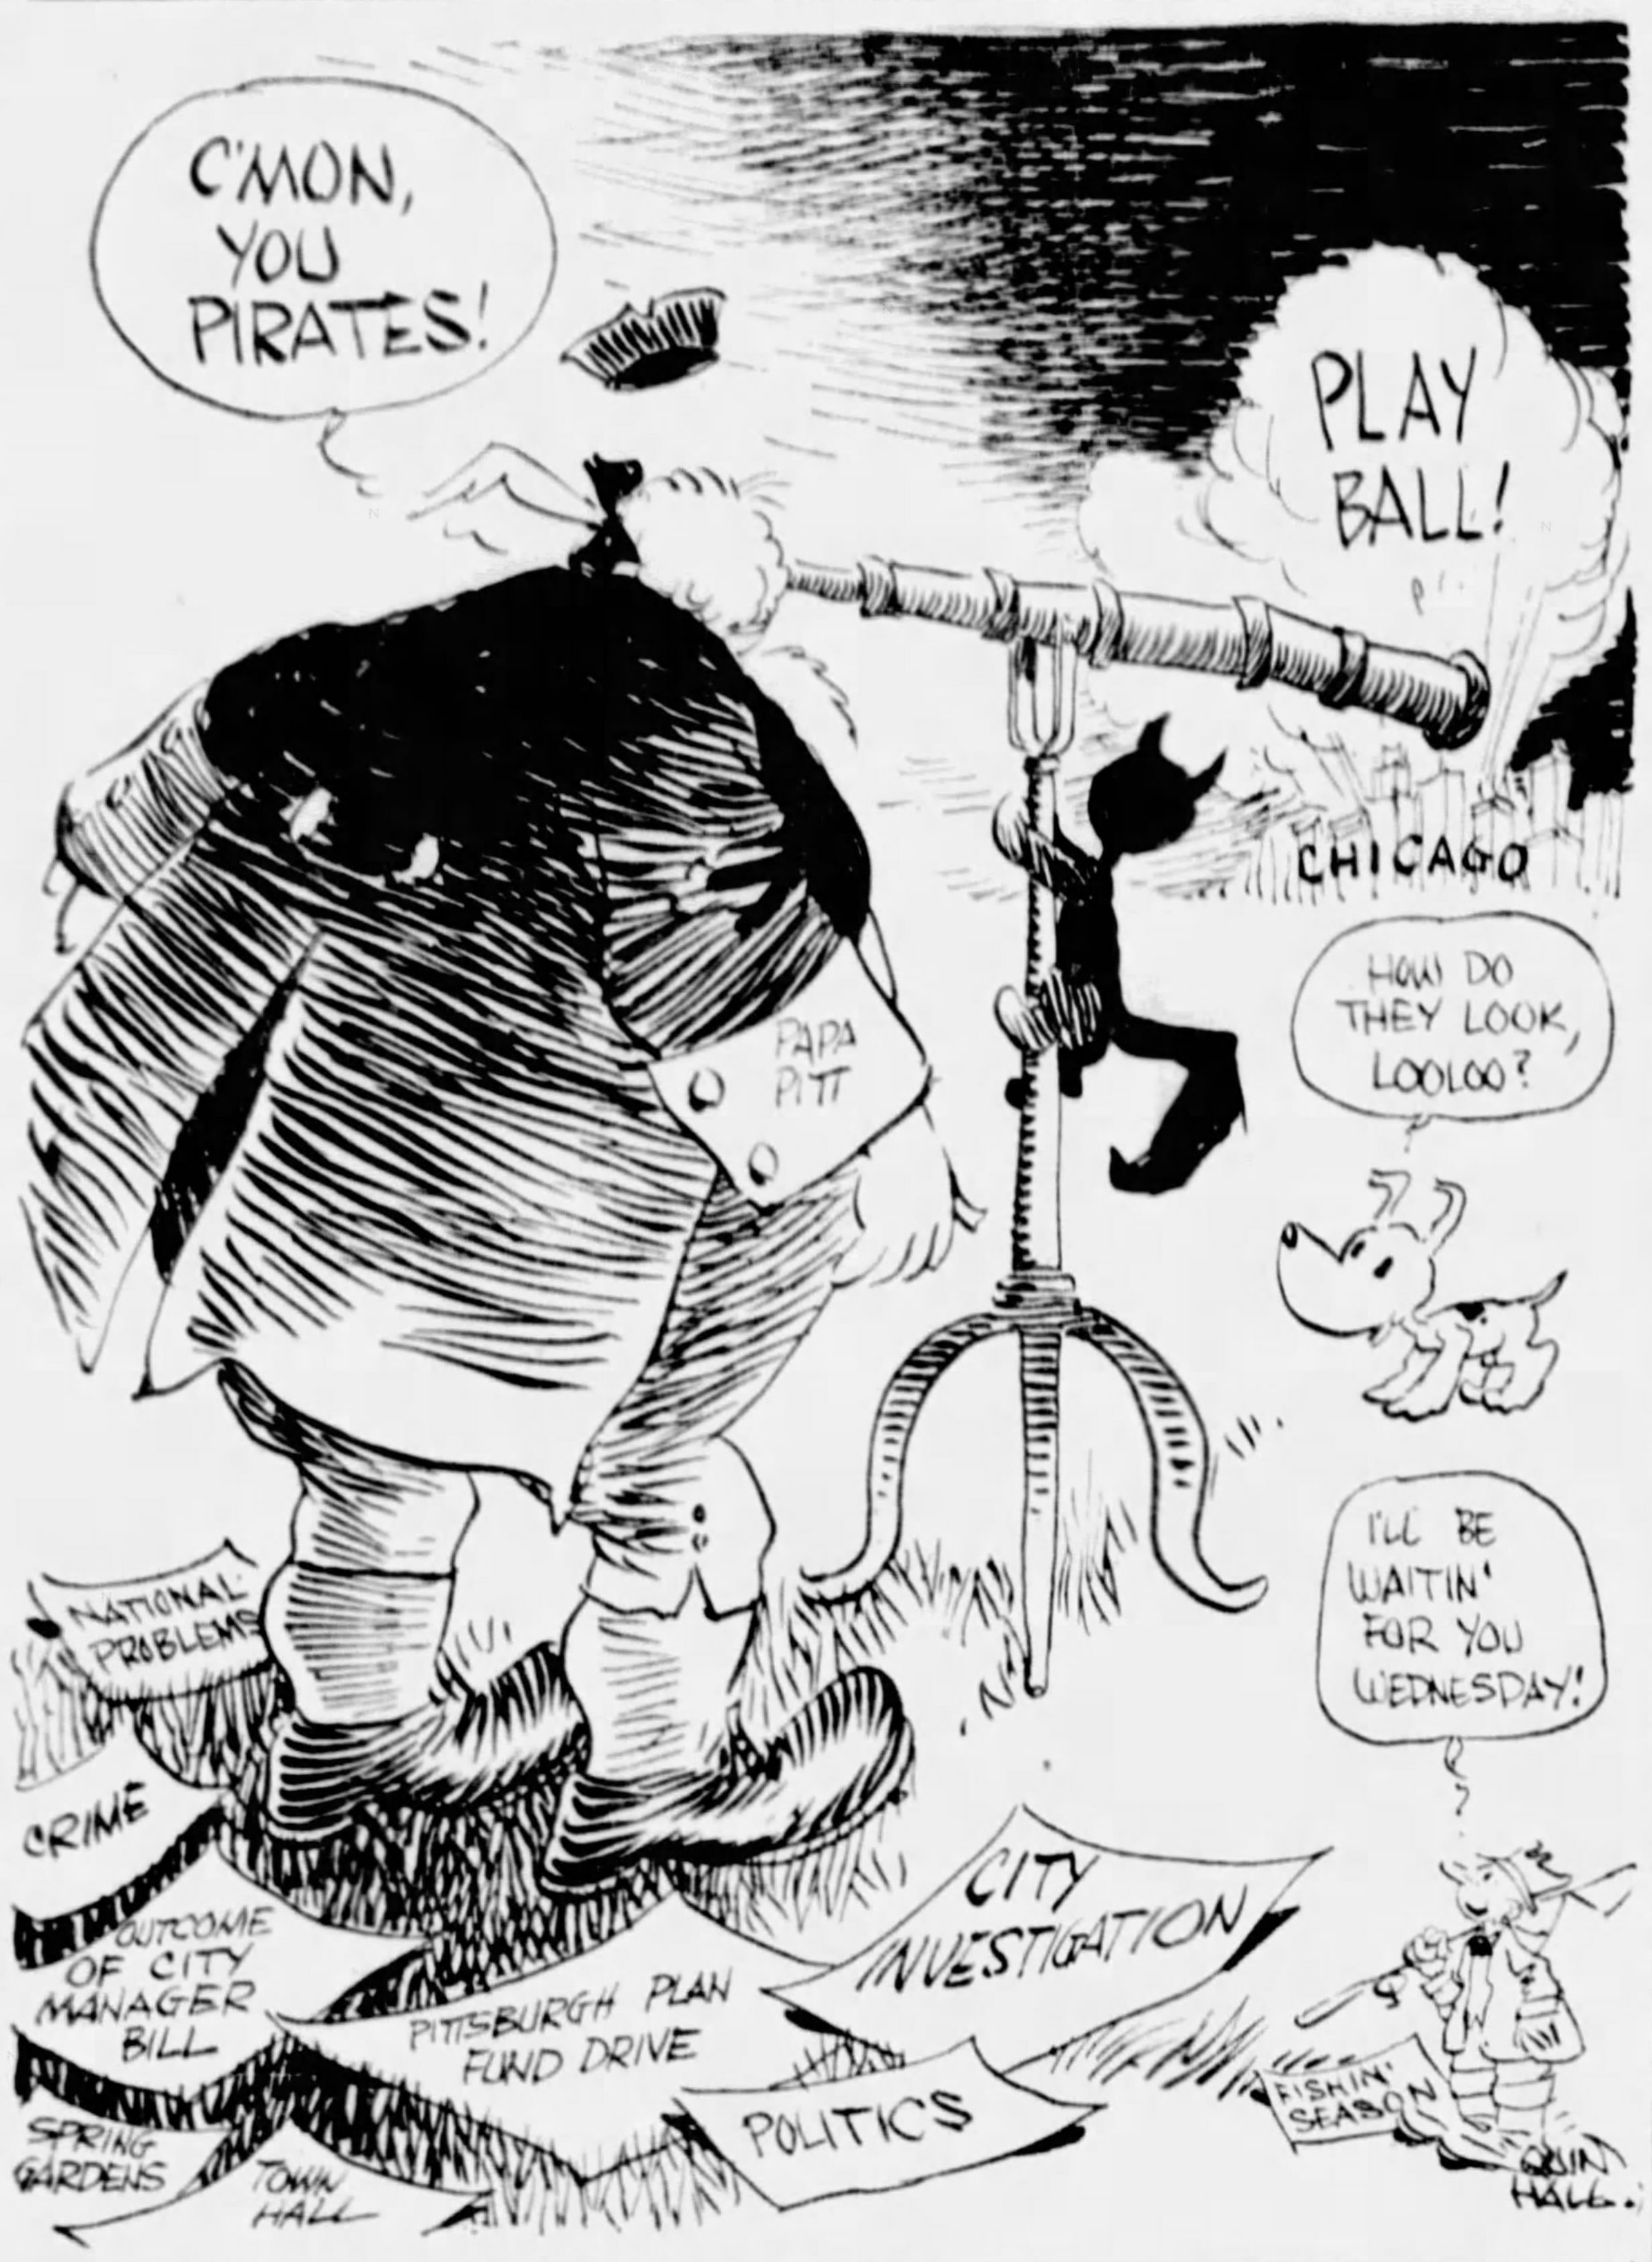
"If your officers had yielded on this occasion, the Red Cross would have been rendered impotent in the face of every future national emergency, for it would have been inevitable to turn to the government and the taxpayer; it would have meant the destruction of the spirit of the Red Cross and it would have been the destruction of something even greater than voluntary service—it would have injured the spiritual responses of the American people. It would have been a step on the pathway of government doles."

Hoover to Continue Jobless Committee

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS.) — Activities of the President's Emergenc Committee for nployment will not be terminated after the period of the sent emergency, although some its functions will be absorbed the labor stabilization board, l. Arthur Woods, chairman, announced today.

Just how long Woods will remain on the job has not been decided, but he will remain long enough to so organize the committee that knowledge gained from work already done will not be lost.

TOMORROW'S FOCAL POINT—By Quin Hall



TEACHER FACES SANITY TEST

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 13.—(AP.)—The next move in the case against Mrs. Frances Thomsen, of 1920 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Wellesley College graduate and former school teacher, who was remanded to the Luzerne County jail Saturday on a charge of murder for the slaying of Miss Minnie E. Dilley, aged spinster, of Forty Fort, today awaited formulation of plans by the defense. District Attorney Thomas M. Lewis, following the testimony at Saturday's hearing, indicated that if the defense does not move to question the defendant's sanity, the commonwealth will.

Regarding the expressed belief of the defendant, that Miss Dilley wanted her husband to head a love cult, Carl Thomsen said after the hearing that such statements were "simply the wild imaginations of my wife's jealously insane mind." He said:

"She often accused me of co-operating with Miss Dilley in a plan to start a 'school for love' in the Poconos, and sometimes she imagined we were going to establish it in the heart of New York City. The very idea is absurd. Miss Dilley never even intimated such a thing to me."

Store Man, Held Up, Fires on Bandit Car

After two young bandits had held him up in the P. H. Butler store at 9 Judicial street, Mt. Washington, today, John Shick, the manager, fired four shots at the auto in which they escaped. It was not determined whether any of the shots took effect.

67 Cases Reported For City Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 11; diphtheria, 3; whooping cough, 1; measels, 15; chicken pox, 14; mumps, 9; pneumonia, 13, and erysipelas, 1.

Old Fireplace Curley's Gift To Coolidge

BOSTON, April 13.—(AP.)—A fireplace which knew Calvin Coolidge as an ambitious and not too conspicuous member of the Massachusetts Legislature is to be his. It is the wish of Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston.

The Mayor struck the first blows in the razing of the old Adams House today, but before doing so he obtained the promise of the wrecking company that the fireplace in the two rooms and bath Mr. Coolidge occupied while serving as Northampton's representative in the Legislature would be kept intact so it could be sent to the former President.

PARK TO EXTEND GRAND JURY

District Attorney Andrew T. Park said today he was considering extending the work of the June grand jury, apparently to answer, in part, the demand for a summer court.

Park is planning to recall the June grand jury one week after it is discharged, usually June 12. Persons indicted during the jury's second sitting, therefore, could be tried before the end of the month, when the judges' vacations usually begin.

Complaint has been made that, because there is no court, prisoners have been held in jail all summer. Records show that 80 per cent of them obtain their freedom when court re-opens.

Pickerings to Relinquish Merchandising Field

Pickering's, one of Pittsburgh's oldest furniture stores and a pioneer in the extension of credit and popularizing of advertising slogans, today announces its retirement from the merchandising field.

Thomas Pickering, founder of the store, who began his business life as a carpet weaver, set up his first business in a second hand furniture store on the site now occupied by Boggs and Buhl, in At his death in 1890, his occupied a three-story ing on the present site. By 1915, the building had grown to 12 stories.

Within 25 years after Pickering's was organized, leaders of the retail furniture business visited Pittsburgh to study the store's advertising and merchandising methods which attracted national attention.

One of the store's accomplishments in advertising was to make the slogan, "Pickerings—Nuf Ced," an accepted word with shoppers.

For 58 years, the store has grown with Pittsburgh.

WOMEN RIVALS SCOFF AT DRY VICTORY

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—On the heels of the departing drys, a national organization of women opposed to prohibition took the stage in Washington today with the firm announcement that "no prohibitionist can be elected President in 1932."

Last week the capital reverberated with the miltant warnings of a feminine dry organization against any tinkering with the dry laws. This week the tables are to be turned, with the assembly here of the Women's Organiztion for Prohibition Reform, headed by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, of New York, wife of a prominent New York banker and an accomplished politician in her own right.

Mrs. Sabin pooh-poohed the claims advanced here last week by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody that "twelve million women are opposed to any change in the prohibition laws." In the first place, Mrs. Sabin said, Mrs. Peabody's organization did not represent 12 million women, nor anything approaching that. In the second place, she said, her own organization is "living refutation" of the theory that women generally are prohibitionists.

WON'T SEE HOOVER

The feminine wets will hold the stage for three days. They will not call upon President Hoover, as did their dry sisters, because they frankly recognize that Mr. Hoover is opposed to their aims.

Further fuel was added to the wet-dry controversy today also by an opinion of Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, that sale of fruit juice concentrates capable of producing wine is not in keeping with the spirit and intent of the prohibition laws. The dry chief so stated today in a letter to Rufus S. Lusk, secretary of the Crusaders, a national organization which is working toward repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

GRAPE JUICE WAR

This again brings the grape concentrate up for public discussion. The Federal Farm Board has given aid to the grape growers and with a few exceptions the government has encouraged, rather than hindered the sale of concentrates.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition, is now attorney for some of the grape concentrate people, adding interest to the distribution of a product alleged to become wine through processes of nature.

Dry Agent Fired For Rough Tactics

WASHINGTON, April 13. —(INS.)—Federal Prohibition Agent Carroll T. Byrd, attached to the St. Louis office, has been dropped from the service for "rough tactics" during a recent prohibition raid there, Col. A. W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, announced today.

Byrd was charged with striking a bystander during a speakeasy raid.

Predicts Congress Won't Boost Taxes

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—Repre entative Bacharach, of New Jersey, one of the ranking members of the House Ways and Means Committee, expressed the opinion today that there would be no increase in taxation during the next session of Congress.

The Treasury deficit, Bacharach said, could be met by short-term financing rather than by an immediate increase in income or other taxes.

PINCHOT'S BILL GUARDS UNIONS

porations and unions can get the service by asking.

"PROTECTIVE SERVICE"

Industries have the right to ask for police. But the same right is given labor unions.

Instead of the limit of 500 men to be secured, as provided in the original bill, the limit will be cut in half and set at 250.

The "protective service" will have distinctive uniforms and will be a sub-branch of the state government; their power would be that of police of cities of the first class and constables their hiring would be for a period of three months—at least that much notice must be given before a service man would be removed from his job.

STATE CAN'T BE SUED

The state disavows all responsibility for the acts of the men—meaning the state cannot be sued.

The employer cannot choose the men, this power resting with the Governor and his men.

Any man is barred from taking employment with a concern to which he is attached or with a sheriff for a period of one year after he leaves protective service.

The measure includes a repealer for the present Mansfield act, and has other minor provisions governing the return of equipment and covering duties.

'Round-World Flier To Wed Society Girl

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Hugh Herndon, Jr., who plans to leave Roosevelt Field within a month on a 'round-the-world flight, is going to marry Miss Mary Ellen Farley, New York society girl, before he starts. Their engagement was announced today.

Coolidge Favors States Taking Over Public Lands

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 13.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

Almost from the inception of the national government the disposal of the public lands has been a live issue. Most of the good tillage land on the Great Plains has been sold, but there remain large tracts suitable for pasturage and others covered with timber and holding deposits of oil, coal and metals.

Mr. Coolidge

These lands belong to the nation. The states of the Atlantic Seaboard have the same property rights in them as the Rocky Mountain region. But under present laws the revenue from their sale goes mostly for the benefit of the states where they are located. If these states would take over both the land and irrigation projects, it would not be a bad trade for the nation.

But the national policy of conservation is involved. These resources ought to be used for the public benefit, and no guaranty has ever been devised to prevent states from turning them over to private and probably selfish speculation and exploitation. With proper restrictions against such action and reserves for national defense a feasible plan for state ownership could be developed. At least the rather unjustifiable complaint that government lands pay no taxes and retard progress would be stilled.

CONTRACTO FACES CITY PROBE

been ordered to haul leftover materials to the company's storage yards in Bloomfield, and that later it had been hauled to O'Herron jobs in Millvale and Bellevue.

TESTIMONY DISPUTED

Hart was frequently interrupted by arguments as to the ownership of old materials. Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert, J. J. Croak and other engineers of the department contended that old materials on city improvements frequently became the property of contractors. It was also brought out that the contractor is paid to remove all material not suitable for the job.

W. F. Swearin, one of the assistant engineers called by Attorney Beatty, said that most of the old paving material was exceptionally bad and not worth storing, to which Attorney Evans said:

"Yet it was in the contract that the stone was to be stored in the city yards. Why wasn't it taken there?"

Swearin, becoming confused, replied:

"I imagine that the contractors were told that the stone wasn't wanted."

Evans retorted:

"So the city gives them the stone."

"I wouldn't say that they gave them anything."

"Well, the contractor sells broken stone at $1.50 a yard and he gets it from the job for nothing—that's what your testimony shows, doesn't it?"

ENGLISH CRITICIZES

Councilman W. Y. English interrupted at this juncture and said:

"If the contract says the stone should be delivered to the city dump, it should have gone there. I don't care who is bringing this investigation."

A parade of witnesses, including officials of the O'Herron company and city engineers, emphatically denying the allegations made by Hart, followed. And time after time, ignoring the subject they were protesting, Attorney Evans questioned them concerning the presence of city inspectors at the O'Herron company office.

From Joseph Kissane, Sr., president of the O'Herron company, and C. W. Wolfe, secretary, Attorney Evans attempted to obtain the admission that their acquaintance with city inspectors was more than passing. He asked Wolfe:

"Were any city inspectors ever on the O'Herron company payroll under their own names or under assumed names?"

"Did you ever see any inspectors at the office of the M. O'Herron Company?"

To the former question, Wolfe gave emphatic denial.

INSPECTORS AROUND

Both admitted, however, that city inspectors had been around the O'Herron company offices, but only to inquire when work was to be started.

When the hearing resumed this morning Attorney Evans called Director Lang as his first witness. Attorney Beatty demanded that Evans make a general statement as to the line of questioning he intended to pursue. Evans replied that he sought to question Director Lang concerning political appointments in the Department of Public Works. President John S. Herron sustained objection and directed Evans to confine his questioning to the 78 city improvements mentioned in his general charge. After adjournment this afternoon the hearing will be resumed tonight for the second night session since Evans began airing his charges on March 25.

MacDonald Returns For Parliament Fight

LONDON, April 13.—(AP.)—Fresh from the calm atmosphere of his homeland hills at Lossiemouth, Prime Minister MacDonald arrived in London today ready for the battle which is promised in the after-Easter session of Parliament beginning tomorrow.

He found prospects for a very close vote on the motion to censure his government when the matter is brought up Thursday.

Escapes 'Death Ride' By Wrecking Car

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 13.—(INS.)—Anthony La Rosa, 33, alleged hijacker, was in the detention ward at the City Hospital here today recovering from a bullet wound in the head which he received while being "taken for a ride" in an alleged rum war. La Rosa escaped the customary death by wrecking the car in which he was being given his fateful excursion, police said.

Curwood Pen Proxy, New Englander Wed

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Dorothea Briant, English novelist, who was chosen to complete the works of the late James Oliver Curwood, and Richard L. Starr, of Guilford, Conn., were married here Saturday. They left for a honeymoon in the Michigan woods, where many of Curwood's books were written.

was no legislation governing fumigation processes.

Three victims, two of them women, were reported recovering today in the Allegheny General Hospital from poisonous gas which swept through the apartment yesterday shortly after the basement of the building was fumigated.

NURSE, TEACHER DIE

The dead are Julia White, 30, a nurse, and Marie Mohney, 32, a school teacher, of 403 Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg. In the hospital are Florence I. Mohney, a nurse; her sister, Caroline, a stenographer, and Clair McGinnis, an automobile salesman.

Miss White and Florence Mohney lived in a third floor apartment. Miss Mohney's sisters were visiting her. McGinnis occupied a second-floor apartment. Florence Mohney is a graduate of the Allegheny General Hospital, and Miss White was employed by the Public Health Nursing.

Dr. M. H. McCaffrey, of Crafton, answering a call from the apartments, found the victims. After breaking down the door of the Mohney apartment, he called additional physicians and police to the scene. Patrols from three precincts rushed the victims to the hospital.

Autopsies performed at the morgue revealed the deaths were due to hydrocyanic gas, which is generated from a solution of sodium syanide, sulphuric acid and water.

EASTERN LAW CITED

The coroner for the past year has been fighting for legislation governing the work of exterminators, and at one time corresponded with City Council to have an ordinance passed preventing occupants from entering a fumigated dwelling until 24 hours after the process.

The deaths swell the fatalities of fumigation processes to seven within the past four years. March 25 Richard Pusarti, 8, of 428 Taylor street, was asphyxiated; Evelyn Lippki died in her home, 314 Edmond street, June 3, 1930, and John Dodds, Joseph Evanshock and Silas Daniels were fatally gassed while fumigating a McKeesport building.

KING DEFIES ELECTION REVERSE

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service.

MADRID, April 13. — In the face of the most conclusive exhibition of Republican sentiment demonstrated in Spain for more than half a century, King Alfonso XIII let it be known today that he will fight to the finish to remain on the throne of his ancestors.

Alfonso's decision came in the face of a definite threat to overthrow the monarchy by force in the event he refuses to recognize the preponderant Republican sentiment demonstrated by the provisional elections yesterday, made by Alcala Zamora, leader of the Republican party.

KING TO REMAIN

As returns from the municipal elections throughout the country poured in, Republican candidates piled up overwhelming majorities in most of the large cities and towns. The Monarchists, however, remained confident that complete returns will show a victory for the throne, but even the most sanguine dare not hope for more than an exceedingly narrow majority.

But so long as this majority exists, no matter how small it may be, King Alfonso will turn a deaf ear to the demands of Republican leaders that he abdicate. He will remain in the country during the coming parliamentary elections, which are expected to furnish an even more severe test for the monarchy, believing that to go abroad as the Republicans demand would indicate weakness in the face of reverses.

The King and his supporters are pinning their hopes on the rural districts, where the monarchy is still believed to be held in esteem. It was regarded by Republicans as significant, however, that even San Sebastian and Santander, where King Alfonso has country palaces, elected a majority of Republican candidates, thereby repudiating the monarch in his own "bailiwick."

BEATEN IN OWN WARD

Even Alfonso's "home ward," the fashionable district immediately surrounding his palace in Madrid, voted against monorchical candidates and elected a majority of Republicans. The large towns, including Barcelona, Seville and even Toledo and Segovia, the latter two long strongholds of monarchism, swung over to Republicanism.

An atmosphere of tenseness prevailed as Premier Admiral Aznar called a special cabinet meeting for tonight to take "extraordinary measures" as a result of the elections.

Rumors persisted that another military dictatorship might be proclaimed, but these could not be confirmed.

Bandits Get $5,000 In Ice Cream Plant

CHICAGO, April 13.—(AP.)—Five bandits armed with shot guns raided the Borden Ice Cream Company plant in the South Side today, held up a woman and seven men, and escaped with $5,000 from the safe.

A NEW PICTURE OF ARCHDUKE OTTO, "KING OF HUNGARY"

ILEANA HINTED TO WED DUKE

BERLIN, April 13.—(Universal.)—Persistent reports from Bucharest and Budapest today continued to link the names of Princess Ileana and Archduke Otto with a rapprochement between Rumania and Hungary.

They name the unhappy Ileana and the young "Emperor Without a Throne" as the pawns in a move by French diplomats to consolidate France's Central European allies against the feared "Mittel Europa" that it is believed will result from the consummation of the Austro-German customs union.

The reported plan to match the lovely, dark Rumanian princess with the handsome heir to the Hapsburgs is said to be contingent upon Otto's accession to the vacant Hungarian throne with the approval of France.

Ileana, Queen Marie's youngest child, is 22. Otto is 18. This difference of age is seen as a stumbling block in the progress of the reported negotiations. There is also a difference of religion.

FAVOR MUDGE AS MODERATOR

With the announcement that the Rev. Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, of Philadelphia, had been elected a commissioner by his presbytery to attend the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church here May 28 to June 3, the prospect of Dr. Mudge being elected moderator of the general assembly has become stronger.

Dr. Mudge has been indorsed for moderator by several Presbyteries throughout the country. The belief has been expressed that his 10 years' service as stated clerk of the general assembly should be rewarded. If chosen moderator he will succeed the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, of Shadyside Presbyterian Church. So far no other candidate has appeared.

WALKER HURLS DEFI AT FOES

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Mayor Walker, whose administration has become the subject of an investigation by the State Legislature, threw out a challenge to his opponents last night. At a dinner given in his honor by the Jewish Theatrical Guild, he said:

"I come to you with no apology for my public life. I come to you asking no quarter. I come to you without propaganda and without an ill feeling to any individual in this city. I am, if I may say so, in your presence, guilty of many shortcomings as men in public life go. But when that list shall have been completed there will not be included selfish political ambition that ever would permit me to trample upon another in the hope of elevating myself."

In a lighter vein, the Mayor suggested possible reasons for opposition to him. Citing the possibility that others may dislike his clothes he said:

"I find some personal consolation that I am up to date with my tailor."

TAFTS BOOMED FOR CONGRESS

CINCINNATI, O., April 13.—Following announcement by Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, widow of the late Speaker of the House, Nicholas Longworth, that she has no plans for the immediate future other than to remain in mourning at the Longworth home here, speculation of the city today turned to the question of who will succeed him in Congress. The statements of Archie Roosevelt that Mrs. Longworth will not be a candidate for her husband's seat is now accepted with finality.

Robert A. and Charles P. Taft II, sons of the late President and Chief Justice William H. Taft, are favorite candidates of the Republicans to succeed Longworth as member of the House.

WASHINGTON, April 13. —(AP.)—Returned from paying last tribute to their popular and powerful leader, Nicholas Longworth, House Republicans today looked to the difficult task of choosing his successor.

The speakership problem was a main topic of discussion among nearly 40 Republican and Democratic representatives during their trip from Cincinnati. Already candidates from various sections were appearing as prospective opponents to Garner, Demoratic leader.

Republican leader Tilson and Chairman Snell, of the Rules Committee, stood forth as among the leading eastern candidates.

CALLS WAR INCIDENT 'SILLY'

Missives Ascribed to Late President Written When He Was Senator From Ohio

CLEVELAND, April 13.—(AP.)—The Cleveland Times today said Mrs. Carrie Phillips, wife of J. E. Phillips, prominent Marion, O., merchant, today readily admitted she was the "Carrie" mentioned in two autograph letters ascribed to President Harding, which were made public in New York yesterday. The letters mentioned "Carrie" as having been "under the eye of government agents" during the war.

Mrs. Phillips laughed when the letters were read to her and explained that the surveillance of government agents was the outgrowth of spy hysteria. She said:

"Small town gossip started the reports. During the war I entertained at my Marion home some friends of my daughter, from France and Switzerland. Apparently over-patriotic residents of Marion resented the fact that Europeans were guests at my home during war-time. In some manner the reports reached Mr. Harding, who had been a close friend of Mr. Phillips and myself for many years."

SENATE STATIONERY

The letters ascribed to Harding were written on Senate stationery The first said:

"Several days ago I wrote to Carrie along the lines you suggested, relating to the bond campaign. . . . I wrote her again yesterday, very seriously and earnestly, warning her of impending dangers. She is under the eye of government agents, and it is highly urgent that she exercise great prudence and caution. . . . She forgets we are in war—hellish war—and she forgets how Germany treats those who are against the government. It is time to think. If she is loyal and prudent the cloud may pass. She must be. If she isn't, there is certain humiliation and distress and annoyance and embarrassment in store. I dislike to write, but I feel I must. . . ."

SUSPICIONS CITED

The second letter was as follows:

"I know she is no German informer—couldn't be. Yet these things have been reported. I never have doubted her ability to square herself with a reasoning government agent . . . It is a pity that there can be such danger, but war is hell and sanity does not always prevail. Hence the need of extreme prudence, caution, wisdom and tact . . . She (Carrie) and Isabelle ought not to come to Washington now. Nor ought they go to New York. I had some inquiry made about things said, and the Washington trip last year led to suspicion about acting as informer . . . and the suspicion was confirmed by the long stay at the naval base at Port Jefferson . . . Any call I made; any call they made would be watched."

In conclusion he speaks of his connection as being very solemn and "this war problem has distressed me infinitely more than you can guess. I believe, I know Carrie is loyal and helpful. But prejudices and passions are not at my command."

CITY DETECTIVE CHIEF HURT

Inspector Frank R. Boyd, of city detectives, was injured seriously early yesterday when an automobile in which he was en route to the city skidded on Library road, near Fletcher street, Overbrook, and toppled down a high embankment into a creek.

Boyd, suffering from a severe contusion of the brain, a probable fracture of the skull and lacerations on his left arm, was taken to Mercy Hospital, where it was stated today by City Physician D. E. Sable that his condition is serious.

Coin Slot Machine Inventor Missing

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Police in all parts of the nation were called upon today to search for Frank L. Kelton, pioneer in the development of the coin-in-the-slot turnstile, who has been missing from his home in Brooklyn since March 19.

Weather Conditions.

Relatively high pressure covers most of the eastern portion of the country, with centers over the Middle Atlantic Coast states and west of the Great Lakes. There is a disturbance over Eastern Ontario and low pressure covers the Far West, extending from Alberta southward over the Rocky Mountain states. There is some cloudiness over the Mississippi Valley states and westward to the Pacific Coast, elsewhere the skies are clear. Rainfall was light and was limited to mere sprinkles in the Gulf states and to somewhat more generous amounts near the Pacific Coast. It is warmer than yesterday morning over the Ohio Valley states and eastward, but light to heavy frost occurred over the Uper Ohio Valley states and over the Appalachian Mountains as far south as Asheville. Over the northern plains it is cooler than yesterday.

P. R. R. MARKS 85TH YEAR

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—(AP.)—W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, paid tribute today—the eighty-fifth anniversary of the signing by Gov. Francis R. Skunk of the bill creating the railroad—to the vision and foresight of the pioneers and the "remarkable judgment with which they forecast the future development of America and its transportation needs."

Under the bill the railroad was granted a charter in accordance with its plans to build a 320-mile line across the Allegheny Mountains from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh. Today the Pennsylvania system operates approximately 11,000 miles of lines.

Samuel Vaughn Merrick was the first president of the company. J. Edgar Thompson, later third president of the road, was the engineer who designed and constructed the line over the Alleghenies that eliminated the famous Portage railroad with its inclined planes, and enabled the quaint locomotives of the day to haul trains over the mountains.

Hathaway to Go On Trial in June

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 13.—(AP.)—The trial of Elliott R. Hathaway, of Fall River, Mass., charged with the murder of Verna E. Russell, student nurse, will be held not later than the second week in June, Attorney General Benjamin M. McLyman announced today. The trial will be held in Newport. The girl's body was found in a side road at Tiverton. She apparently had been strangled.

ACROBAT FALLS, BREAKS NECK

NEW YORK, April 13—The circus audience came to be thrilled, and Charlie Seigrint was going to risk his life to keep them amused. It's all a part of the show. High up on his trapeze, Charlie poised for his grand finale—a triple somersault into the net which stretched far below.

The drummer beat a rising crescendo. Charlie flung himself into the air. But something slipped, and his heel caught on the bar. His timing thrown off, he landed on the side of his head in the net, a crumpled thing.

His neck was broken and his ankle fractured.

After attention from Dr. William Shields, the circus physician, they took Charlie to Polyclinic Hospital where it is said he will recover. But many months will pass before they can take the plaster cast from off his neck.

U. S. Record Fliers Finish 1st Day Up

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., April 13.—(AP.)—Walter Lees and Frederic Drossy, of Detroit, flying their Diesel-powered monoplane in quest of a non-fueling endurance record, passed the 24-hour mark today.

They were seeking to better the record of 75 hours and 24 minutes made several months ago by two French fliers.

Ella Young, Writer, Granted U. S. Visa

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS.)—Miss Ella Young, Irish writer of children's stories, has been granted a visa to enter the United States after being held up at Victoria, B. C., for several weeks.

Pushcart Seized In Raid Given Dry Agents

After the aid of the Attorney General at Washington had been invoked, a three-wheeled pushcart was turned over to the prohibition department in Pittsburgh by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker.

The cart was taken in a downtown liquor raid. Howard T. Jones, acting prohibition administrator, complied with the rules of his office by asking the Attorney General's permission to obtain the cart by court order for use in the Allen warehouse.

2 WANTED HERE HELD IN ALBANY

Two young men arrested in Albany, N. Y., for Pittsburgh police are wanted in connection with the theft of a rented automobile and three holdups, according to Howard Forner, captain of city detectives.

Extradition action is being planned to return the prisoners—Edward Myers, 22, and Norman Miller, 23.

They were arrested on a tip from Pittsburgh police that they would cash a money order at an Albany hotel last night.

Salt Cake Dumping Denied by Mellon

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS.)—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced today that several American firms were not justified in complaining that Germany was dumping salt cake on the American market at unfair prices. Salt cake is used in the manufacture of certain kinds of paper. Hearings disclosed the product is not being dumped in this country, he said.

FLAMES SWEEP NORTH WOODS

MENOMINEE, Mich., April 13.—(INS.)—Scenes of the wildest disorder were enacted in this wooded north county along the Wisconsin-Michigan state border today as forest fires, ranging uncontrolled, swept through the district.

Little credence was given to published reports that a score of persons were believed to have perished in the flames. Forest rangers and fire officials did not report a single casualty.

Adding to the general state of fear were charges that the fires were of incendiary origin.

After bequeathing $10,000 to the needy and destitute, Charles A. Robb, attorney, left the remainder of his $70,000 estate to his sister, Mrs. Lillian Lee, according to his will probated today.

The will stipulated $8,000 was to be distributed by two church denominations in four districts of Pittsburgh among the destitute and crippled. The will also specifies $2,000 is to be distributed among the needy, crippled and destitute, of Muncy, Pa.

Joseph Jay left $1,000 to the Erie Orphanage and Home for Friendless Children, and bequeathed remainder of his $60,000 estate to his wife, Mrs. Rae Jay, and his sisters, Mrs. Rose Jashenosky and Mrs. Gertrude Bornheim, it was learned today when his will was filed.

27 Acadian Girls On Pilgrimage to Louisiana

MONCTON, N. B., April 13.—(AP.)—Twenty-seven girls, descendants of the Acadians of Longfellow's "Evangeline," today were on the way to the Bayou Teche in Louisiana to renew the bonds broken by an exile 175 years ago. Their pilgrimage will return the visit which Acadians of Louisiana made to Grand Pre last year.

In their traveling bags the girls had packed caps and kirtles of the type worn by the Acadian women of another day. They will be worn at St. Martinsville, La., when a statue of Evangeline is unveiled as the high point o. the reunion.

DARWIN'S KIN GUEST HERE

Prof. C. C. Darwin, a grandson of the author of the theory of evolution, was in Pittsburgh today to give lectures tonight and tomorrow night at Carnegie Institute of Technology. He was asked what he thought of his grandfather's theory. This is what he replied:

"I don't know a great deal about it."

Prof. Darwin, who is attached to Edinbergh University in Scotland, will speak on "Wave Mechanics" and "The New Mechanics" in Tech's administration building. He is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, of Morewood avenue.

WOMAN, 2 MEN END LIVES

Deaths of two men and a woman, reported to the coroner as suicide, were being investigated today.

Andrew Stanko, 41, of Bruceton, Snowden Township, was killed, deputy coroners said, when he placed a stick of dynamite inside his shirt yesterday and lighted a fuse attached to it. Stanko is said to have been unemployed for several months.

Mrs. Frances Allerton, 19, of 124 LaBelle street, died last night in South Side Hospital a short time after she is said to have swallowed poison in her home.

Cady Alaty, 57, of 17 Helen street, McKees Rocks, ended his life, the coroner's office reported, by shooting himself in the head in his home yesterday.

W. J. BERRYMAN RITES SET FOR TOMORROW

Heart Attack Fatal to Noted Banker, Trust Officer In His Hotel Apartment

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for William I. Berryman, 65, trust officer of the Union Trust Company, who died yesterday in his apartment in the William Penn Hotel. The services will be held in the T. B. Moreland funeral home at 3:30. Burial will be in Homewood Cemetery. Mr. Berryman, found dead in his apartment yesterday, is believed to have been stricken with a heart attack.

Born in Washington County, the son of John W. and Anna House Berryman, Mr. Berryman practiced law before entering the banking business.

HERE SINCE 1897

Mr. Berryman came to Pittsburgh in 1897 as trust officer for the Union Trust Company, and held that position until his death. He also was a partner in the firm of J. W. Berryman & Sons, merchants, of Coal Center, Pa. He aided in the organization and building of the Pittsburgh and Charleroi Street Railway Company and the West Side Street Railway Company, serving as president of both concerns.

He was vice president of the Webster, Monessen, Bellevernon and Fayette City Street Railway.

With A. W. Mellon, Thomas L. Daly, Charles F. Thompson, James S. and John C. McKean, Mr. Berryman organized the Bank of Charleroi and Trust Company, being the first vice president and director. He also was a vice president of the Union Trust Company of Clairton, director of the First National Bank of Finleyville and an officer of the Babcock-Carrier Lumber Company, the Connellsville Courier Publishing Company and the Tilghman Island Club.

HAD MILITARY CAREER

For many years he was a member of the Tenth Regiment, National Guard, and two years ago was appointed district chief of the Pittsburgh chemical warfare district, having charge of the chemical activities of 18 states.

He was a member of Washington Lodge, F. and A. M.; Pennsylvania Consistory, Scottish Rite; Syria Temple, Mystic Shrine; Pittsburgh Commandery, Knights Templar; Royal Order of Jesters, Presbyterian Church, Duquesne Club, Pittsburgh Press Club, Amen Corner, South Hills Country Club and the Pittsburgh Country Club. He also was interested in the administration of the Mercy and Charleroi-Monessen hospitals.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Todd Berryman; a son, W. I. Berryman, Jr.; two daughters, Mrs. Alathia Morrow, of Ben Avon, and Mrs. William Luke, of Covington, Ky., and a brother, John D. Berryman, of Charleroi.

The fifth season of the Pittsburgh Symphony Society came to a close last night in Syria Mosque with a most imposing program.

Mr. Lissfelt

Eugene Goosens was guest conductor again. He has been more closely associated with our orchestra since its foundation than any other visiting conductor, therefore his words of encouragement and appreciation for the development of this organization, added to the appeal of its president, Mrs. William Maclay Hall, should have great weight in convincing our city that we have now more than the embryo of an excellent orchestra.

During the Tschaikowsky Symphony one could not help hearing the improved playing of individual choirs as well as of the entire ensemble. Think back to the night when we heard our men attempt the Beethoven "Eroica" and their progress since that dull evening must surely be acknowledged. Goossens' reading of the symphony is most agreeab and if things wobbled somewhat at the beginning, he soon had the music in hand and played a masterly third movement. His entire conception of this music was optimistic as we are apt to hear it in later years.

Gladys Swarthout, contralto from the Metropolitan Opera, was a welcome soloist. How strange that our American singers sing the French language so well and make hardly a word of our own intelligible. Our soloist demonstrated this shortcoming in her little songs, the accompaniments for which should never have been orchestrated. But Miss Swarthout has a very warm voice, sings musically and has a most attractive stage presence. As encores she gave Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" and the "Habanera" from "Carmen."

3 PITTSBURGH FLIERS HURT IN CRASH

Forced Down as Gas Fails Over Cleveland, Plane Hits Rut and Turns Over

Three Pittsburgh youths, en route to the air show at Detroit were in a Cleveland Hospital today with injuries suffered last night when their plane crashed in a field in the Ohio city.

The most seriously injured of the trio was Kalman Erdeky, 23, of 5125 Glenwood avenue, owner and pilot of the plane which took off from Bettis Field at 4 p. m. yesterday. His companions, Francis X. James, 22, of Frankstown road, Penn Township, son of H. B. James, a florist, of 539 Homewood avenue, and William R. Scully, 24, of 1417 Jancey street, also were injured seriously.

Mr. Scully

FORCED LANDING

According to word received here the plane struck a rut and nosed over while making a forced landing, due to lack of fuel.

Erdeky, employed in the laboratory of his uncle, Kalman Erdeky, was a licensed private pilot with a record of 150 hours. James was to buy a half-interest in the ship and was taking flying instructions. Scully also was deeply interested in aeronautics.

MOTHER FEARED MISHAP

Today is James' twenty-second birthday. Awaiting news of her son's condition, Mrs. James, who had a premonition of an accident several days ago when she learned of the contemplated flight, said:

"They didn't have a very good takeoff at Bettis Field and I feared they would meet with an accident. Francis was a member of a club of six aviation enthusiasts."

Plane Victims

FRANCIS X. JAMES, 22

KALMAN ERDEKY, 25

James, Frankstown road, and Erdeky, 5125 Glenwood avenue, injured when a plane Erdeky was piloting crashed near Cleveland last night. They and William R. Scully, 24, 1417 Jancey street, also hurt, were flying to the Detroit air show.

Frank A. Estep Dies In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 13.—(AP.)—Frank Alden Estep, 82, former president of the R. D. Nuttal Company, Pittsburgh, died here yesterday. The body will be taken to Pittsburgh for burial.

CITY MANAGER BILL TEST NEARS

Measure Will Come Up For First Vote Tonight in House; Fate in Doubt

of D. Glenn Moore, sponsor of the measure; Bart Richards, and other administration men in the House, it will face rough sledding, its friends predict.

WOULD HIT MACHINES

If the bill passed and the plan were adopted in Pittsburgh, it would furnish a precedent for Pennsylvania cities and become an experiment in the state, although many in Ohio and other states have been using the manager form.

Its opponents are mostly using the argument that the bill contains the proportional representation plan, something which organization politicians detest.

That the plan would break up, in a great measure, machine politics and, starting with Pittsburgh, might endanger the political machines of other cities, is believed to be reason city political organizations may not support it.

Business interests throughout the state are reported generally in favor of the city manager form in itself, on the principle that reducing the cost of government is commendable.

Factional splits in a number of districts, with legislative members opposing their city officials, are expected to throw some additional support to the measure.

POLL TAX BILLS ADVANCE

Three bills, two sponsored by Senator James J. Coyne and one by Senator Frank J. Harris, have reached the House after having passed the Senate.

Coyne's bills eliminate the graduated occupation tax, setting the figure at a flat poll tax of 50 cents, and make possible the assessment of persons subject to county occupation tax up to a date 60 days before election.

The Harris bill provides for the acceptance of a site and enables the state to survey and prepare plans for the state psychiatric hospital to be built as part of the medical center of the University of Pittsburgh. These three measures are on first reading.

Giant Sequoia Tree Crash Laid to Tiny Spring

FRESNO, Cal., April 13.—(AP.)—The Michigan, one of the giant sequoia trees in Gen. Grant National Park, has fallen. The tree, named for the State of Michigan, was 27 feet in diameter at the base and more than 275 feet tall.

Apparently thrown out of balance by a great burn at the base from some ancient forest fire and undermined by a tiny spring which bubbled up under the tap roots of the tree, it toppled and fell, almost destroying itself in the crash. Pieces of the tree were thrown 500 yards. None of the other sequoia gigantea were struck by the falling giant.

STEEDLE BILL VETOED

HARRISBURG, April 13.—Gov. Pinchot today vetoed a measure of Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, Allegheny County leader in the House.

The bill would permit a technical change, permitting the transfer of money from one fund to another in second class counties, particularly applicable to Allegheny.

The money so exchanged would be sums for which there was no immediate use, and it would be repaid to the original fund when necessity arose. At present, funds are limited to specific uses. In vetoing the measure, the Governor issued a statement saying it proposed an amendment to the county code, and since another bill is pending, these provisions can be attached to it.

25 Fined After Raid On North Side Place

Eight women and two men failed to appear at a hearing in Morals Court this morning following their arrest in a raid at 1131 Faulsey way, North Side, when 26 others and a slot machine and alleged liquor were seized. Sam Pace, 23, 1243 Page street, alleged proprietor, was fined $50 on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. Twenty-four were fined $1 each, and the two men and eight women forfeited $15 each.

Evans on Trial In Extortion Charge

James H. Evans, 24, of Tarentum, was placed on trial in Criminal Court today on a charge of extortion. He was accused of having ordered Mrs. O. M. Ottel, wife of an engineer for the Allegheny Steel Company, to toss a package containing $1,000 from a train.

PINCHOT HAILS RECEIVERSHIP FOR P. R. T.

Governor Sees Court Action As 'Milestone' in Battle Against Unfair Utilities

HARRISBURG, April 13.—Gov. Pinchot today declared the fight against the Mitten Management and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company "a monumental milestone on the road to justice."

He added:

"Judge McDevitt's decision is a great victory. Every fare payer and rate payer in this whole commonwealth should be glad because of what it is and what it will lead to. More even than that, the good effect of this great public utility decision will be felt throughout the United States."

The Governor referred to Saturday's decision by the Philadelphia judge in which he ordered the Mitten Management separated from the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. In Senate and House committees investigating utilities, both holding company and transit officials were under fire for their activities.

'CHARGES CONFIRMED'

The Governor said:

"Everything I have said about the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company and the Public Service Commission appears to be confirmed, and more than confirmed. This is a perfect illustration of how and why public utilities go into politics and maintain political gangs to do their dirty work when and as required."

COMPANY PLANS SUIT

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—(AP.)—Legal action to set aside the appointment of receivers for the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company by Judge Harry S. McDevitt apparently is planned by the company and other defendants in the city's equity suit in which it was alleged the P. R. T. had violated its agreement with the municipality.

Under the decision, handed down Saturday, the three receivers would take over the operation and control of P. R. T. under the direction of the court with a view to eliminating Mitten Management, Inc., the Mitten Management $1,100,000 annual management fee and other expenses. The receivers also were directed to recover approximately $8,000,000 from Mitten Management and to dispose of the Quaker City Cab Company, which the P. R. T. purchased in January, 1928, for $1,360,000.

Auto Hurts Cause Death, Driver Held

Miss Clara Heath, 58, 198 Brighton road, died today in the Presbyterian Hospital, as a result of injuries received Friday when she was struck by an automobile while crossing Allegheny and Western avenues, North Side. The car was driven by Walter Hill, 408 Colton street, Millvale.

First Time at This Price! Carload Purchase of

"1900" Whirlpool Washers

$69.50

In every respect this is the standard, nationally known "1900" Whirlpool Washer, of which thousands have been sold at far higher prices, and which are being used today with the utmost satisfaction.

The "1900" has long stood in the front rank of efficient washers. Its single vane agitator, which prevents tangling of clothes, commends it to women who recognize this problem in the average washer. It is a sturdily built machine of more than ordinary speed, power and durability.

This new price should serve to persuade hundreds of homes to have a modern washing machine without delay.

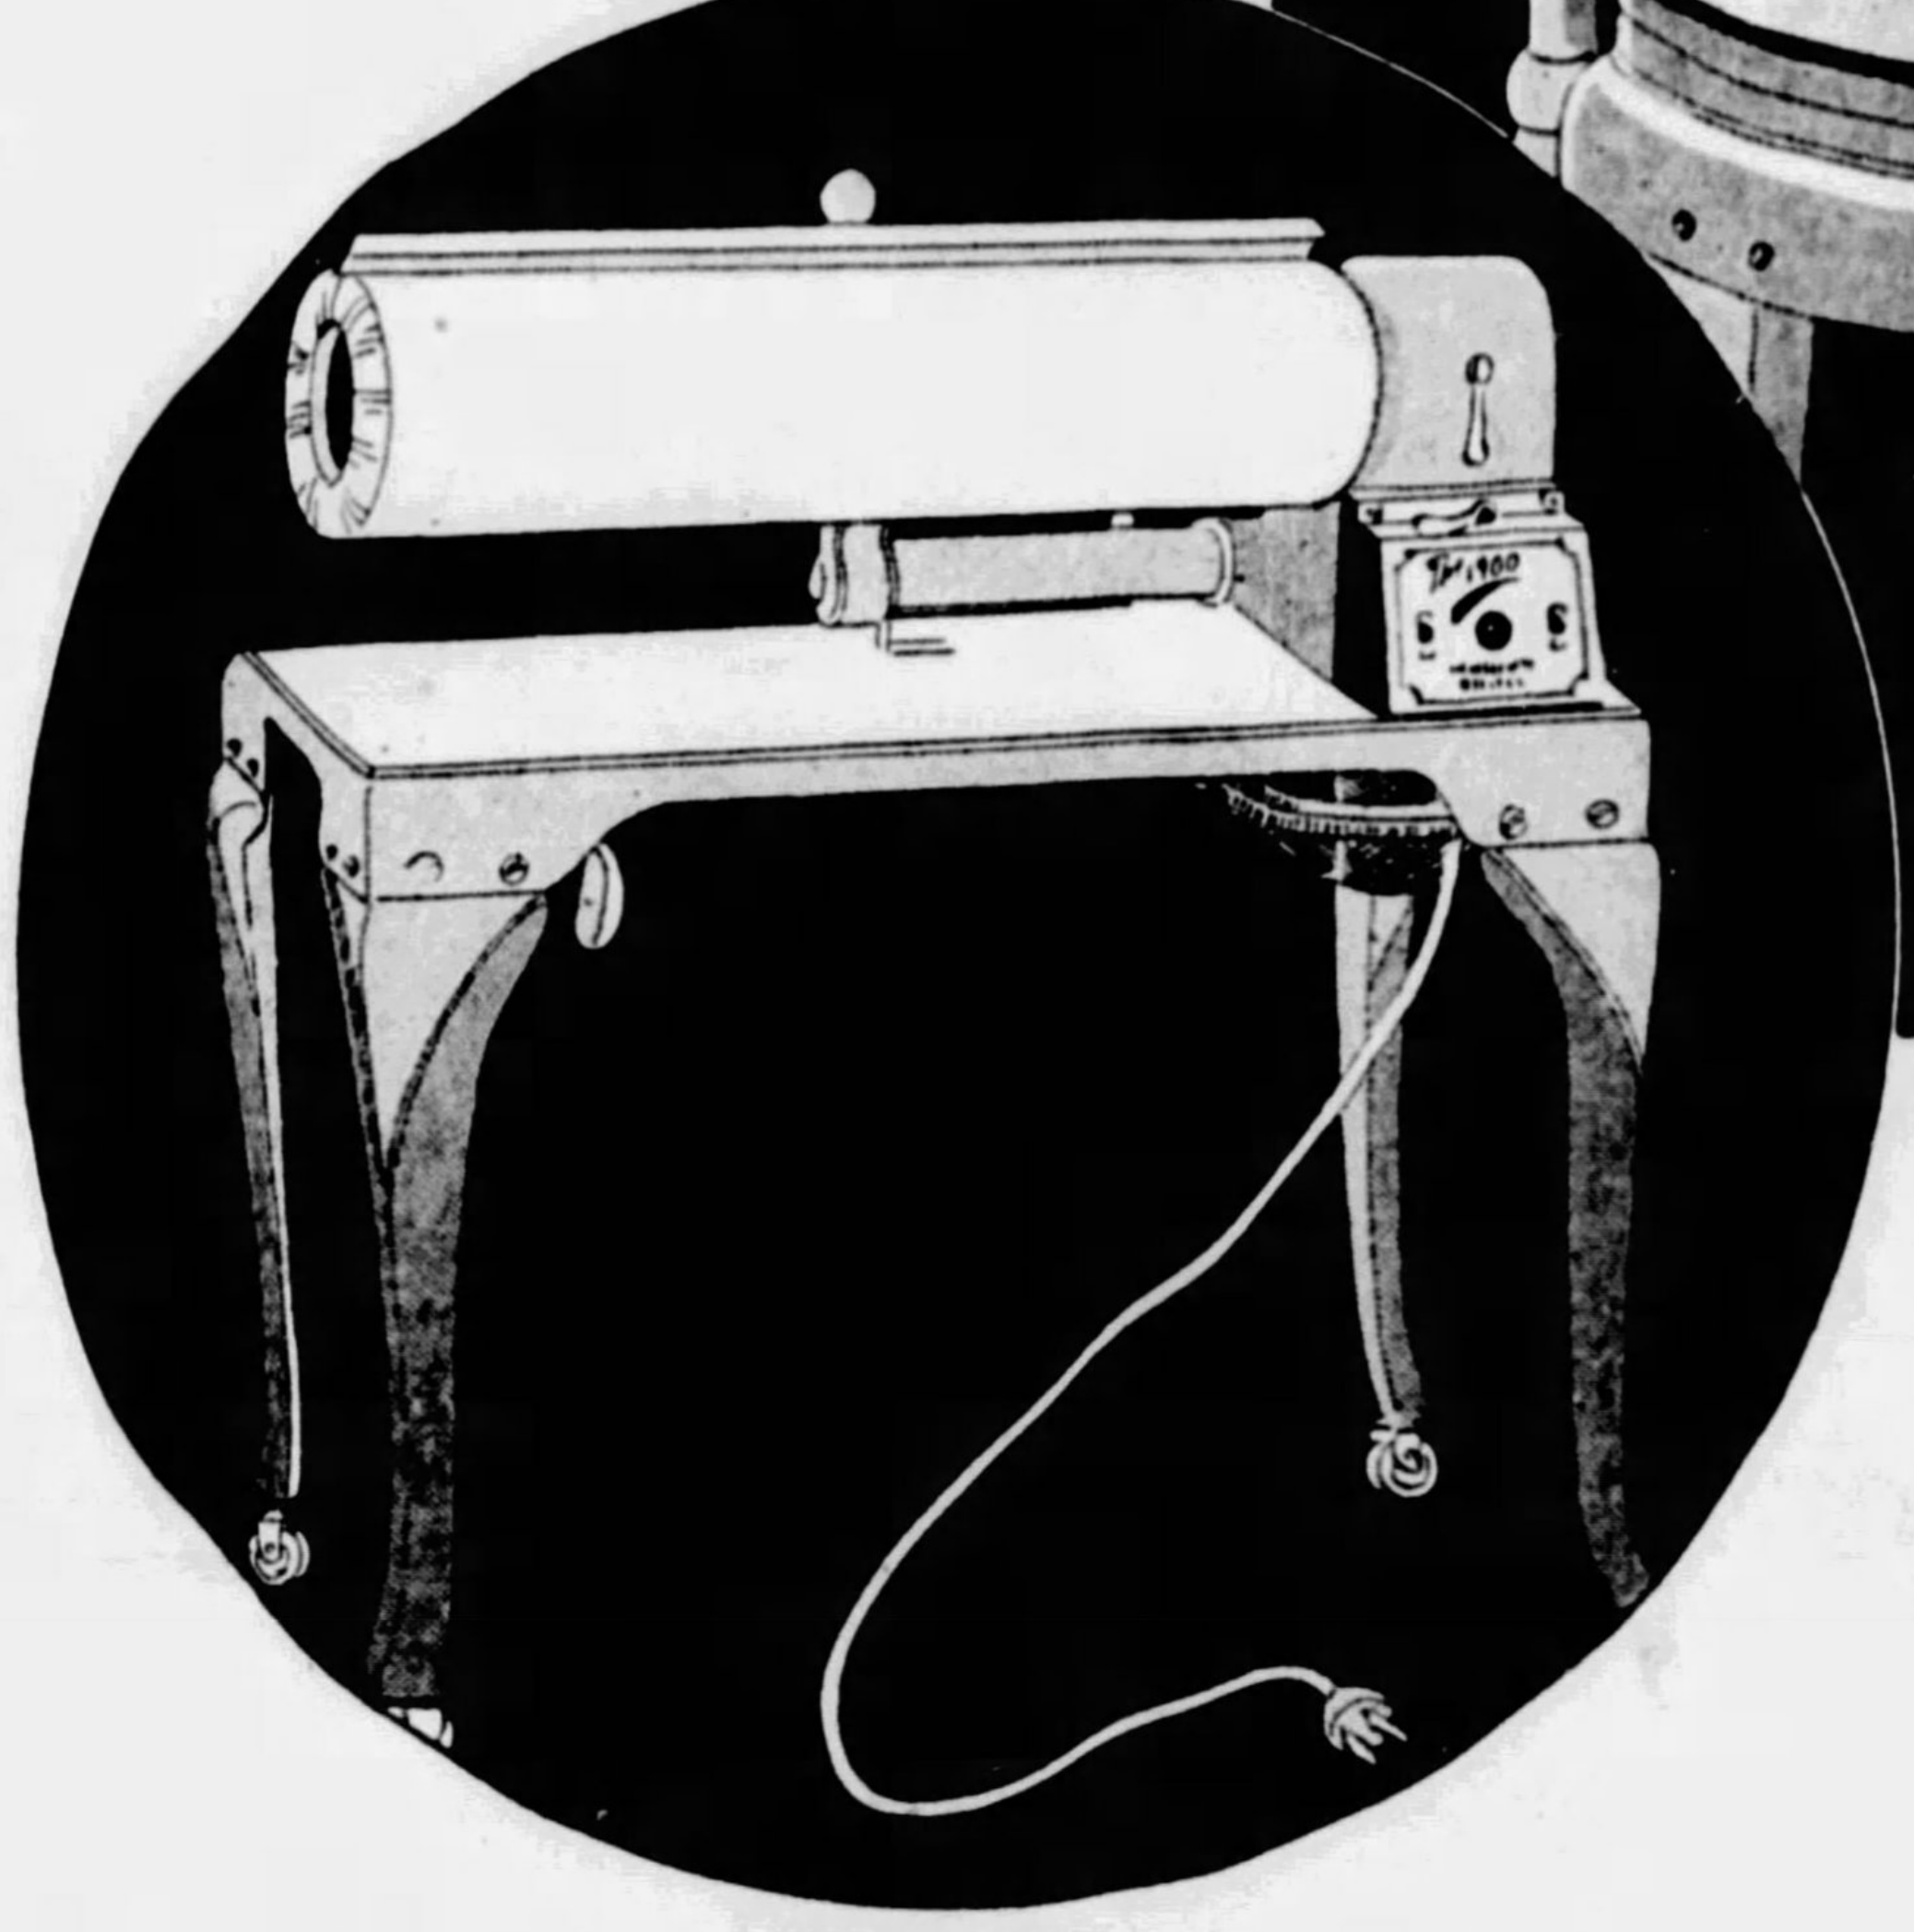
Full Six-Sheet Capacity
Full-Swinging Wringer
"Armco" Iron Double Porcelain-Enamel Tub
2¼-in. Balloon Wringer Rolls
Automatic Oiling
Large, Roomy Tub Opening with Heavy Splash Ring
All Cut Gears Closely Machined
Safety Wringer Release
¼-Horsepower Motor
Direct Gear Drive



Convenient Payments

You may arrange to pay for the "1900" Washer or Ironer over a period of time. A moderate down payment is sufficient to deliver it to your home, and the rest may be paid over a number of months.

"1900" Electric Ironers

$79.50

An unusually convenient and simply operated electric ironer. When both hands are in use there is a knee control. The ironer has a full open end to permit easy adjustment of garments. The roll is padded and semi-soft. It operates steadily and quickly, and you can iron a large washing in a short time, while seated comfortably. There is a safety control, and various other safety features that make it an efficient and popular model. Being so compact it takes up but little room.

CLUB INDORSES SOWERS BILL

The state and federal affairs committee of the Civic Club of Allegheny County has indorsed the Sowers bill making purchase of prison made articles by governmental agencies mandatory. A public hearing will be held tomorrow before the House Committee on State Government in Harrisburg.

The aim of the Sowers bill, according to its sponsor, the western branch of the Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs, is to increase the market for prison made articles and so keep idleness out of the state penal institutions.

Bowling On Green Done With Heavy Cannon Balls

FRANKLIN, Pa., April 13.—"Bowling on the green" became a strenous sport here when certain unknown persons removed cannon balls from the base of one of the big motars in front of the Court House and rolled them across the green.

The balls weigh more than 75 pounds each.

Canadian Railways Wreck Injures 29

EDMONTON, Alta., April 13.—(AP.)—Twenty-nine passengers and railway employes were injured as a Canadian National Railways train was derailed yesterday 12 miles west of Edson, Alta. The only serious injury was received by the dining car chef, who had a fractured skull.

Two of the injured passengers were from the United States. Mrs. Paulson, of Parkland, Wash., was cut and bruised, while Miss Sophie Anderson, Fisher, Minn., suffered from shock and bruises.

Workers for Blind Open Convention

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Accomplishments of the organization were praised last night by New York speakers at the opening of the fourteenth biennial convention of the American Institute of Workers for the Blind. The convention is being held in conjunction with the conference of world workers for the blind which opens today.

Thirty-six nations have sent delegates to the latter gathering. Helen Keller will be among the speakers.

'VAMPIRE' TRIED IN 16 DEATHS

DUESSELDORF, Germany, April 13.—(INS.)—Charged with 16 murders, Peter Kuerten, Germany's "human vampire," went on trial for his life here today.

Allegations of 29 additional slayings and 35 separate charges of arson were dropped as "unessential" as the proceedings began.

Nationwide interest centered upon the courtroom. Duesseldorf for months was in a constant state of panic when Kuerten was at the height of his criminal career. He was apprehended when his long series of "successes" emboldened him to flaunt the police with a crudely-drawn map showing where the body of a young girl had been buried a short while before.

RUBBISH FIRES PROVE MENACE

Grass and rubbish fires continued to break out in various parts of the city today, and at 2 o'clock the fire operators reported they had sounded 19 alarms during the day.

Four alarms were sounded within five minutes shortly before 2 o'clock for small grass and rubbish fires in Lawrenceville, East Liberty and Carrick.

Citing the danger of pressing all the fire apparatus into service for minor fires, Fire Chief Richard Smith last week issued a warning to all school children, asking them to be extremely cautious and to refrain from building fires of any nature.

Chief Lays Slaying To Whisky Raid

ST. PAULS, N. C., April 13.—(AP.)—Judd Dean, 39, farmer and large land owner of the St. Pauls community, was shot to death here by Willie Bethea, St. Pauls police chief. Bethea surrendered to authorities and was released under $500 bond.

Chief Bethea was quoted by authorities as saying there had been "ill feeling" toward him on Dean's part since he searched the farmer's home some time ago on a whisky charge.

Electricity Demand Gains, Hoover Told

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—Matthew S. Sloan, president of the Brooklyn Edison Company, told President Hoover today the demand for industrial electricity was picking up rapidly on the eastern seaboard and the Pacific coast.

Sloan said the increased demand indicated a renewal of industrial activity in these spots.

Boy Flier in Ohio Sets Altitude Mark

DETROIT, April 13.—(AP.)—A 19-year-old Ohio youth at the national aircraft show yesterday flew a midget airplane to an indicated world altitude record for light craft.

He was Kenneth Scholter, Hudson, O., and his barograph reading was 19,500 feet. The official record he is believed to have surpassed was 17,037 feet, set in 1929 in France by G. Fauvel.

Pantages to Face 'Girl Bazar' Hearing

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 13.—(INS.)—Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, with four others, was to appear in court today for preliminary hearing on charges growing out of an investigation into Hollywood's sensational "girl bazar."

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises.

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to May-Liggett's or your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water, and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

There's a Tug at the Heart-Strings . . .

It hardly seems possible that good old Pickering's are saying "Good-Bye." Since 1872, when Thomas Pickering founded this store on the spot where it still stands at Tenth and Penn, we have seen generation after generation come and go. Before the days of electric lights, when freight trains ran down Liberty Ave., when there were toll-gates at the old forks of the road out Butler St. and the jingling bells of horse-cars were heard at every downtown corner—for almost 60 years the name "Pickering's" has been a household word. Faithful to tradition and with an untarnished reputation for fair and honorable dealing, no name is more deeply enshrined in the tablets of memory. "Nuf Ced" has been more than a slogan all these years. It has meant comfortable homes to thousands of people in every walk of life. It has made precious friendships that have lived through the years. It has stood as a symbol of faith and sincerity from one generation to another.

But now the end of our course draws near. Pickering's are going out of the furniture business forever. Therefore, as we enter the last sale this old store will ever know it is with a real tug at the heart-strings that we say "Thank you, Pittsburgh—and Good-Bye."

Pickering's

Quitting The Furniture Business Forever!

After almost 60 years on the same corner, at Tenth and Penn—good, old reliable Pickering's are going out of the furniture business. This is the most dramatic announcement made in years. It will resound throughout the tri-state district like a long, low rumbling earthquake. It will electrify all who hear the news.

It's the wind-up of a long and honorable career which began back in 1872. When the stock of merchandise now on hand is sold—we shall close our doors forever. Everything goes without reservation in the most spectacular sale in our entire history. The sale starts at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Be here when the doors open!

Everything To Be Sold at Cost, Less Than Cost, or ½ Former Prices···For Cash!

THINK OF IT! Everything must go! Twelve huge floors in the mammoth building pictured here, as well as our warehouses, are literally jammed with furniture which must be sold, regardless of cost, IMMEDIATELY.

All of it is thrown in this final sale AT COST, LESS THAN COST or ONE-HALF FORMER PRICES for cash. The business of Pickering's must be wound up, the last chapter written, so we can close our books as soon as possible.

True to tradition, we are going out of the furniture business in a sale Pittsburgh will never forget. Sacrifices never equaled in the merchandising annals of this city. When the furniture is sold the sale ends—and Pickering's but a pleasant memory.

Everything Must Go!

BIRD CAGES—with weighted metal bases—several colors; formerly $7; now.....	$1.75
$9 DAVENPORT TABLES—will not last long, with such a price as this..........	$2.75

ELECTRIC WASHERS—famous Graybar, Apex, One-Minute makes—'way below standard prices.

Come Prepared to Buy!

We cannot duplicate any of the merchandise in the sale. As fast as it is sold it will be taken from our floors and replaced with other furniture bargains still remaining in our warehouses. The furniture you see and buy is the furniture you get. First come, first served—therefore, come prepared to buy on the spot.

Speed Is Necessary!

From all over Western Pennsylvania, from West Virginia, from Eatsern Ohio—our thousands of friends and customers will head for Pickering's bright and early tomorrow. Before this advancing horde, our stocks will fairly fly away tomorrow, scattered to the four winds into the homes—to become pleasant reminders of PICKERING'S LAST AND GREATEST SALE. The sooner we sell out, the better it will please us, because we are saying: "Good-bye, Pittsburgh, We're Through."

Nationally Advertised Lines Included!

No exceptions of any kind in this sale. Even nationally advertised merchandise is not excluded—famous brands which have never had a reduction below the standard price.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

(But which you knew all along.)

That the Theater Guild execs argued about the losses on a recent production, and blamed the director for the flop. The losses were $30,000—so he wrote out a check for that amount.

That no poem by Rudyard Kipling may be reprinted gratis.

That another superstition among most chorus girls is that a new makeup box brings a series of heartaches.

That the newest fashions in milady's clothes were fashionable creations during the Mauve Decade. (90s to you!)

That the most congested traffic spot between 1 p. m. and sundown in New York is 58th St. and Fifth Ave.

That the N. Y. World still is advertised in the subway cars.

That the esteemed Pathfinder of Washington, D. C., reports that Lois Moran is the only Hollywoodian who has made good in a New York stage play. Yeh, yeh? How about Lillian Gish in "Uncle Vanya?"

That if you commit suicide in a public place, or a hotel room, they can sue your estate for damages and collect, you dope!

That in Berlin when it rains you can drop a nickel into a slot and get a paper umbrella with a wooden handle.

That 68 adjustments are made on a torpedo before firing.

That you can't garnishee the salary of a civil service man.

That in a village near Covington, Ky., there is the smallest church in the world—seating only three.

That Hoover's pa was a blacksmith and his ma a preacher.

That Horace, the Roman poet, originated the term "on fire" when referring to a pair of pashy lovers.

That at 6 per cent interest a sum of money will double in 16 years and 8 months. But who can live that long?

That the United States had a President who was a bachelor—the only unmarried President the United States ever had. Name him.

That the word "echo" comes from the nymph in classic mythology. Echo, who loved Narcissus, and pined away after his death so that nothing remained of her except her voice, which has wandered about repeating sounds ever since. Poor thing.

That life insurance was once considered a form of gambling and prohibited by law in France.

That lemon extract in coffee (an old navy drink) is so potent three drinks keep you from taking yourself too seriously.

That the lining of a coat (in a two pants suit) usually wears out before you begin wearing the other pair of pants.

That when he is here, Ring Lardner sits for hours laughing at a comedian's jokes which are considered unfunny by producers.

That according to Viola Shore, you're the master of the woman you don't desire and the slave of the one you do.

That in Paris a manager makes critics pay to see his shows.

That when you hear a Broadway girl say she has a "V. C." on some fellow she means she has a violent crush on him.

That Florence Nightingale, the English nurse, is considered the founder of modern hospital service. The soldiers were so devoted to her during the Crimean War that they kissed her shadow.

That the present site of New York City was discovered by an Italian sailor in 1523. His tag was Verrazini.

That calculators have calc'd that the market value of the average human form is worth 98 cents. (Come down off your perch!)

That if the cork pops too easily it isn't good champagne.

That in 1900 there was one pair of silk stockings for every 245 females. Now there are five pairs for every femme, including tots.

That the composer of "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame," was a waiter.

That one of the snippier speakeasies now features a sign over the bar reading: "Don't drink water—it gives you the colic!"

That the town's only beautiful femme taxi driver is a blonde.

That Douglas Fairbanks once got on the nerves of George M. Cohan, who advised him to go into the movies to get rid of him.

That the reversed collar worn by Belasco is a legend. He wears short collars and ascot ties, the dude!

That Ziegfeld's cigars cost $1 each. He smokes 15 daily.

That most of the Broadway marriages are between people who want to get even with each other.

That if I ever hated anyone enough (that I would like to torture) I'd wish that they had one of these columns to prepare.

And that Jean Malin, of all persons, says the trouble with Hollywood is that it shoots too many movies and not enough actors.

Spring Actually Arrives

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

for Babe Ruth to improve on Willie Keeler's recipe by hitting them where they never will be.

The winter isn't really over until the family cat uses the coal bin as a breakfast alcove.

But summer's almost here when hoarse oaths and metallic rappings emanate from the one-car garage and the gargle of parboiled gasoline in the exhaust pipe tells us that the two-cylinder tumbril is ready for another whirl around the saucer.

Birds, flowers and zephyrs are merely clues to spring. It is not officially here until the Babe steps to the plate, hooks up his trousers, grabs the turf with his toes and cracks a parabola of leather over the last row of the nickel seats.

The writer would like to know, because he was one of a family of 14 kids, most of whom died of dyspepsia. The doctor tells us we will die of the same kind of community indigestion because we eat too fast.

We can't help it. We learned to eat fast when very young. When there are 14 kids plunging in the trough you've got to eat fast. Or you don't get anything.

Most families are small today. And there is a decided gastronomical advantage in the small home group. You can eat slower.

We have met all the swift scoffers of the nation and have outgulped them two to one. Mr. Brisbane, Runyon, Ripley, O. O. McIntyre, Winsor McCay, Grantland Rice, Dempsey, Walter Johnson and other famous table athletes are Olympic candidates. But we are quick on the grab, the bite and the choke.

Most illustrious editors you have ever read about all ate at their desks. They have made greater flights than Lindbergh on the same kind of sandwich. We concede they used artificial stimulants in the form of mustard and plenty of ketchup.

An editorial dinner is a dunk of beauty and a joy forever. A dillish pickle, a reinforced pie with stationary raisins and a cup of terrific coffee. One good thing about that poisonous coffee was that the copy boy always stuck the spoon in his own eye and spilled plenty in the saucer to save you the trouble.

The college cheer of your busy newspaper man is a resounding belch and a tiger. They all eat at their desks much to the delight of the small animal life around the office. We have never yet met a writer who was a crumb miser. When Don Marquis wrote the life history of a roach you can bet it wasn't from hearsay.

The wives of newspapermen complain that they are never complimented on their cooking. That's because the boys don't know whether their food is cooked or not. They just grab a chunk of something, aim it at their face and gulp. They are usually reading a book or banging a typewriter at the same time and if they weren't sharpshooters they would starve to death.

The result is polka dotted livers, kangaroo pouches under the eyes and spasmodic breathing like punctured tires. Also a heliotrope complexion which really isn't dangerous because when it turns to a rich purple you are on the road to recovery.

Who Drew That?

Somebody's scrawled a line up there just where we were going to write an ad about A & P. Come on now, who did it?

Oh . . . that's different. You say the line shows how fast the retail price of food has been going down? So it does. And it's taken quite a slide, hasn't it? Down to about 15% lower than it was in September, 1929, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Better not erase it then; because A & P had more to do with the drawing of that line than anybody else in the United States. For, as growers and producers have reduced their prices, A & P has reduced the price of food in its stores.

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

We'll just write the ad way down here in a little bit of space. A & P is the strongest influence in the country for keeping the price of food to the consumer low.

DEMPSEY'S WIFE WILL FIGHT DIVORCE

telegram, well-fingered and worn, saying:

"Lived apart for two years! Read this. It's dated February 7. Here's what it says: 'Congratulations on six years of happy marriage. You've been a champion wife.'

"They claim he said I was extravagant. What, that is nonsense and none knows it better than Jack. Why, I even do without a personal maid. All I have in the way of servants are one house maid, a butler and a chauffeur. The only time I have ever been anything like extravagant was when I spent $5,000 of my own money to decorate Jack's own room in red leather because he liked it so well."

DENIES TWO-YEAR PARTING

The girl who is admired by millions as a great actress was just a woman hurt by her mate when she cried:

"They say he said we have lived apart for two years. He never could say that. He was here on March 6, right in this house, and stayed for two days.

"As for my career in place of a home and babies, that's nonsense. I have always wanted babies more than anything else in the world. Right now I am offered the star part in 'Street Scene,' by Samuel Goldwyn, and I held up my answer until I could get in touch with Jack and find out what his plans were. If they were such as not to permit us to be together I would refuse the part. Now I don't know what to do.

"I still love Jack and still believe in him. I don't believe he said one word of what this paper says he said, but if he did, I'll fight—and I'll tell plenty."

JACK TELLS STORY

The Los Angeles Examiner's story, under a Reno, Nev., date, quoted Dempsey as saying:

"I have not heard a word from Estelle since I left our Los Feliz boulevard home, March 11. I took my clothes, all my personal belongings and my farewell at her request. She it was who said 'We are through.' There is nothing I can do about it but get the divorce and free her for the career she believes is ahead of her.

"Love her? Sure I do. But I want a home, a family and family life. She doesn't. I am stepping aside against my own wishes, and in asking a divorce I have nothing in mind about hurting anyone but myself. I've never been a squawker.

"For two years we have been apart, really. Since my retirement from actual fighting I have had to keep on the hustle protecting investments, seeking some permanent occupation and making the most of what little popularity that is still mine.

"Our first three years of married life were ideal. We had an agreement that she was to continue acting for the screen only so long as I continued actual fighting. When I quit the ring she was to quit the stage and screen and settle down in Los Angeles for a happy future among our friends, our best-loved environment and our mutual associates.

SAYS SHE REFUSED

"She refuses to do these things. Lately she has been told that a singing career, an operatic future is to be hers and it has changed her completely. She wants none of me.

"I want no hard feelings, but I do want it clearly understood that I take divorce action at her specific request: that she regards married life with me as a hurdle to her ambitions in the operatic world. I've done everything I know to keep her happy. Over a year ago we agreed on a property settlement which was made and which gave her a just share of whatever I possess.

"You know I'm no longer getting those fat purses and have to hustle to keep ahead of that sheriff. Like every other business man in these times, I have a lot of frozen assets and am far from being the wealthy man a lot of folks believe me.

"Estelle can make big money in screen and opera. I hope that the girl gets every break in her favor, climbs to the heights. Only I also hope that once she gets there she won't like me, look back and feel that emptiness, that lack of home life, home associations and pals that make the struggle to climb seem so darn useless.

"I've got to go through, and honestly I'd rather fight Tunney tonight, Schmeling tomorrow night, than do it. I've made it a rule to give Estelle everything she wants—this is no exception."

Gandhi Likes Hymn Sung by Americans

AMAHADABAD, India, April 13.—(AP.)—American tourists are coming here in increasing numbers to see Mahatma Gandhi. Yesterday just as he had finished leading several hundred Hindus in prayer he was startled by a chorus of voices singing "Lead, Kindly Light."

Recovering from his momentary surprise, the Mahatma smiled at the singers and said:

"Next to 'When I Behold That Wondrous Cross' my favorite Christian hymn is 'Lead Kindly Light.' I don't know how you guessed it."

ETNA DEBT SUIT BOOMERANG

The arrest of David Olitzky, the man who preferred civil charges against Mrs. Theresa Solario, Etna store proprietor, was ordered today by Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt.

The order was issued after S. G. Fry, Etna police chief, informed the prosecutor that the sale of a punchboard was the basis of the $15 debt for which Olitzky sued the woman before Alderman Thomas D. Jones.

Chief Fry tore down the constable sale sign placed on Mrs. Solario's store.

Jones, who had ordered the store sold to meet the obligation, said he was ignorant of the punchboard angle of the case. His statement was supported by the woman, who admitted she said nothing of a punchboard to the alderman.

According to Chief Fry, a man whose name the woman does not know sold her candy to be given as punchboard prizes. She paid $10 and owes a balance of $15 and costs amounting to $11.

If Olitzky is identified as the man who sold Mrs. Solario the board, Langfitt said he would make an information charging him with setting up a lottery.

Forty Dry Agents Enroll in School

Prohibition agents went to school today. A two-weeks' session opened in the Federal Building with 40 agents present and listening to Attorney James I. Piper and Maj. Frank Killer instructing them in the correct procedure in liquor raids with an eye to court trials.

Dreams that come in sleep, depending on what you have eaten, are not important.

NINO PECARARO, professional medium, has retired from the business of talking with spirits, confesses that all the seances were fraudulent. Lady Conan Doyle resents the statement that Pecararo called down spirits for her late husband.

The laws of physics are not violated, and spirits can't talk, write, be photographed, play the tamboureen or lift a table.

Nevertheless many mediums are perfectly sincere and believe in their own powers, as do rainmakers and witch doctors in the jungle. The easiest accomplishment in the world is to deceive yourself.

WASHINGTON reports that bootleg gin has been selling at prices constantly diminishing for 10 years past. Prices for the quality known as "bathtub gin" have fallen as low as 75 cents a quart.

This is bad news for bootleggers, and worse for consumers of the bathtub gin, which actually sells below the price of gin in 1913.

THOSE THAT manage prisoners on New York's Welfare Island are struggling vainly against an "inside racket in drugs." Two prisoners were found with enough heroin on their persons to supply the whole prison.

If our kind of government cannot compete with drug rackets in prisons, what chance has it in competition with wholesale crime, drug peddling and racketeering out of prisons?

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

AS A KID, there was nothing to distinguish him from the other boys in the neighborhood. He was born on Tenth avenue, near Twenty-third street. At an early age he was taught to use his fists. Over there it was a question of using yours—or having the other fellow use his on you. The boys called him Muggsy.

Muggsy was not a brilliant boy. He did not know where the various libraries were, but he could point out every pool room in the neighborhood without a moment's hesitation. He loved baseball, the fights, the weekly dance, the movies, neighborhood gossip and the girls. Especially the girls.

When he was 16 he decided to go to work. Pa was dead and ma could use a little dough anyhow.

When he was 18 Muggsy was earning $20 a week. But what was that? He was a fellow who wanted to get married. He was simply crazy, as he would be glad to tell you, over Maggie. What! —you never heard of Maggie? Why, she was far and away the prettiest girl in the entire neighborhood. Muggsy thought that everybody had heard of Maggie.

But gee! Only $20 a week. How were two people to get along on that? Sure, they loved each other. No question about that. But, as Maggie told him, you can't buy steaks with love . . .

Strong as an ox, Muggsy decided to take up boxing professionally. He had never gone into the thing seriously. He had hit the amateurs several times, and had done very well. But, until the marriage bug struck him, the idea of earning money in the ring had never occurred to him. Now he was strong for it.

He outlined the idea to Maggie. She was dubious.

"If you and I are going to go the route," she said, "I don't want you getting marked up so that I won't know you when you come home at night. What makes you think you're a bruiser? How do you know you won't get knocked off in your first fight?"

Muggsy laughed. He talked rapidly. He finally convinced her.

"Well," she murmured, "all right. But there's one thing you gotta promise me. I want you to give me your hand that you'll report everything to me every night.

"I love you, honey. You and me were made for each other. I don't want you mixing up with the bums who are always hanging around the fight racket. Keep clean, and I'm rooting for you always. If not—"

Muggsy laughed again. He swore that he'd report to her every night. When she continued to warn him, he crushed her to him so tightly that she could talk no more.

The leeches began to cling to him. They patted him on the back. They flattered him. Muggsy was only human. He liked it. Can you blame him?

Joe wanted to manage him. Muggsy said he didn't want a manager. His girl, Maggie, was all the manager he needed. Joe laughed. He asked Muggsy to go to a night club with him that night. Muggsy said he wouldn't go. Joe painted a vivid picture of the scantily clad girls that were to be seen. Muggsy went.

That night——

"Have a little drink, kid. It'll warm you up. Aw, go on. That'sa boy.

"Listen, Muggsy. No scrapper ever got nowhere bein' tied to a skirt. Them dames is poison. Get wise to yourself and cut loose before it's too late. I know you're stuck and all that—but don't you want to be champeen? Muggsy, you're jus' ruinin' yourself by tiein' up with a broad the way you done.

"Have another drink, Muggsy. It'll warm yuh up. That'sa boy. Say, how do you like that kid over there—the one with the blue eyes? Okay, hey. Wait a minute, I'll get her over for you. Hey, waiter——"

Muggsy signed with Joe two weeks later. He told Maggie about it. She smiled a wan smile.

"I knew it was comin', Muggsy," she said. "So long, pal."

About six months later she married another man.

A few weeks ago at Madison Square Garden, I saw Muggsy fight in the first preliminary. He was bloated and sluggish. His eyes had a watery look. I could have sworn he was drunk as he climbed into the ring. A sport writer sitting next to me thought the same thing.

Muggsy lasted just one round. He took a brutal beating, and finally collapsed. He left the ring with Joe, his manager, right behind him. As they passed me, I heard Joe talking.

Muggsy paused. He turned around.

"I get you," he murmured hopelessly.

Praised By Sister Superior

The good sisters at St. Joseph's Orphanage, Nashua, N. H., know how to keep the children under their charge, healthy and strong. Here is a letter from the Sister Superior:

"We keep Father John's Medicine on hand at all times and give it to the children with excellent results. When they are pale, weak and undernourished, it helps to make them strong and healthy. Children who dislike plain cod liver oil, take it in Father John's Medicine easily; in fact, they find it pleasant to take and easy to digest."

Father John's Medicine is rich in health-giving vitamins; used in 184 hospitals and institutions.

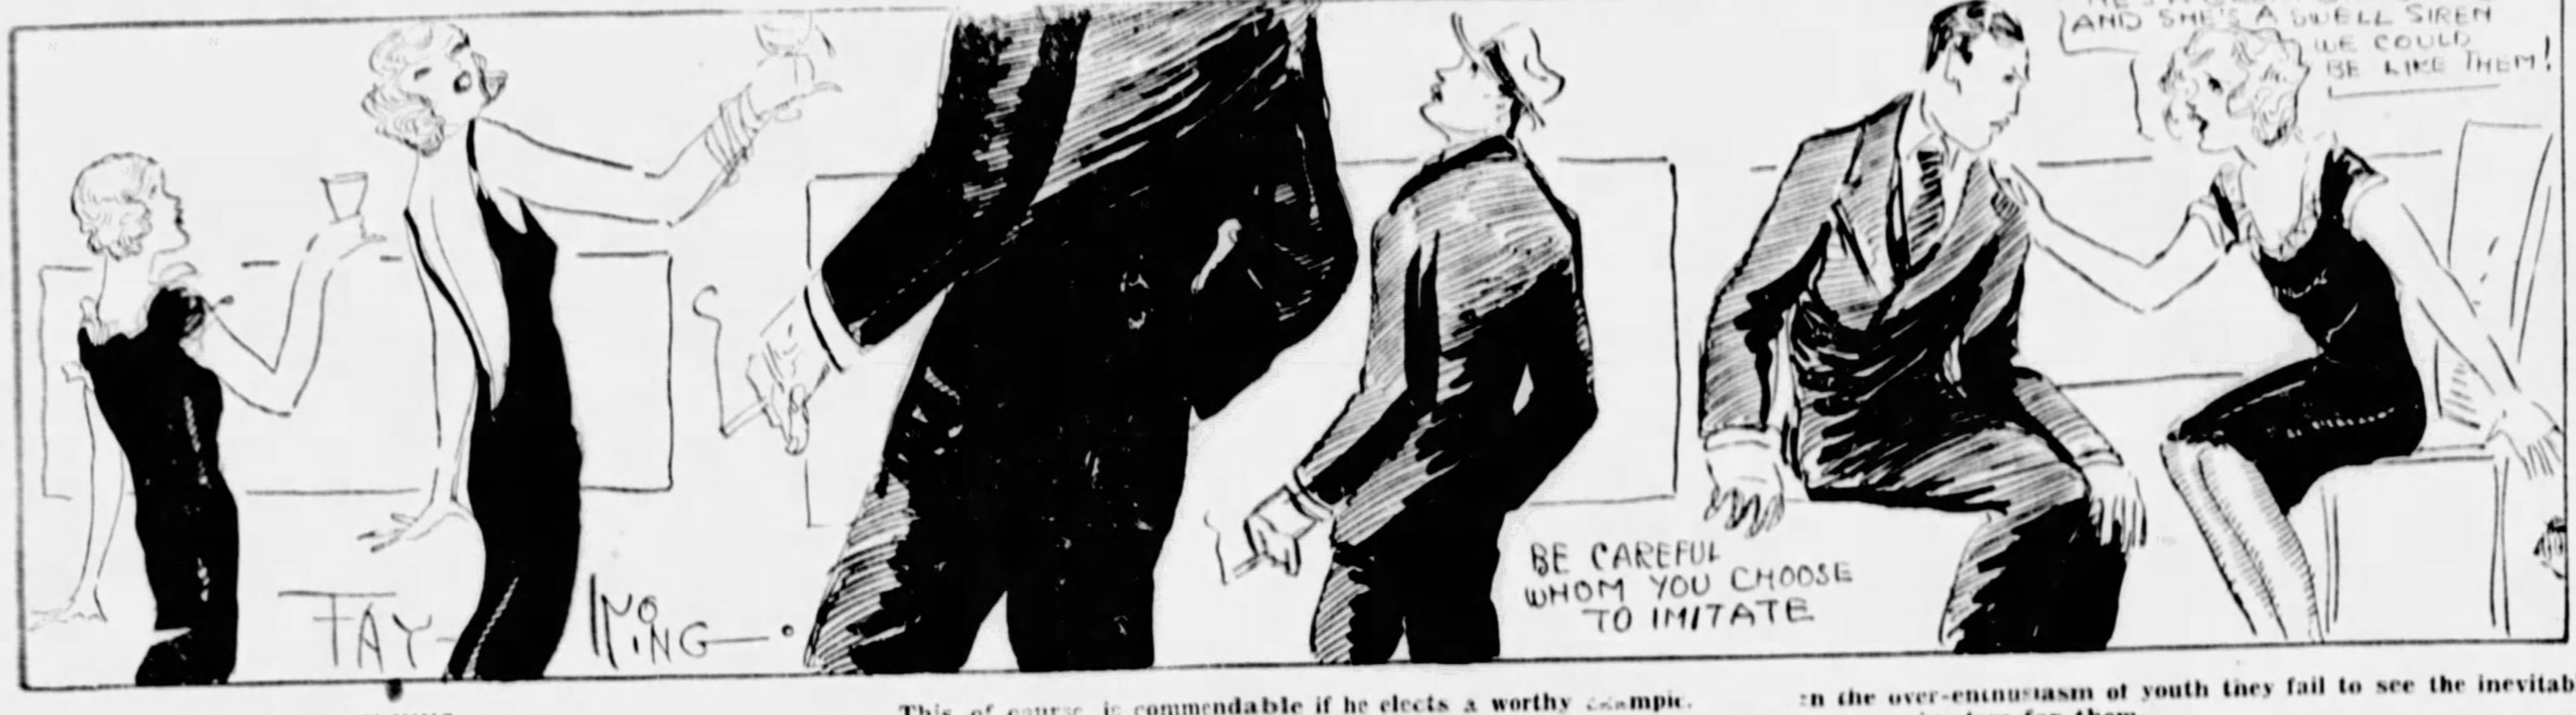
Imitation Sincerest Flattery, but Often Fatal to Flatterer, Says Fay King



FAY KING
BE CAREFUL WHOM YOU CHOOSE TO IMITATE
HE'S A GREAT GANGSTER AND SHE'S A SWELL SIREN WE COULD BE LIKE THEM!

By FAY KING

Imitation is the sincerest flattery, but it is sometimes fatal to the flatterer.

For an imitator not only wishes to be as like as possible—he hopes to excel if he can.

This, of course, is commendable if he elects a worthy example. But too often we see young persons just as sincere in the wrong direction.

Much of their crime and dissipation are a matter of imitation.

In the over-enthusiasm of youth they fail to see the inevitable consequences in store for them.

So perfectly have they patterned themselves after the wrong type they blindly imitated they do not realize their grave mistake until they actually excel—into prison.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Does beauty help a girl to get ahead—

Or does it "put her on the spot?"

Or a handicap?

Gertie — who looks like she sounds—was of the opinion that the beautiful dolls had all the breaks when it came to getting a job. And we printed her complaint.

Now comes Carmela. Carmela has so much beauty that big brave men get the jitters just watching her pass.

Just a Handicap

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I've read Gertie's letter, and I want to tell her she's all wrong when she thinks that beauty is a girl's big aid to success in this world.

"Beauty hasn't a chance!

"I don't want to sound egotistical, but a lot of people have told me that I am awfully pretty. And some men have said 'You're too pretty to be any good!' Honestly, can you figure that? Why can't they understand that a girl can have good looks and still be good, too? Beauty! It's a curse, if you ask me!

"Just the other day I applied for a very good secretarial position and the first shot out of the sky the man I was interviewing said, 'Of course, you are the kind of girl men look around twice to see, and if I dared hire you my superiors and my patrons would all think that I did it because of your looks and not because of your business qualifications!' And that was that!

Could Do Work

"Honestly, I was so mad, I wanted to go out and cry. I had good references. I could have done that man's work . . . and I run into something like that!

"To make a long story short, Gertie is wrong. Good looks don't get a girl ahead. They're her handicap. Men find it hard to give the pretty girl the benefit of the doubt. They're sure she'll cheat on them. And I know that a lot of the time they only show her their worst side.

"Why is it that way, Sally? I didn't ask to be pretty. Why can't men believe in me? Why can't they believe that I am just as straight as I am good looking?

"No siree! Beauty's no asset! I know, from experience!

"CARMELA."

So you're too beautiful to be taken seriously, are you, kid? Well . . . maybe! But I suspect that's just a come-on line. And, if I know my femmes, you got a big kick out of describing your Fatal Charms.

And I also suspect that you get a big bang out of parading those fatal charms in the office . . . which is possibly the reason why busy businessmen conclude that you have more beauty than brains, and turn from you to something plain and substantial.

Beauty, as God created it, isn't a blight to any girl. It's a great blessing. But beauty, as some girls use it . . . is a pain in the neck. The streets are filled with lovely ladies. You can watch hundreds of them pass any corner within an hour. Radiant red heads, brilliant brunettes, baby blondes—every type of beauty, in scores of exquisite gowns. Each one of them an eyeful!

Plain Girls Dependable

But of these hundreds, how many are insulted? How many meet even an inviting eye?

But it's extremely easy to invite insult. You don't have to yell about it, or advertise it in the papers. Just think insults, and you'll get them. Just think of yourself as an irresistible female whom all men are pursuing, and the gents will do their best to oblige.

If, on the other hand, you think of yourself as a regular worker—quiet, dignified, sensible, modest and womanly—you'll be treated as such.

Why do men turn down the Beautiful Dolls and select the Plain Little Pattys? That's why. Because the Beautiful Dolls are so busy thinking about their fatal charms that they're quite useless in an office. And the Plain Pattys, who haven't such romantic notions, can be depended upon to do a regular job.

That's my slant on you, Carmela. And now we'll leave the rest to the gang.

How about it, Nora, Katie, Fan?

Phil Veritzen Finally Shows Concern Over Noel's Condition

I never have been prouder of Dicky than I was when I finished telling him while Philip Veritzen listened, of the "talkie" role Colin Cameron had offered Mary, of Mr. Veritzen's comments upon it, and of my wish for his decision. He had listened with just the right amount of deferential interest and he had given me an infinitesimal wink when with one of our private little signals I had told him to be noncommittal as to his final decision. And his answer was so suave and so convincing that I do not believe even my employer's keen brain had any suspicion that he was talking against time, and that his decision as well as mine was already made.

"Of course, old chap," he began, with a comradely smile at Mr. Veritzen, "you can't blame me, as the young woman's uncle, for having as my first reaction, the thought, 'If it isn't good enough for a potential Veritzen star, it isn't good enough for my niece, who is one no longer, only because of her refractory heart, not her deficiency in talent.'"

He waited for a second, to let that sink in, and I saw my employer's eyebrows contract ever so slightly, the first warning of annoyance which he gives.

"But," Dicky went on smoothly, "on the other hand one must consider the tremendous advantages of the offer, and the fact that it is a most unusual one to be made to so inexperienced a girl. It is not a matter one can decide at once. What is your reaction to it, dear?" He asked the question as though the fate of the world hung upon my answer.

"It really doesn't matter, does it?" I asked demurely. "You are Mary's guardian, and yours must be the final decision. Also, just at present, I am as much at sea as you are. It is so hard to decide."

"I do not know that you need to be reminded," Mr. Veritzen began, hesitatingly, "but I am more familiar with theatrical usage than you are, and an offer like that cannot wait, you know."

"How long did Cameron give Mary for decision?" Dicky turned to me.

"He didn't want to give her any time," I rejoined, "but he finally agreed to wait until day after tomorrow."

"That's time enough to put a skyscraper," Dicky answered flippantly. "Suppose we table the resolution for the rest of the evening, and consider the buffet table instead. I'm nearly starved."

"You deserve never to eat again for a pun like that," I told him severely, and then I caught sight of Noel coming into the dining-room and forgot everything else in my concern for him. He looked so frail etched against the dark draperies of the doorway, that I wondered how any father, even one so obsessed by a fantastic resentment as was Philip Veritzen, could fail to be moved by the sight.

"Ought Noel to have come down, Dicky?" I asked.

"Of course not," he answered promptly, "but I couldn't do anything with him. He said he didn't want to play the baby."

"What's the matter with him?" The question came explosively from Philip Veritzen's lips.

"He hasn't fully recovered yet from the attack Jack Leslie made upon him," I said and held my breath for his answer wondering at the instinct which had made me use the word "made" instead of "instigated."

"Jack Leslie!" he cried. "Impossible!" Jack Leslie is——"

He broke off abruptly, then finished too hastily and with too much emphasis: "thousands of miles away."

With my mental thermometer rapidly approaching fever heat, I wondered if Dicky's brain processes were traveling the same path as mine. But his answer gave me no clue.

"He is supposed to be, I grant you. We all have rested safely in the belief that he never would dare to come back to this country again. But I, myself, saw him on the street the other day, and the man who hit Noel told him that the blow was with 'Mr. Leslie's compliments, and that there would be more of them.' He also staged an interview with Mary, didn't he, dear?"

"Yes, he did," I answered sternly. "He trailed her to Riverside Park where she was strolling and threatened her with all sorts of penalties for herself and Noel if she didn't consent to pay him thirty-five dollars a week."

"The double-crossing little blackmailer!" Philip Veritzen exclaimed, and I wondered if Dicky noticed as I did the significance of the adjective my employer had used.

Household Hints

Never let vegetables cool in aluminum or metal saucepans. Unless the dish is earthenware the metal is apt to affect the the delicate flavor of the vegetables.

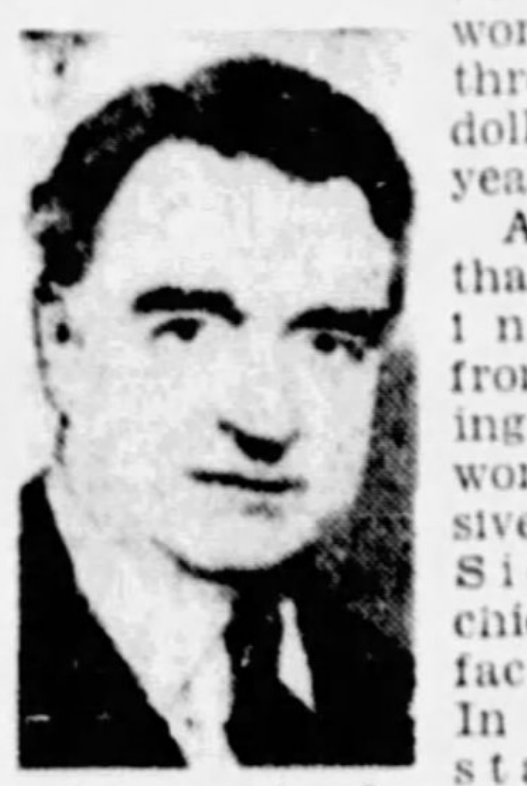
One mother has a white rubber stair tread which she places in the bottom of baby's bath tub while bathing him. Then he never has one of those frightening "slips" into the water.

The presence in china closets or cupboards of an insect known as the silver fish is a sure indication that there is dampness lurking there. Borax sprinkled liberally about will frighten them away and one should lose no time in getting rid of them as they are destructive, feeding as they do upon linens, bookbindings and other materials. Be sure that all dishes are thoroughly dry before putting them away.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Wait Until Sick to Seek Medical Advice



Dr. Copeland

There is an enormous economic loss from ill health and disease. This cause costs the industrial world about three billion dollars each year.

Anything that prevents individuals from continuing with their work is expensive to society. Sickness is chief of the factors of loss. In many instances the disease is a preventable one.

With proper education and training it is possible to decrease this loss. It is hoped that future generations will eliminate it entirely.

It is often said that the future of medicine lies in the direction of preventing diseases and not in curing it. This is undoubtedly true. The medical profession recognizes the importance of the program of disease prevention. It now remains with the public to understand this problem and to co-operate with the doctors.

I have frequently referred to the importance of being examined by a doctor every six months. This should be done regardless of the state of health. It is a part of the plan to detect disease as early as possible and perhaps to prevent it.

Unfortunately, it is difficult to convince a healthy man he ought to report to a physician for an examination. I am frequently asked what benefit a well person can derive from a physical examination.

Many who apparently are perfectly well will be surprised at the number of defects uncovered by periodic physical examinations. As a rule no physical complaint has preceded such an examination. If permitted to go unrecognized, one of these defects might lead to discomfort and serious result.

I can never understand why so many men will give great care to their cars, yet entirely neglect their own bodies. Upon the slightest "knock or squeak" they will run to the service station and have the car completely overhauled. They never give themselves the overhauling, and call the physician only after the body has been damaged.

In the past most medical advice has been on the repair of disorders. It is now hoped that the aid given will be in the direction of preventing diseases and thus eliminating the necessity for repairs.

We are now beginning to realize more than ever that it is possible for the doctors to render a greater service than merely prescribing to relieve discomfort. Under proper supervision with periodic examinations it will become possible to lead a healthful life. With this aid, life may be extended and diseases diminished. When this has been accomplished there will be a marked decrease in the economic loss sustained each year.

Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Freckles call for daily treatment. Use a mild bleach, such as peroxide or lemon juice, and oil the complexion immediately after exposure to the rays of the sun.

When a cold sore appears there are clusters of vesicles at the corner of the mouth or on the lip edge. This condition is followed by swelling, redness and a sensation of burning and tingling. Various applications are recommended, but the chances are that the blister will take care of itself if it is not tampered with.

Moles can be removed by the electrical treatment, by the X-ray or by light freezings with carbon dioxide snow. Best to have a medical man do the work, since now and then a mole may be inclined to be mischievous, to take on a malignant character when it is tampered with. Warts will up and depart when well dosed with castor oil. Now and then, a senility wart will appear. It grows quickly and has a broken, white border. Medical attention is necessary.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, April 14

An eventful and interesting day, with things of the personal and affectional life uppermost, is presaged from the strong positions of Jupiter, Venus and Uranus in propitious aspect with the moon. The latter hints of sudden change, the aspect with Venus mutually suggesting a sensational or abrupt adventure in the romantic affiliations. There is presage of pleasant and happy relations, and occurrences should not be marred by a too arduous, hasty or impetuous grasp of joys.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of much success, happiness and pleasant adventure, with the personal interests uppermost in the activities. There may be a happy if not sensational change in the status, but in all refrain from too precipitate, rash or inharmonious grasp of affairs.

A child born on this day should be versatile, accomplished and ambitious, with an assured place through its personal popularity, social gifts and original talents. It should have a happy and prosperous life.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Hospitality Is a Charming Privilege

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have known a young man for over a year and I have only been out with him once, and that was on an occasion where I invited him, as I had been given two tickets for a formal dance. I hope it was proper for me to ask him? Now I am to have my girl friend and the young man she goes about with in for dinner, and I am wondering if it would be proper for me to invite him, or if he would think I was running after him? I would be very pleased if you will tell me what to do.

READER.

It would be a charming thing to extend the hospitality of your home in this way, and I am sure that the young man would appreciate your kindness and thoughtfulness. But, after that, let's let him make a social gesture, even if it is of only the simpliest kind. Some flowers sent to you, or an invitation to the movies, or some other gesture that will show thought, and not be expensive, if this ever-present question of money is an important one to him in his entertainment budget. I see no reason why you shouldn't have asked him to the dance, and I'd like to have you ask him with the other two friends to dine at your home. Then I am sure that his friendliness will suggest a "return" party.

A Bridge of Only Two Tables Inevitably "Informal"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to give a bridge just two tables. The girls are old friends. Do you think it would be out of place to have it formal? No one has given one, but I'd like to be a bit different. Do you think it would be out of place? I don't want to appear foolish.

L. H.

A bridge party of just two tables would inevitably, I think, be regarded as an informal party. And to try to change its type and make it formal would give a forced, inappropriate atmosphere to your party. It would indeed appear "foolish" . . and I suggest that you make it "different" in some other way. Glorify your hospitality . . make your bridge refreshments especially interesting and attractive . . give unusually lovely bridge prizes, if you wish . . this will be better than to strain for an inappropriate effect.

The Wife's Name Comes First.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly advise me which is correct, Jack and Nine, the husband's name being Jack, the wife's Nine? Or, Nine and Jack?

READER.

Usually the name of the wife comes first, even if she is the one who is writing the letter, or signing the card.

Edna May Oliver to Play Semi-Dramatic Part In Beach Story

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 13.—Not even Richard Dix gained more from "Cimarron" than Edna May Oliver, who played the cadaverous ex-school teacher.

With the whole country laughing at deprecatory smirks, this veteran actress finds herself boosted on the crest of one of those publicity waves that only Hollywood studios know how to generate.

Edna May Oliver

Radio Pictures are no longer content for their find to play straight comedy. They have brought Rex Beach's story, "The Slander Girl" to give Edna May a semi-dramatic role, something on the order of Marie Dressler's part in "Min and Bill."

The heroine of this story is a former dance-hall girl who gets married, settles down and has a son. When the son is wayward, she and her husband work to save him.

Young Anthony Veiller, son of Playwright Bayard, is busy preparing a script from the Beach story. R. K. O. plans to do the picture following the actress' return from Paramount where she has been loaned to play in "The Queen of Hollywood."

ADVICE TO BEGINNERS

"The first thing in Hollywood," says Al Boasberg, "is to learn to read upside down. Then when you go in to see an executive you can find out what the daily wire from the New York office has to say."

LATEST GOSSIP

The same Mr. Boasberg has one of the strangest rackets in the film colony. He syndicates gags weekly to a list of masters-of-ceremonies. There are some 375 of these gentlemen at loose in the land. Al releases his gags simultaneously in different sections. One franchise-holder can be sure that no other gagster in his territory will be supplied. This amazing, only-could-happen-in-Hollywood service is profitable enough for its originator to employ an agent to go around the country contacting M. C.'s . . . This column's story about the European women who sell their hair to the movies is starting a home industry. R. K. O. has received several letters from local women, enclosing samples of their tresses . . . Since coming back for a second try in Hollywood, Ina Claire has adopted a very different attitude. Her former contract provided she didn't have to come on the set until 9 a. m. and could leave at 5. During the filming of "Rebound" she has to arrive at 7:30 and works cheerfully until the director says stop . . . If Jimmie Walker hadn't gone back to New York, he might have broken into the films Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has just signed Wilbur Mack, who bears a close resemblance to Hizonner, to play the mayor of New York in a sequence in Marion Davies' new picture "Five and Ten" . . . The annual summer exodus to Europe will include this year Norma Shearer, Irving Thalberg, Irving Thalberg, Jr., John Gilbert, William Haines, Ramon Novarro, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Joan Crawford . . . On her way back to New York, via the canal, Lily Damita will stop off on the Mexican coast to enjoy, of all things, a spell of tuna fishing.

Joan Crawford

WHAT PROPPED HIM UP?

Maybe you haven't heard the one about the vaudevillian who came into the booker's office and asked for $500 a week.

"I'll give you $700 a week," was the amazing reply.

"Say," demanded the vaudevillian, "what's the idea?"

"My mistake," said the booker, "I thought the shock would make you drop dead."

CINDERELLA AGAIN

A week ago, old Jake was a victim of the motor age.

Sway-backed, worn, he dragged the trash wagon around the R-K-O studio. Then one day, Robert Woolsey spied him at his duties. Entranced by the ancient animal, the comedian had R. K. O. write a part for him in "Going, Going, Gone."

Jake is a hit. Already, the pet agency has signed him up and will peddle him to other studios. It's hay and bran-mash now, and a place in the sun.

MAY FILM DICKENS

There is a new plan afoot to make a talkie version of Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist." Bryan Foy, who made the first full length Vitaphone feature, is scouting around for a suitable boy to take the part. Davey Lee was approached, but is not available. Foy's ideal cast, he says, is Richard Bennett, as Fagan; Noah Beery, as Billy Sykes, and Pauline Frederick, as Nancy. Getting them, of course, is another thing. The Dickens story is public property. Last year, M. G. M. talked of filming it, but the project fell through. Foy would produce it independently.

EX-POLICEMAN SENTENCED

Joseph Farino, 50, former policeman, pleaded no defense to extortion charges today in Criminal Court, and was sentenced by Judge George V. Moore to two years in the workhouse, one year to be taken off the sentence for good behavior.

Farino, who lives in Highland avenue, McKees Rocks, was accused of trying to extort $5,000 from Dr. G. S. Bubb, of Island avenue, McKees Rocks. He was arrested at a spot designated in McCoy Run road for collection of the money, which Dr. Bubb had been ordered to leave.

Farino's defense was that he didn't realize what he was doing—that a man named "Joe" had hired him.

STORY BY TARKINGTON IS FINE PICTURE IN THE DAVIS

By GEORGE SEIBEL

With Conrad Nagel, who always acts like a human being, and Booth Tarkington to write the story, who always has a story to tell, the picture in the Davis, "Bad Sister," is satisfactory in every way.

George Seibel

It is about a foolish and selfish girl in a small midwest town. She has many admirers, but falls for the wiles of a slick confidence man, who also fleeces her father's friends after she has forged her father's name to a letter indorsing the stranger's schemes.

These small-town folks are a bit too innocent—small town folks usually being just the opposite—but it is all shown and told with plausibility where it isn't underlaid with truth.

So different from the "high-life" pictures that show people living by their wits who haven't any.

ACTORS WHO ACT

Besides Conrad Nagel, who is one of the few screen heroes that look as if they had any brains, there are Sidney Fox and Bette Davis, two young women of charm and piquancy. There is Charles Winninger, in a quiet paternal role, and Zasu Pitts, as a servant girl of lachrymose dignity.

Booth Tarkington has not failed to provide one of his eternal boys, who breaks all speed records when he sees a policeman waiting at the front door.

SING THE STEIN SONG

The short features are very catchy, especially the "Maine Stein Song" sung by Rudy Vallee himself in a cartoon comedy.

Then there is a farce in which George Sidney and Charlie Murray play two detectives, and a monkey furnishes mystery and excitement for both of them. The newsreel shows one flash of Signor Mussolini apparently chewing gum—which will have to be investigated by Smedley Butler.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The first night for "Twelfth Night," with Jane Cowl, in the Alvin, is tonight. The first mat. day is Wednesday, and the second is Saturday.

Next week the attraction in the Alv. will be "A Rhapsody in Black." All those folks who have been wondering what has become of Ethel Waters will find her starred in "A Rhapsody," which is presented by Lew Leslie, who was the producer of "Blackbirds."

"Trader Horn" begins the second and final week of Africanizing the Nixon screen tonight, with Harry Carey showing up as a generous guy who will swap a nickel's worth of salt for an elephant's tusk without squawking that he has been trimmed by the native slickers. It shows twice daily—two-thutty and eight-thutty.

Dress rehearsals are not confined to the stage. "How do I look?" is a question familiar in every home.

"Death Takes a Holiday," with Anne Forrest and Paul McGrath in the same roles they roled a cupla weeks ago, will begin another week in the Pitt tonight. Thursday and Saturday are matinee days.

Just as soon as Death completes his well-earned vacation, "Strange Interlude" will occupy the attention of Mr. Sharp's players. You don't say! Well, that's what we said, too. Maybe we're both wrong.

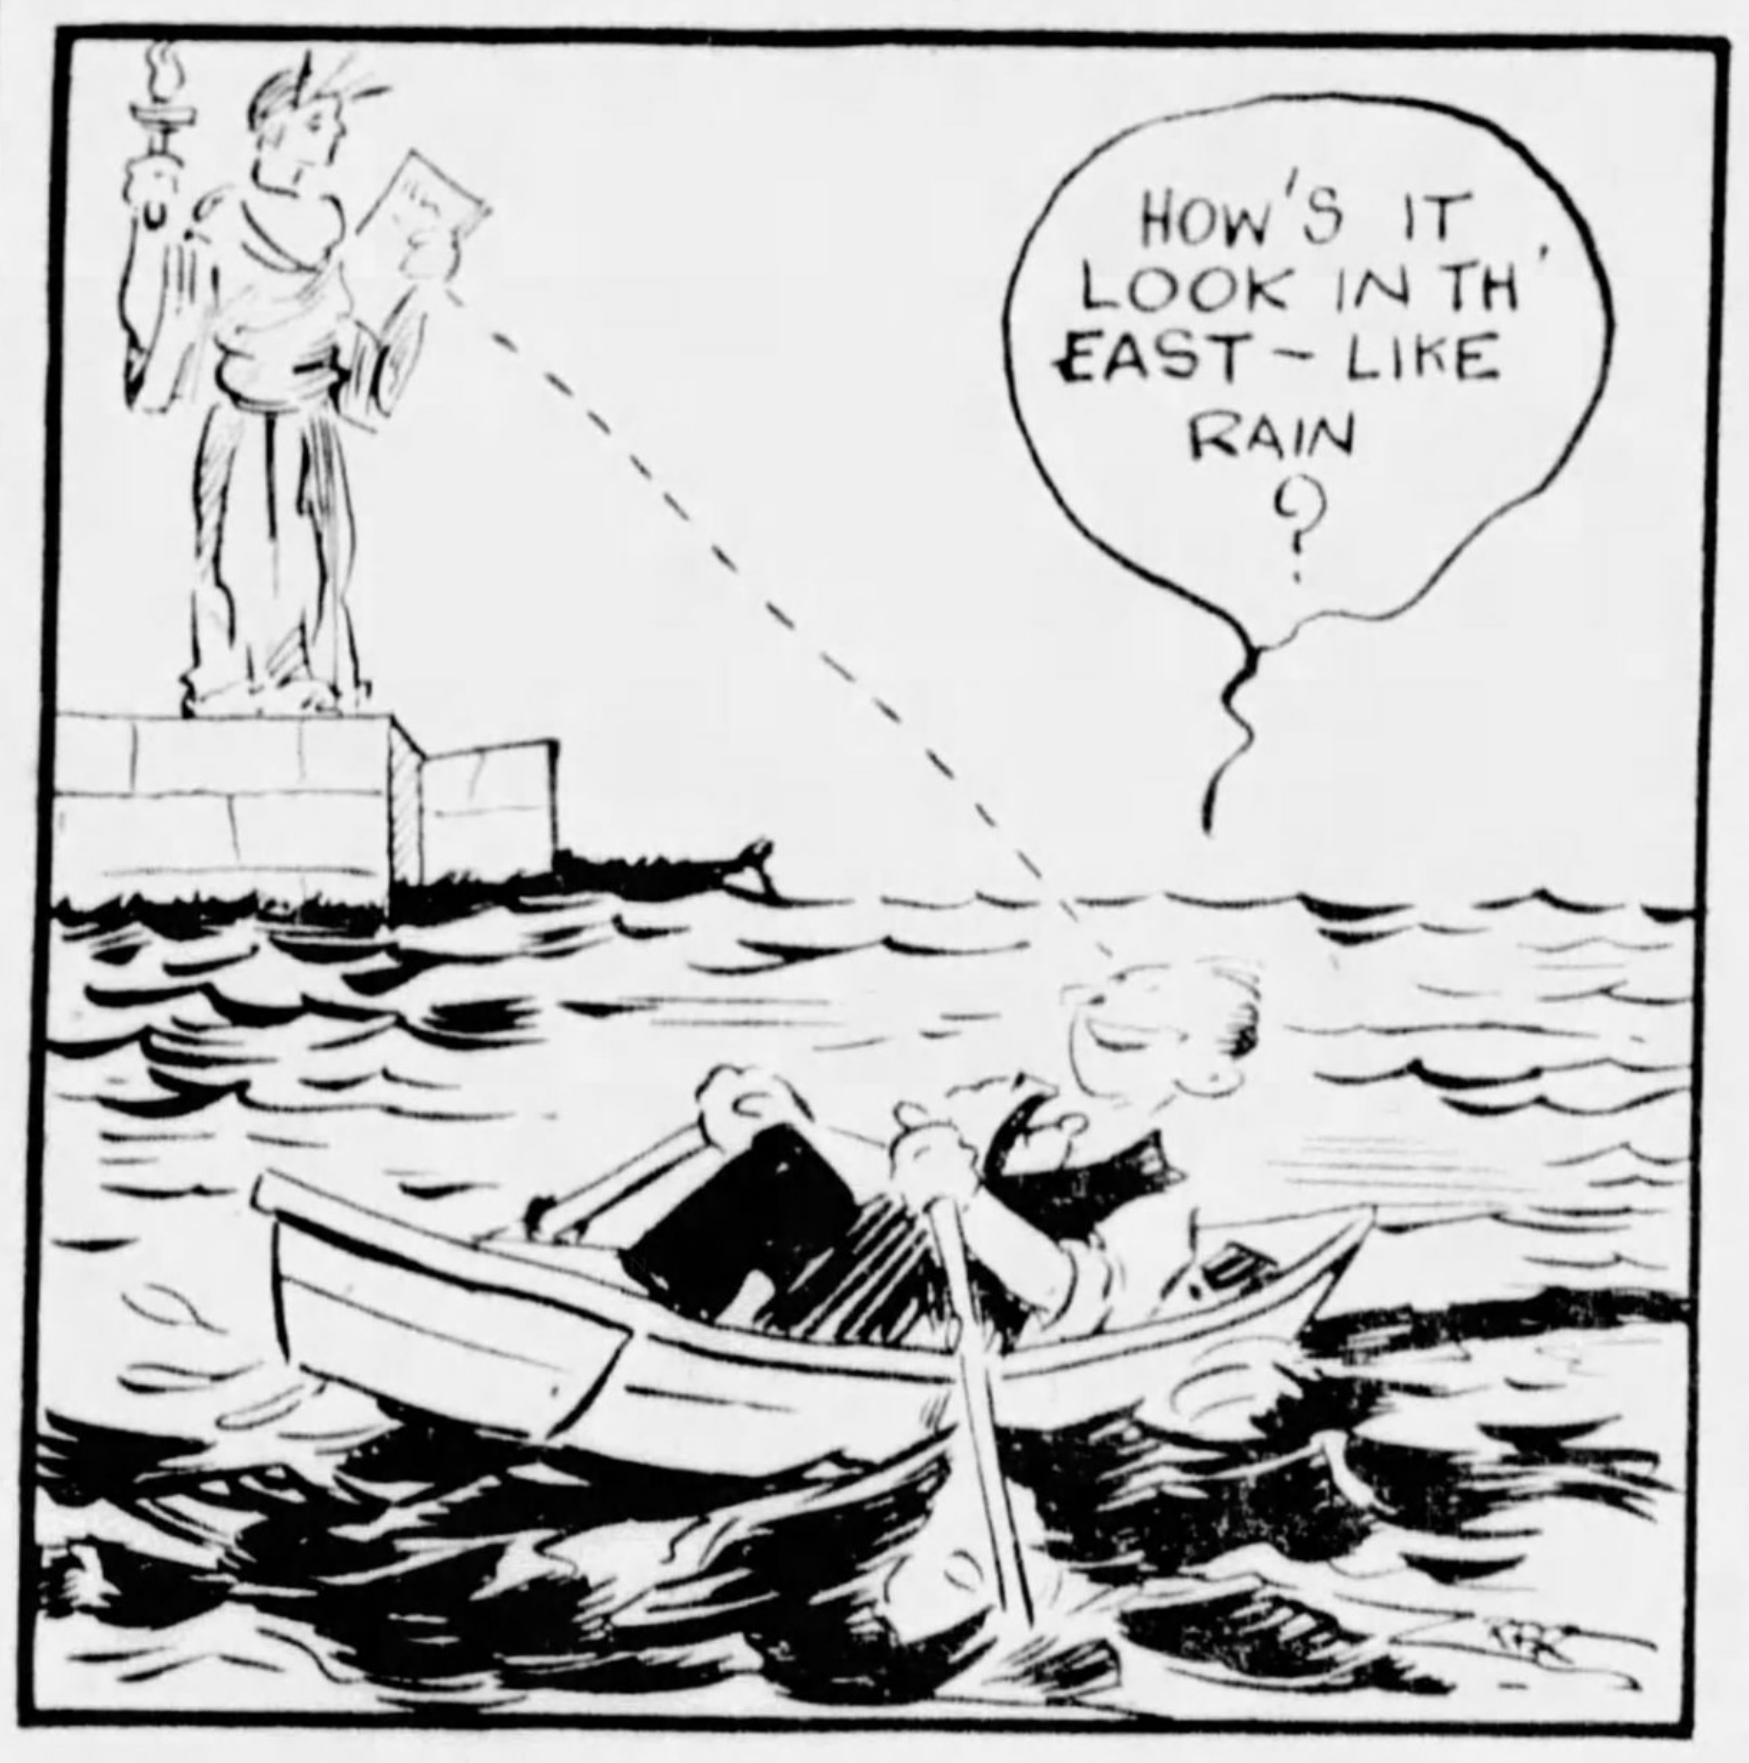
CONTEST PICTURE No. 9



HOW'S IT LOOK IN TH' EAST—LIKE RAIN ?

Name of the City or Town . . . . State

(1) Under the title, "Know Your Own Home Town," the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph will publish a series of cartoons to run consecutively for 40 days starting Sunday, April 5th. All of these cartoons will represent a city, town or borough in the reading area of the Sun-Telegraph and prizes will be awarded to readers who submit the neatest and most nearly correct set of answers.

(2) A total of $1,000 in cash prizes will be awarded, divided as indicated in another part of this announcement.

(3) This offer is open to all except employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their families. You pay nothing. Files of the Sun-Telegraph are available at the Public Library or at the office of the Sun-Telegraph and you may make tracings of the cartoons if you desire.

(4) Answers to the contest are not to be submitted until the entire set of 40 has been printed. After the last (No. 40) cartoon has appeared, entrants will be allowed 15 days to submit their sets of answers. They are to be addressed to the "Know Your Own Home Town" Contest Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

(5) All Answers submitted become the property of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and none will be returned. The judges will be appointed by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

Va.; Canton, Mansfield, Steubenville, Wellsville, or Sebring, Ohio. Do not submit the answers to the cartoons until the end of the contest.

CONTEST PICTURE NO. 10 WILL APPEAR IN TOMORROW'S

SUN-TELEGRAPH

Real Estate

The Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company, East End brokers, has sold for George D. Schreibeis to H. V. Walls a new brick residence of eight rooms and three baths on lot 33½x235 feet with a two-car garage at 6410 Wilkins avenue, Fourteenth Ward. The consideration was private.

A six-room brick home on lot 30x150 feet in Robertson avenue, Thirty-second Ward, has been sold by Edward M. Eritner to Gertrude L. Braun through the offices of Jacob Degenhardt, Overbrook realtor. The same realtor has sold for George R. Davidson to Thomas Aldridge, Jr., a four-room frame dwelling on lot 30x141 feet in Redrose avenue, Twenty-ninth Ward. Edward M. Britner has conveyed to George A. Kramer the deed to a six-room brick dwelling in Robertson avenue, Thirty-second Ward. The lot measures 32x143 feet to an alley. Degenhardt was also the broker in this transaction. A six-room brick and shingle home, 461 Olivett street, Thirty-second Ward, has been sold through Degenhardt's offices by William R. Miller to John L. Harvey. The lot measures 37x100 feet.

Those who predict further standardization of American apartment units are wrong, according to Oliver S. Turner, writing for the National Association of Real Estate Board. Turner, who is chairman of the property management division of the association, believes that the trend will be the opposite way. People want to be as human in homes 20 stories above a city street as they can be in homes in a country lane and the growing army of tenants will demand more "humanized" multi³₈family structures, Mr. Turner claims. He describes the spread of property management and says that the real estate organizations specializing in this work for owners of income properties are dispelling the old legend of the cold and unsympathetic landlord.

AUTO ACCIDENTS KILL FIVE, SCORE HURT

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

Because of Mayor Kline's presence, the lobbies of St. Francis Hospital resembled a political convention last week. Many of the Mayor's good friends dropped out to tell him just how to recover. Most of them weren't allowed in his room, so they hung around the lobbies talking about the good old days when good old days were good old days. The Mayor's sickness was certainly a journalistic break for Mark Watson, of the Indiana (Pa.) Gazette.

William Pfarr

Watson was a patient in the hospital himself, and he was strolling around the corridors when he learned that the Mayor was there. A bit more strolling and he found out that Attorney George Alter and Attorney Charles Margiotti also were patients. Well, all three of these gentlemen were born or reared in or near Indiana, so Watson went to work as a reporter. He called up his paper each day and furnished the latest news on the local boys. He's feeling fine himself.

Mayor Kline was born in Indiana and Watson revealed that the Mayor had but one nickname — "Dude." Even today that's all they call him up there —Dude Kline, obviously because of his fastidious dress.

One more hospital item: Attorney Margiotti, recovering from the removal of his appendix, got a letter on his sickbed from Mrs. Mountz, the wealthy widow who tried to save Irene and Dague, whom Charlie convicted, from the chair. Mrs. Mountz hoped Margiotti would recover soon and wished him luck.

A recent column which mentioned William Flinn, the late political leader, inspired a reader to recall a political convention in the old Duquesne Hotel of Oliver avenue and Smithfield street.

A rebel interrupted the routine of the meeting to make a long, vitriolic speech on Flinn's political leadership.

WELL—HE'S ONE OF THE FIRM!

Quite unfairly, and with no attempt at mincing words, he accused Flinn of having fractured every rule in the book.

"And," he charged in a fiery conclusion, "Boss Flinn also murdered Lincoln. He killed our greatest President."

The speaker sat down amidst a thunder of silence. A friend whispered to him: "That was a terrible speech. Flinn didn't kill Lincoln."

"Well, if he didn't, who did?"

"It was Booth."

"Well, I knew it was one of the firm."

Then there was the sign. "M. U. F." (Move Up Front), which adorned the street cars in the days of the political reign of Chris Magee and Flinn. In this connection they tell a story of the two Dutchmen.

"Gus," said the one, "I am puzzled. What does it stand for?"

"Ach!" exclaimed Gus, "it iss plain—Magee undt Flinn."

Senator Harris and James Francis Burke were talking about books a few weeks ago.

"Senator," said Mr. Burke, "I'd like to suggest a book for you to read—Arnold Bennett's 'How to Live.'"

"I'll get it now," the Senator answered, and forthwith dispatched his secretary to a bookstore.

The secretary returned with Bennett's book and the daily newspaper—a paper which contained the news that Bennett had just died.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Senator Brookhart has just been down at Panama and he was shocked and said the people down here were "just wallowing in sin," and he was going to introduce a bill in Congress to remove the canal to go between Cedar Rapids and Des Moines so the people here asked me to come down to offset Brookhart. And I kinder wanted to see (and perhaps join in) the wallowing.

Will Rogers

I will say this for the folks down here they are not wallowing in the canal. I flew in here from Costa Rica and I haven't seen the canal yet and can't find anybody that knows where it is. There is one great thing about the tropics, it gives you a great alibi.

Yours, WILL.

TOTAL NEARS MILLION MARK

County Workers Report $24,094.30 for Week End; Luncheons Are Resumed

Workers in the Allegheny County Emergency Association's campaign neared the million dollar mark in their drive for $3,000,000 to put the Pittsburgh Plan over. But one week remains to raise the amount. The total reported for today was $24,094.30, bringing the grand total up to $986,588.81.

The total of the subscriptions made over the week-end was to be audited by the senior class of the Pittsburgh School of Accountancy during the noon hour at the Chamber of Commerce today.

Speakers today were to be Miss Karen Fladoes, home service director of the Philadelphia Company, at a meeting of the Colloquium Club; L. B. Harnish, at the Elite Dress Company, 923 Penn avenue; Vitro Manufacturing Company, McKees Rocks; P. Duff & Son, Duquesne way, and North Side warehouse of Boggs & Buhl's.

Report luncheons will be held throughout the week at the Chamber of Commerce.

BUNDLE DRIVE TOMORROW

A final appeal is being made today by representatives of the Goodwill Industries to all families of the Pittsburgh district having unwanted wearing apparel.

In connection with their annual Bundle Day drive, the Goodwill Industries is asking that all bundles be given to children to take to schools tomorrow, the first day of the three-day bundle drive.

The need for wearing apparel is great, and it is feared that the drive may fail because parents may delay in getting the bundles.

GIRL FUGITIVES CAPTURED

Following a three-hour chase through wooded sections of Hampton Township, three girls who escaped from the Gumbert School for Girls, March 3, were captured by county detectives last night and returned to the institution.

When arrested the girls—who gave their names as Helen Jkswvowczy, 15, of 159 Forty-third street; Ruth Curry, 16, of New Castle, and Mathilda Sendek, 16, of 1321 Dyer street—wore bathing suits and other clothing, detectives said.

The search was made after residents complained that three girls were camping out at Hardy's swimming pool in Hampton Township, and that ice boxes in the vicinity had been robbed.

County Detectives Harry Barker, John Moses, Arthur Keuhning and Lawrence Kline were sent to the place and were forced to trail each girl individually.

JAIL CROWDED, WILL MOVE 100

To relieve an overcrowded condition, 100 prisoners in Allegheny County Jail will be transferred to the old Allegheny City poor farm, near the county workhouse, it was announced today. The property recently has been used as a county warehouse.

Officials of the jail last night were faced with the necessity of turning out prisoners before their terms expired to accommodate an influx of 80 additional prisoners.

There are 905 prisoners in the jail, the normal capacity of which is 800. Many of these are cases of summary conviction, and the jail is overcrowded for the first time since the "slacker raids" during the World War.

Some prisoners, whose terms did not expire until today were released yesterday. Of the inmates 34 are women. Dry violators numbered 399.

Mother Admits Shooting Man Who Had Her Money

Mrs. Anna Mack, 28, mother of four children, who was arrested yesterday for the shooting of Sam Gianella, 22, of Washington place, declared in Central Police Court today:

"I tried to kill him and tried to kill myself."

After Mrs. Mack, it is alleged, had fired five shots at Gianella as he was leaving a store at 715 Fifth avenue, she turned the revolver on herself, but there were no more bullets, detectives reported.

Gianella was reported in serious condition in Mercy Hospital. Mrs. Mack, who lives at rear 1902 Forbes street, told detectives Gianella had abandoned her after she gave him $20 she was saving to buy shoes for her children.

Mrs Mack, who said she was a widow, was held pending developments in Gianelli's condition. She asked neighbors to care for her children—Louise, 9; Edward, 8; Julius, 7, and Albert 4.

Foch Reveals Allies' Reserves Near End as Foe Continued Drive

In yesterday's instalment of his War Memoirs Marshal Foch told how the Doullens agreement of March 26, 1918, in which he was vested with command of the Franco-British armies on the Western Front proved inadequate and how, in conferences at Beauvais on April 3, 1918, and at Abbeville on May 2, 1918, he was given command over the American and Italian forces, as well as those of the French and British. Soon afterward the Belgians joined in these agreements, and Foch was formally invested with the title and authority of Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies in France.

Marshal Foch summarized the serious situation that confronted him as Supreme Commander in whose hands had been placed the responsibility of directing the military operations of the Allies and upon whose shoulders now rested the chief responsibility for the strategic moves that were expected to crush the enemy and win the war. He outlined the plans he then formulated to meet the great German offensive then under way.

By MARSHAL FERDINAND FOCH

CHAPTER XVI

Marshal Haig's fears were not without foundation. To exploit immediately his success of April 9, 1918, the enemy had widened his front of action. On the 11th the battle extended from La Bassee Canal to Comines, on the Ypres Canal, a distance of 18 miles; moreover, it was reinforced by new enemy divisions. On April 14 there were 25 German divisions in action. This increase of strength was marked by an appreciable hostile advance in the direction of Hazebrouck.

After crossing the Lawe Canal, Gen. von Quast's troops seized Locon and Estaires and, further north, Hollebeke. On the 12th, Merville and Meris fell into their hands and their advance guards were already on the edge of the Nieppe forest. The depth of the advance thus was 11 miles.

Faced with this development of the battle, Marshal Haig saw his resources being rapidly used up and he deemed it more than ever essential that the French co-operate in Flanders.

On the evening of the 11th, he sent Gen. Davidson, the chief of the operations branch of his staff to see me at Sarcus. He brought a letter in which Sir Douglas described the exhaustion of the British force and emphasized the necessity of "immediately concentrating a mass of at least four French divisions between Saint-Omer and Dunkirk."

In the course of our conversation, Gen Davidson and I agreed that by using the whole of the British reserves, including those still on the right of the British Army, 17 divisions in all, plus the reinforcement furnished by the French units then moving

Father M. A. Lambing, 83, Dies at Scottdale

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 13. —The Very Rev. Michael A. Lambing, 83, pastor of St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church in Scottdale for 52 years, and vicar forane of Westmoreland, Fayette and Indiana counties since 1902, died at the rectory today.

Born in Manorville, Armstrong County, April 28, 1848, he started work as a shoemaker. With the development of the Oil Creek and Parker oil fields, he worked in and about refineries for some time.

In September, 1870, he entered St. Michael's Seminary, in Glenwood. He was ordained a priest by Bishop John Twigg in St. Paul's Cathedral in 1876. Father Lambing received his first appointment as assistant pastor in the Church of St. John the Evangelist, South Side. In 1878, he was transferred to St. Patrick's Church, from which he went to the pastorate of St. John's Church in Scottdale. His term of service there was the longest on record in the Pittsburgh diocese, with the exception of that of Father D. J. Devlin, made pastor of St. Stephen's Church, Hazelwood, two weeks before Father Lambing received his appointment.

Father Lambing had long been a leader in the Catholic Total Abstinence Union and president of the Priests' Total Abstinence Union. He was also a member of the board of Synodal Examiners and of the Diocesan School Board.

He leaves two sisters, both nuns, Sister Ildephonse, of St. John's convent, Scottdale, and Sister Rosalie, of Greensburg.

Funeral services will be held in Scottdale Thursday. His body will lie in state in the church all Wednesday. Bishop H. C. Boyle and more than 100 priests are expected to attend the ceremonies.

'BILLY' SUNDAY LAUDS DRY ERA IN TALKS HERE

'GLAD YOU CHILDREN HEARD ME!'

HARVEY BROWN, JR., 13 GRACE B. M'C. PIDAGOS, 9 BILLY SUNDAY

The Rev. Mr. Sunday at First United Presbyterian Church, North Side, thanking Harvey, 1202 Paulson avenue, and Grace, 1216 Arch street, for their attendance at his meeting. He denounced booze, birth control and companionate marriage in no uncertain terms.

NATION BETTER, EVANGELIST DECLARES

Companionate Marriage, Birth Control Condemned; Enforcement Demanded

"Booze, Foul and Out!" was his topic for three speeches, two in Pittsburgh and one at the Greensburg High School, between appearances here.

CITES 'CLEANER' NATION

Discussing prohibition last night under the auspices of the National Anti-Saloon League at the First United Presbyterian Church, North Side, he cited all of the mechanical improvements—washing machines, vacuum cleaners, and other devices to make America cleaner—that have become more numerous since the saloon went out in favor of "beer parlors, whisky offices, or whatever you may choose to call them."

He denounced birth control and companionate marriage. The address drew applause from the audience of 2,500.

Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, Highland avenue, was full to overflowing when Sunday spoke for prohibition in the morning.

VOICE IS WEAKER

The evangelist spoke with his old-time fervor, frequently banging his fist on the table. But his voice, which formerly carried to farthest corners of tabernacle and tent, apparently had lost in strength. Some of his audience had difficulty in hearing his words.

CITES TRANSPORTATION

Citing the billions of quarts of liquor consumed yearly, before prohibition, he claimed that the problem of transportation alone would prevent such great consumption today.

He demanded:

"Deport every unnaturalized lawbreaker. Enforce prohibition. Educate to prohibition through the newspapers, the pulpit, the radio and the movies.

"The Wickersham report knocked wet newspapers into a cocked hat; it was a signal victory for prohibition.

"I supported Hoover and spoke for him because he is dry. I don't meddle in politics, but I'll fight with my dying breath for prohibition."

Junk Warehouse Fire Loss $10,000

LANCASTER, Pa., April 13.—(AP.)—Fire believed by firemen to have started in a pile of rags on the second floor of a junk warehouse of the S. Dunie Sons Company, here last night, caused damage estimated by owners at $10,000. Firemen were hindered in fighting the blaze by dense smoke.

"Acidine Has No Equal For Indigestion and Gas"

"I have used ACIDINE for indigestion and gas pains and find that it has no equal. It is classed alone. Nothing can compare with it," says John D. Gates of Chicago, Ill.

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy food which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness. No other known remedy contains this combination to end acid stomach. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at your druggist. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath, vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

Studebaker is all set

No Mid-Year Model Changes

FREE WHEELING with positive gear control was introduced in The President and The Commander July 10, 1930. It was added to The Dictator Eight in September and to the Studebaker Six in January, 1931.

Today every Studebaker model has this greatest automotive advancement since the electric starter plus the utmost in chassis improvements and body refinements.

Therefore, in accordance with the recommendations of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, Studebaker has decided to introduce no new models before next winter.

No other make of car offers such a complete line of chassis and body types as does Studebaker. Here is the proof:

ROBBERS STAGE 9 HOLDUPS, CRACK SAFE OVER WEEK-END

2 AUTOS TAKEN FROM VICTIMS, ONE IN PARK

Burglars Take $1,000 in Downtown Candy Store; 2 Bandits Hold Up Shop

Nine holdups and a safe robbery reported over the week-end were being investigated by city detectives today.

An armed thug leaped upon the running board of an automobile driven by Harry Weisberg, of 1000 Fifth avenue, at Murray avenue and Beacon street early today, and ordered him to drive to Leech Farm road, where he robbed his victim of $44 and a watch and drove off in his automobile. Weisberg walked to Washington boulevard and telephoned police.

DRIVER HELD UP IN PARK

Sam Silverman, of 534 Midland avenue, Midland, was held up by two armed bandits, who ordered him out of his parked automobile in Serpentine drive, Schenley Park, last night, according to a police report. Silverman was robbed of $75 and a watch. The thugs escaped in Silverman's automobile.

Safecrackers obtained more than $1,000 yesterday when they forced open the safe in the MacDonald candy store, 535 Liberty avenue. The yeggs, who jimmied a window in a rear alley, left their tools in the store.

STORE HELD UP

Meyer Shuklansky, of 2488 Wylie avenue, was robbed of $194 by an armed Negro in front of his home yesterday, he reported to police.

A P. H. Butler store, at 6100 St. Marie street, was held up Saturday night by two bandits who rifled the cash register of $20 after threatening Sara Boyd, a clerk, with revolvers.

Held up by two thugs at Liberty avenue and Twenty-first street early yesterday, Joseph Wise, of 2941 Penn avenue, was robbed of his watch.

52. Weronka died in his home, at 2118 Mulberry way.

Four automobiles figured in a collision this morning on Bigelow boulevard at Kirkpatrick street. Mrs. Gertrude Schwartz, of 955 Flemmington avenue, riding with her husband, M. S. Schwartz, was the only person injured. She was taken to the West Penn Hospital. Police arrested the four drivers, Schwartz, Harry H. Thiel, of 1700 Mansfield avenue, Crafton; J. J. Quillan, 49, of Warwick, O., and L. A. Randall, 27, of Youngstown, O.

Alice Kelly, 7, of 517 Lockhart street, was cut and bruised when she ran against the side of an automobile in Sandusky street at Erie street, last night. Walter L. Beuson, of 730 Bellaire avenue, was driving the machine, police say.

MOTHER, CHILDREN HURT

A mother and two children were in the Braddock General Hospital today with injuries received when an automobile in which they were passengers collided with another machine on the Pitcairn-Trafford road. The injured are Mrs. Barbara Kulman, 42, of 1009 Braddock avenue, and her son, Frank, 11, and a daughter, Elizabeth, 12. The three were passengers in the car of John Kuhn, of Braddock.

Mrs. Elaine Shields, 21, of Freeport, was cut and bruised this morning when her husband's automobile collided with the car of Leon Schecter, 23, of 715 Chislett street, at Bennett and Collier streets.

FACES HIT-RUN CHARGE

McKeesport police are holding William K. Biddle, 25, of Elizabeth, who they allege drove away after his machine struck and injured Casmeria Bigaro, 65, of McKeesport, Saturday night. The McKeesport officers also held Mark Naylor, 61, of 806 Latrobe avenue, Port Vue, and Matt Blaskovich, 38, of 727 Archer avenue, McKeesport, both charged with driving while intoxicated.

Charles A. Hawthorne, 22, of Boston, was arrested this morning after his automobile hit a fence along East Ohio street near the Thirtieth Street Bridge. He was charged with violating the automobile laws after City Physician W. H. Evans pronounced him intoxicated.

Frank Sharock, 23, of Homestead, was cut on the face when the machine in which he was a passenger struck a parked automobile in Carson street at Fifteenth street, this morning. Louis Thomas, 32, of 528 Locust street, driver of the car, was arrested.

Washington Bridge Closed for 2 Weeks

The Washington foot bridge over the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, near the station, will be closed for a period of two weeks according to Public Works Director Edward G. Lang. A new walk will be constructed to connect with the tunnel under Bigelow boulevard.

Victim of Fall Dies in Hospital

William J. Flood, former police chief of Bridgeville, and four other residents of the borough are being held pending hearings today before the United States commissioner on charges of violating the prohibition laws. Flood and Jack Defango, George Dudley, Joseph Martin and Samuel Miller were arrested early Sunday.

According to prohibition agents, the arrests were made as a result of raids on barbecues on the Bower Hill road. The report stated that federal agents stopped at a barbecue, arranged for the purchase of 20 gallons of moonshine, which was delivered to them later in the rear of a club in Bridgeville.

Man Badly Injured In Fall Down Stairs

Injured seriously when he fell down a flight of stairs in his home early today, Abe Swartz, 48, of 6621 Frankstown avenue, was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. The accident occurred when Swartz stepped into a dark hallway. At the hospital it was said he had suffered probable internal injuries.

CITY, BOROUGHS BUSY FIGHTING BRUSH FIRES

Large Areas of Fields, Woods Burn in District; Blaze In Homestead Routs 3

City firemen and volunteer departments in nearby boroughs were kept busy yesterday entinguishing scores of brush fires. Little damage was caused by the flames, which burned over large acres of woods and fields.

Both city companies and volunteers from Ingram fought two fires near Prospect avenue at the intersection of the city and borough. Two fire companies from the city extinguished a blaze and later the borough companies were called out.

A large frame barn on an untenanted farm along the McNeely road, Mt. Lebanon, was destroyed by fire early today. Firemen were handicapped by lack of water. Nearby buildings were saved by chemicals.

FLAMES ROUT FAMILY

Forest Hills firemen extinguished a stubborn grass fire along the Bevington road last night. Coraopolis firemen were called out twice for brush fires along Montour avenue yesterday.

Fire of undetermined origin damaged the roof of an Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store at Washington and Bower Hill roads, Mt. Lebanon, this morning. Fire Chief James E. Woods said damage was $500.

Three persons escaped when fire was discovered in the home of John Lectric, 438 Fourth street, Homestead, yesterday morning. Lectric, his wife and a daughter, asleep on the second floor, were forced out by smoke. Fire Capt. W. Varley said damage was $300.

BLAZE INVESTIGATED

Cheswick police and firemen are investigating a blaze which damaged the two-story frame dwelling of James Huchnutz at Acmetonia yesterday. The fire was discovered during the absence of the family. Firemen said a quantity of fluid resembling kerosene was found in an upstairs room.

A two-story brick apartment house at 2824 Broadway avenue, Dormont, was badly damaged by fire late Saturday night. The cause of the fire is undetermined. Police estimated damage at $2,000.

The two-story frame residence of Paul Hart, 806 Idlewood avenue, was damaged by fire early today. The blaze originated from an undertermined cause during the absence of the family, causing damage estimated at $500.

SEEK SUSPECT IN SHOOTING

Ambridge police today were seeking a suspect for questioning in connection with a fight in a lunch room at First street and Park road, Ambridge, late yesterday, in which Arthur Moore, 35, of 447 Franklin street, Aliquippa, was shot in the jaw.

Prowler Suspect Captured by Police

Answering a call from two residents of Jancey street who complained of a prowler near their homes, East End police early today arrested R. C. Holiday, 34, of 134 Thirty-fourth street. Holiday, who, according to police, was loiteri near the two houses, was lodged in the police station on a suspicious person charge. He told police he was lost.

Blessing for Russian-Greek Easter Celebration

RUSSIANS HERE MARK EASTER

With baskets filled with meat and bread, Russian Orthodox Greek Catholics flocked to their churches at midnight Saturday to receive blessings for their daily food. Resurrection was celebrated. The Russian Easter, which started Friday with special services, continued yesterday with high mass, and will end tomorrow.

Pittsburgh has three Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Churches. One of the largest is the St. Peter and Paul Church, 2105 Sidney street, South Side, with the Rev. Joseph Hunchak as the pastor.

BUDAPEST, April 12.—(AP.)—The Rev. Dr. Michael K. Mosko, 62, famous Orientalist and Talmudist, died here yesterday.

SORORITY WILL APPEAL BAN

Plans to appeal the action of the national officers in withdrawing the charter of the University of Pittsburgh chapter of Pi Beta Phi, national women's sorority, were discussed yesterday at a meeting of the chapter in its rooms, 513 Neville street.

Miss Florence Schneider, head of the chapter, said an appeal would be made to the national convention in June. Active and alumnae members of the Pitt chapter and members of the Pittsburgh alumnae group from other chapters were represented at yesterday's meeting.

The only reason volunteered for cancellation of the charter was that the Pitt group did not measure up to fraternity standards.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Bebe Falvo

Add radio doughboys: Roy Atwell, of Broadway, whose humor brightens the WJAS wave at 8:30 tonight . . . Roy scrambles the King's English into queer shapes in an effort to express himself. . . . Lauri-Volpi celebrated tenor of the Metropolitan, wanted to be a lawyer . . . hear him sing Handel's sonorous "Largo" and the German favorite "Ich Liebe Dich" (I Love You) on WJAS at 8:30 . . . . Harold Arlen, the man who composed "One Love" and "If He Really Loves Me," appears as guest artist with the Bakers, WJAS at 9 . . . . After many postponements the Real Folks present their version of "Rigoletto" on KDKA at 9:30 . . . . don't miss it . . . Bebe Falvo, leaving for WTAM tomorrow, says au revoir on WCAE at 7 tonight

Hear Stuttgart, Germany, on KOA's wave this morning?

"Riggs and Moke," of WCAE—home after a successful audition at CBS—entertain at a banquet in the Schenley Hotel tonight.

Kenneth Holley, blind, of Railroad street, Jeannette, was surprised to hear his name mentioned by "Miss Elsie" (KDKA) on his tenth birthday. In appreciation Kenneth wrote her a letter in Braille which "Miss Elsie" prizes most of her radio possessions.

QUESTION A DAY:

Now tell us the truth, aren't "Al and Pete" and "Sisters of the Skillet" the same people?—Vivian D., Uniontown.

STUDIO LIGHTS

Why do gangsters bury their slain in $24,000 caskets? Charles Francis Coe said last night it was a warning to police that the underwold has plenty of money and "money in the underworld rules everything, even the taking of life." Coe is a courageous man.

Gypsy Carter registered food for thought when she said: "If you can fancy a fact why can't you fact a fancy?"

Mary and Bob move bag and baggage to NBC studios on or about July 6.

Maurice Chevalier said he couldn't sing "When I Take My Sugar to Tea" because the program was sponsored by a coffee manufacturer. He countered with a few verses of "You're the Cream in My Coffee."

Tom Noonan (God bless him!) was as bright in the living room yesterday as the sun was outside. This KQV feature has more human interest than any program on the air.

At the Don Woodwards (KDKA operator) it's a girl! Helen Elizabeth, eight pounds, and her mother are doing fine, thanx!

Mexico's President On WOR Tuesday

Debunking of ghosts is the weird offering of WEAF tomorrow night at 11.

"Nocturne" (which we have recommended frequently as a prize program) becomes a Columbia network feature Friday midnight.

WOR is to carry an address by President Ortiz Rubio, of Mexico, from Mexico City tomorrow night.

Boost the Musicians' Show in Syria Mosque Wednesday night!

Plans to relay the Pirate game from Chicago went phooey this morning . . . excessive cost of $1,090 for three hours was the reason . . . only ball game available to Pittsburgh fans on the radio tomorrow is the 2:45 description of Chicago-Cleveland on WTAM. Tom Manning at the mike.

A mean combination!—the Merry Madcaps do a revised version of "Tiger Rag" (WTIC at 11:05 tonight).

The LOUDSPEAKER

—By LOUIS REID—

NEW YORK, April 13.—The panting of American listeners to loudspeakers to catch the accents of British political and literary bigwigs has finally ceased, and the radio ringmasters are again concentrating on the limitless opportunities awaiting them at their own doorsteps.

Spectacular opportunities, too, for the most part, requiring alertness, a good sense of news, initiative, and a determination to record them for the eardrums no matter what the cost. Of course, British speech is still available for those who want it, like rice pudding on a restaurant menu, but it no longer is the breath-taking event in the broadcasters' lives.

The novelty of the foreign broadcast has worn off, though there are voices yet to be aired which would gain a country-wide ear-cupping were they to address us tomorrow. Radio men now are aware that the vast panorama of the American scene offers them untold possibilities for maintaining the glamorous prestige of the microphone.

* * *

Within a period of two days the broadcasters, to show they are on the job keep radio from the ruts of routine, set up their apparatus not only in New York's Madison Square Garden to relay the thrills of the circus but in distant Lamar, Col., to bring to listeners the voices of those "children of the storm," the survivors of the blizzard which struck this school bus and isolated them for 36 hours.

Add to the news drama in the front parlors they led the victorious Cermak, of Chicago, to the microphones for a message not only to his city but to the whole nation—a message actually assuring listeners (possible visitors to the World's Fair) that "the days of sharpshooters are over in the city on Lake Michigan."

For human interest of an unusually vivid quality the broadcast of the blizzard survivors has rarely been surpassed. The story from the lips of the heroic young Bryan Untiedt made the experience of the school children in the stalled bus even more graphic than they seemed in type. It is such broadcasts as these that make radio such a vital medium of communication. And they reflect great credit upon the enterprise of the microphone men who made them possible.

Persuasive fellows, the broadcasters. They were able to convince the circus people that the microphone conveying a part of the show, the most dramatic part of the show to be exact, would not only not injure the box office but might result in longer lines at the ticket windows.

It represented the first time that a real circus performance had been given to the radio, though there are and have been several attempts on the air, most of them futile, to reproduce the circus atmosphere.

The circus provided a test for the announcer. A battle of wits between a man and a cageful of tigers has its taut moments in description. It can be told. But a tight-wire balancing act would defy the most gifted of story-tellers. You have to see a somersault on a tight wire to appreciate it.

Columbia recently broadcast, exclusively, the funeral services for Knute Rockne, though the word "funeral" was not stressed in the announcements. NBC turned down the opportunity, executives declaring that it is against the policy of the company to broadcast funerals save, perhaps, on some special state occasion. The passing of no figure in America, since the death of ex-President Taft, occasioned such a vast amount of newspaper space as that of Rockne. It seemed only logical that it be reflected on the radio.

SILVER FOXES

New Shipment!

$75

Large, full skins—soft, fluffy, full bodied. With natural claws and paws, large tail. Last year this quality was $145!

This event should appeal not only to women who recognize the fashion importance of fox scarfs—but also those who have long coveted these lovely furs, and found the price hitherto prohibitive.

POPE BLESSES CHARITIES

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Cardinal Hayes made public a letter from Pope Pius XI in which the Pope gave his apostolic blessing to the Catholic charities, an organization of 200 social agencies that carries on relief work in the archdiocese of New York.

The letter, the cardinal said, is the first of its kind ever received in America. It is signed by the Pope himself.

Cardinal Hayes declared the pontifical letter to be of great significance because it puts the church officially in support of charitable work carried on according to the most modern principles of sociology, economics and medicine.

Veteran of Commons Feted at Age of 75

LONDON, April 13.—(AP.)—Sir James Sextin, easily the most picturesque character in the present House of Commons, received the heartiest congratulations of his hosts of friends today upon attaining the age of 75.

Sir James, who is known as the "Dockers' M. P.," was the son of poor Irish parents. He ran away to sea on an American sailing vessel when 13 and rose to high prominence in the British labor world. He was knighted last January.

The exhibits are to acquaint the parents of the students and others interested in pharmaceutical practice with the workings of the school.

Banana - Ripening Building Planned

A building devoted exclusively to the storage of bananas during the ripening period will be constructed at Smallman and Twenty-first streets by the Pennsylvania Railroad. It will be a substantial brick structure. Bids will be received by the chief engineer for the Pennsylvania, at Pittsburgh, up to April 21.

RARE OPERATION HELD SUCCESS

Louis Singer, 13-year-old Coraopolis student, is one the road to recovery in the Ohio Valley Hospital today following an operation of which there have been few in the history of medical science.

A membraneous sack developed about the boy's heart, and collected a quantity of blood, which seriously interfered with the organ's function. A McKees Rocks physician, who prefers to have his name withheld, performed the operation which drained more than a quart of blood from the sack about the heart. Three ribs were removed in order to reach the heart.

Hospital attaches reported that the patient was gaining steadily following the operation, but would be kept for observation. They said that the operation was the first to have been performed in this vicinity, and one of the very few on record.

CROCHET AND STRAW COMBINED MAKES LOVELY HAT PATTERNS

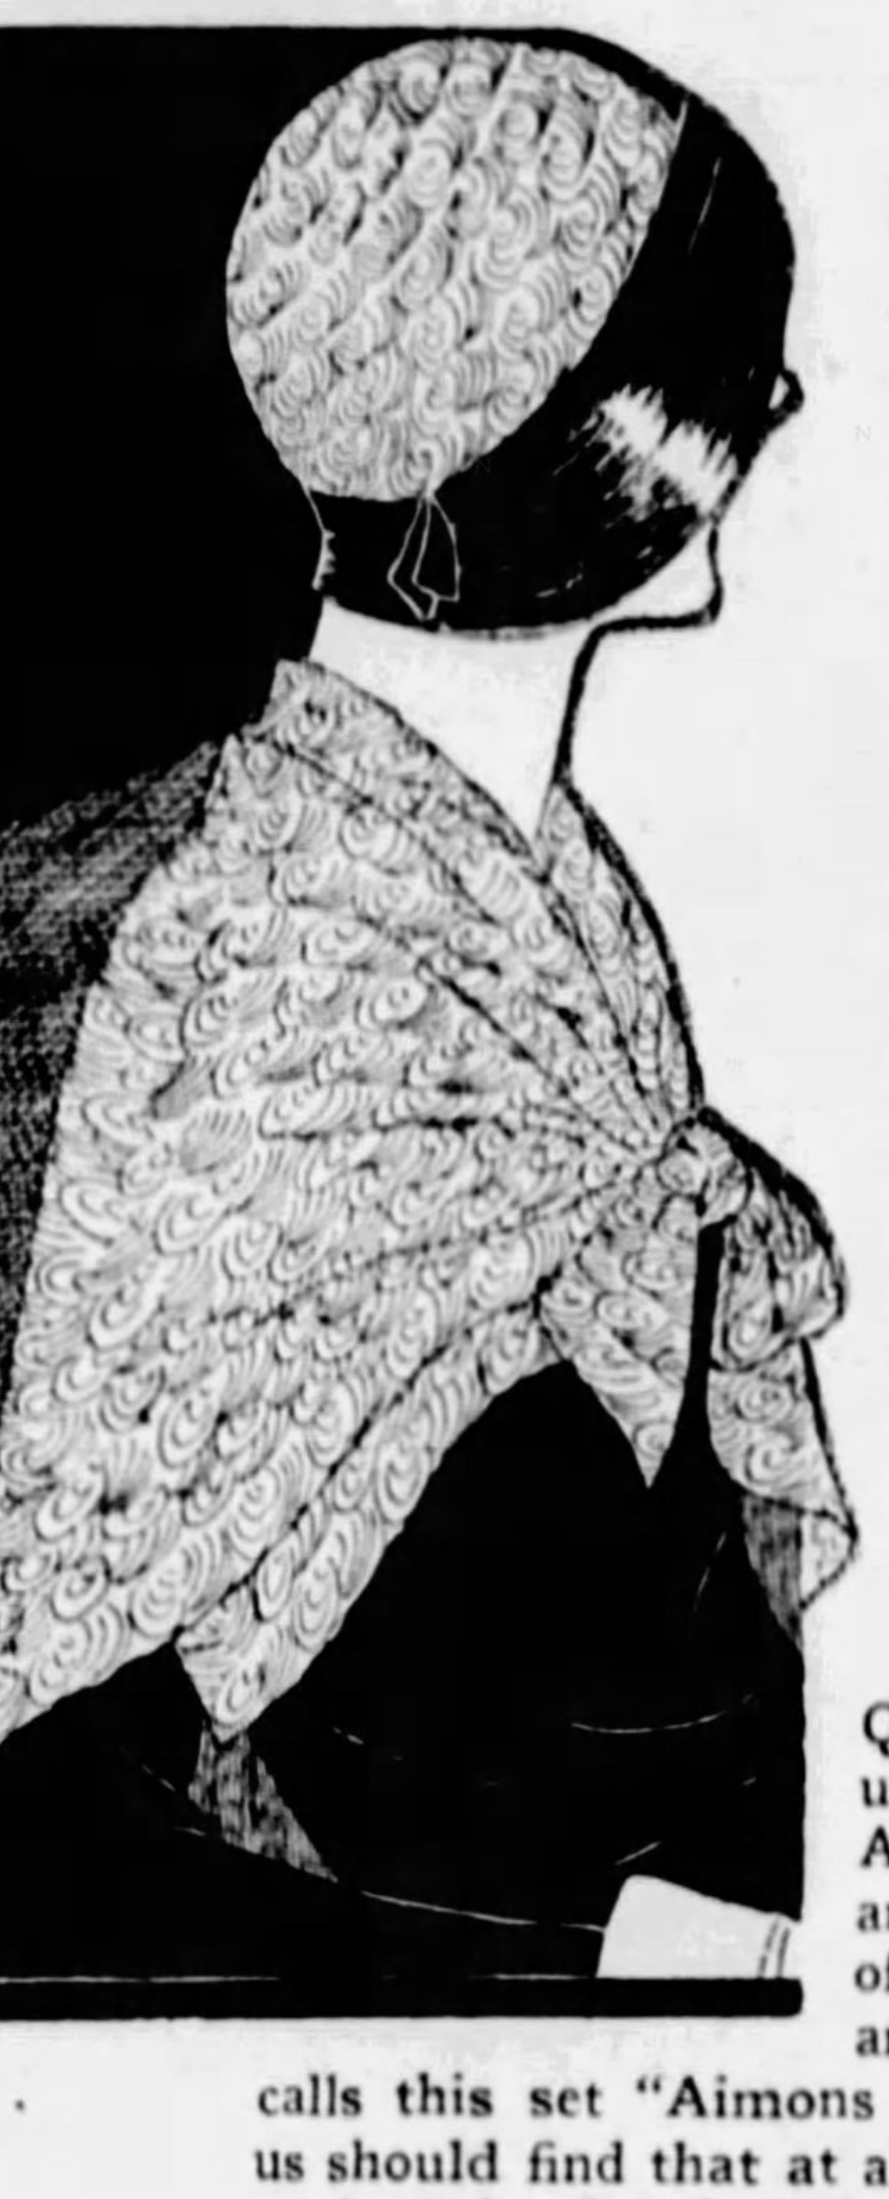
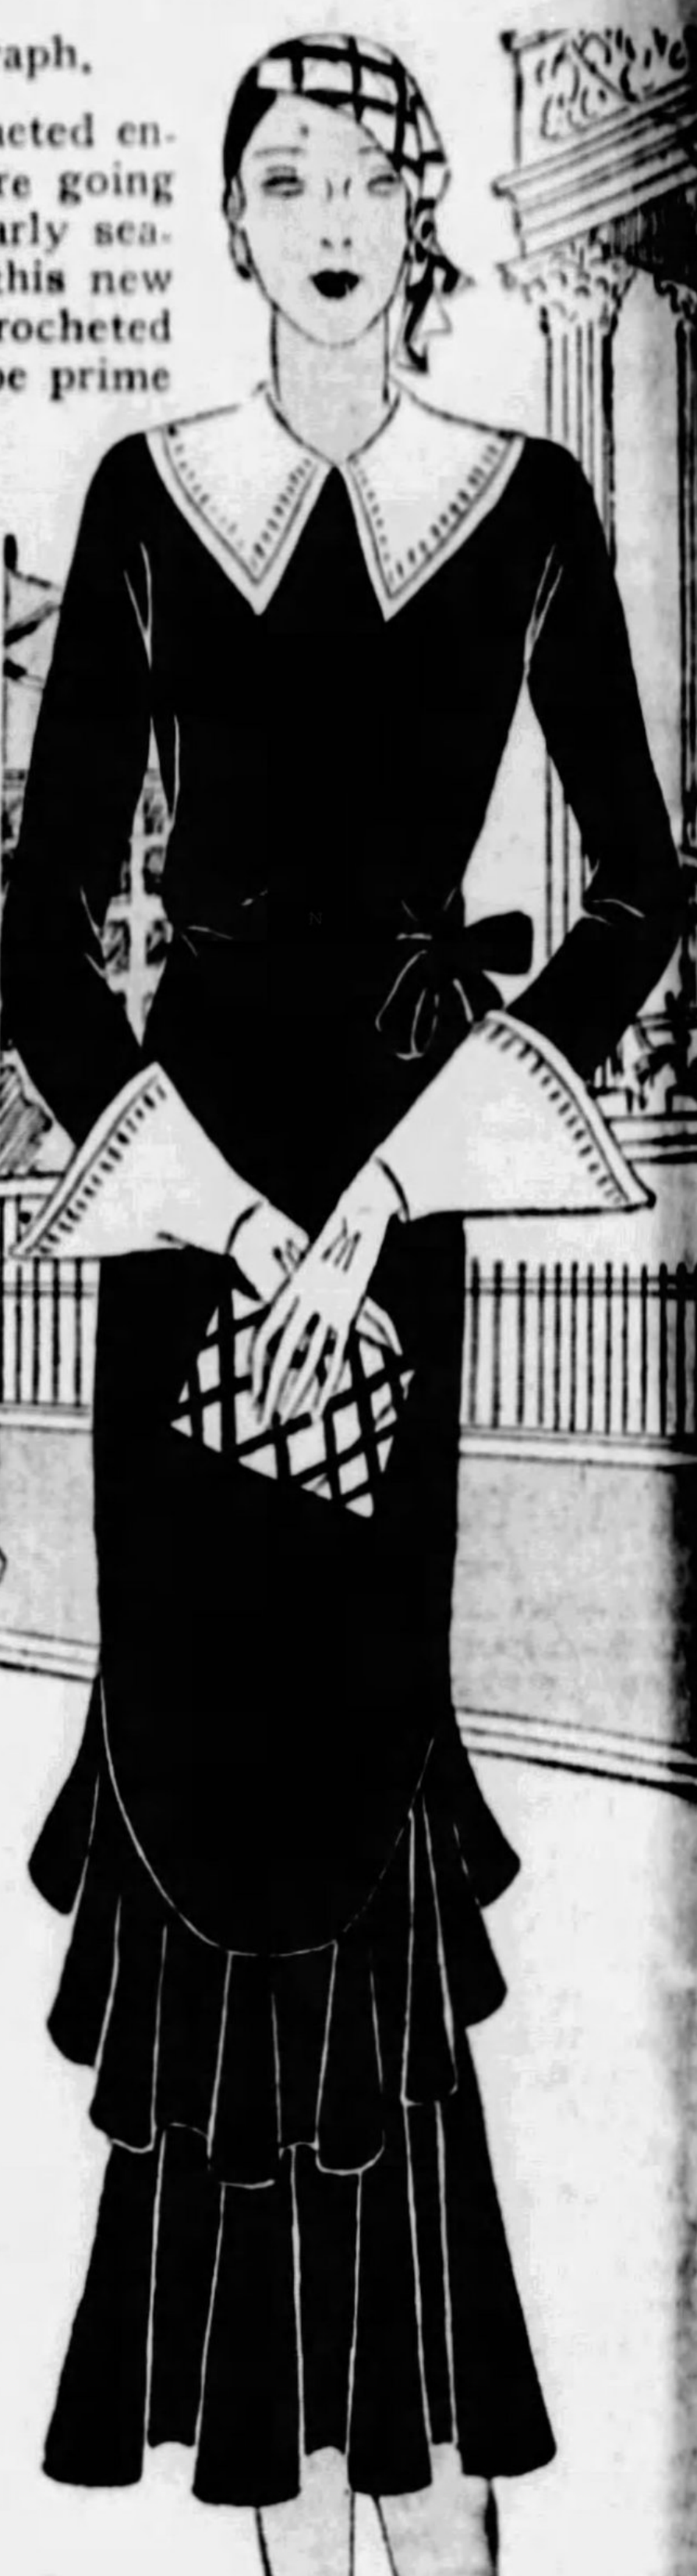
Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.





PARIS, April 13.—See to it that you get your crocheted ensemble done in the best Agnes manner, otherwise you are going to be awfully crochety this spring. It is rare that the early season gives forth so engaging and yet useful a novelty as this new fashion. Silk or linen twist is used by skilled hands and crocheted into lovely patterns, of which the shell pattern seems to be prime favorite. The combination of crochet and straw is really a stroke of genius and has to be seen to be really appreciated. It creates a hat that can be worn for and with almost anything and is a new note in the black and white scale. It is a fashion that can be worn by almost every woman with complete assurance of satisfaction and success. And with the addition of the kerchief scarf one has a set that can set itself to the task of "making" even the simplest frock. We imagine that these sets will be in their glory during summer afternoons, as this is a logical summer fashion.

SO MANY REQUESTS have reached us for other sketches of Agnes' novelty that we are sending a drawing of her latest crochet and straw version. She calls this set "Aimons Nous" and none of us should find that at all difficult. Most of us love it already. Crochet in Irish linen twist worked into a shell pattern makes the crown. The hat brim and narrow band encircling the base of the crown are done in black picot straw. At the left side, in front, the brim is caught up by the band which passes over it and holds it back.

THE YOUTHFUL FROCK is by Martial et Armand, and is of navy blue crepe de chine with white handkerchief linen used for the wide collar and cuffs, which are hemstitched.

THE DRESS is in two parts, the bodice and upper skirt constituting a long tunic, the second part being the circular underskirt. The tunic rounds up at the side and like an apron, ties in back with a sash-bow. A circular flounce edges the tunic of this good-looking and most wearable dress.

MEET TO BOOST JOB INSURANCE

A mass meeting in support of the Hoopes bill for unemployment insurance, now pending in Harrisburg, will be held here May 3 by the Unemployment Indemnity Conference, representing labor unions, fraternal organizations and branches of the Socialist party.

The organization has voiced its disapproval of the "Pittsburgh Plan" as a means for solving the unemployment problem. The group has stated its belief that only a form of unemployment insurance will effectually solve the problem.

Hotel Guests Flee Atlantic City Fire

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 13.—(AP.)—Hundreds of guests were driven from boardwalk hotels, seven firemen were overcome by smoke and two were injured in a $150,000 fire which broke out on a runway leading to a bathhouse. All apparatus in the central section of the city responded to a general alarm. After a long battle the flames were controlled.

SEA TRAVELERS ARRIVE HOME

NEW YORK, April 13.—A number of Pittsburghers returned from a 10-day cruise on the Cameronia to Bermuda.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Klee, Mrs. W. D. George, Miss Rebekah W. George, Miss Elizabeth George, Miss Emily S. Stuart, Miss Grace Wagner, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss L. M. Burke, Miss L. L. Muller, Miss E. A. Snyder, Mrs. Frank Mesta, Miss Rose Mesta and J. H. Kierman.

The cruise ship Transylvania brought in Mrs. Herman Anderson and the Misses Mary McNally, Margaret McGrath and Inez McGrath, of Pitsburgh, who were in Bermuda.

Coming in the Caledonia from a cruise in Havana and Nassau were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Jean C. Clements, Miss Lucy Dillman, Miss Ann Moore and Miss Margaret Wohl.

Playwright's Mother, Duncan Friend, Dies

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Madame Marie Desti, who gave to Isadora Duncan the shawl which caused her death, died yesterday. Madame Desti, intimate friend and biographer of the famous dancer, took the gift to her in Paris in 1927. While Duncan was wearing it on an automobile drive it caught in the wheels of her car and caused her death.

Madage Desti, who had been ill for several weeks, was the mother of Preston Sturges, playwright.

CUTS SILK HOSE BILLS IN TWO

A New York fashion expert has found a simple, easy method to double the wear of silk hose and undergarments. These articles, worn next to the skin, wear out doubly fast because of the perspiration and other body excretions which soften and rot the silk.

This expert found that soap and water were inadequate for washing such articles. She recommends when washing silks to add a tablespoonful of Energine to every quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Wash and rinse as usual. This method not only cleans thoroughly and quickly but makes silks like new with revived colors and pleasing freshness. With Energine the results over soap and water alone will amaze you. It means longer life—real economy.

Energine is unexcelled also for quickly removing all dirt and grease spots from dresses, hats, gloves and ties. Large can 35 cents at any drug store.

north, the Marshal would be able to restore the situation in front of Hazebrouck, provided:

1. That the enemy be held by a minimum of forces in the first line.

2. That he be definitely stopped on the line Mount Kemmel-Bailleul-Nieppe Forest-Valley of the Clarence-Mount Bernenchon-Hinges.

3. That the troops be supported by a systematic organization of the artillery defense, directed more particularly against the flanks of the attack.

Reserves Included

However, in calculating the number of units which would be at Marshal Haig's disposal on the Lys, I had included the British divisions which had been held in reserve in the Arras region; this made it necessary to entrust the defense of this region, in case it was attacked, to the French reserves. I was, therefore, led to move the Tenth French Army up to the line Doullens-Vauchelles, which it reached on April 13, thus passing into the British zone.

Gen. Petain, on his side, moved the Fifth Army further north, abreast of Amiens. This army was reinforced by taking troops from the group of reserve armies, as no offensive task was contemplated for it at the moment.

He also moved to the westward the Oise group, composed of two divisions, a part of which proceeded to the right bank of that river. He also dispatched the I Cavalry Corps from Les Andeleys toward Aumale.

Gen. Fayolle was requested to immediately articulate the reserves on his left wing in such a manner as would best enable them, in case of need, to support the Fourth British Army in the Luce-Somme sector.

Finally, Gen. Maistre, commanding the French Tenth Army, was given instructions regarding his mission on the Arras front.

While making these general arrangements in preparation for the possible intervention of the French divisions between Arras and the Somme, my intention was to also give as much support as possible to the British Commander-in-Chief, beset as he was by the material and moral difficulties of the Flanders battle. On the 12th, I decided to increase the direct support which two days before I had already started to furnish him.

Defend Vital Position

To carry out this intention I ordered the II Cavalry Corps, which was in reserve in the Aumale region, to march to Saint-Omer, reaching that place on the 13th and then holding itself in readiness to co-operate with the French 133rd Division as a reinforcement for the Second British Army.

Gen. Robillot, commanding the corps, came to Sarcus (1) to receive my instructions. While indicating his mission in the general framework of the battle, I laid particular stress on the duty devolving upon him of ensuring the liaison between the First and Second British armies.

Up to this time the British reserves, thrown into action at the most threatened points, had been put into line between La Bassee Canal and the Lille-Hazebrouck Railway, that is to say, on the southern flank of the breach.

It was now necessary to secure the northern flank, which was of the utmost importance to us; for if the enemy succeeded in capturing the Monts de Flandres and Mount Cassel, he would threaten the Allied troops established between Ypres and the sea. The defense of this flank was entrusted to Gen. Plumer's British Second Army, and it was necessary to furnish it with means adequate to the task.

With this object in view, I sent up the 133rd Division and Second French Cavalry Corps; but as this help might soon become insufficient, I requested Gen. Petain to make preparations for moving to the north another French division, taken if need be from units in course of reconstruction. The 28th Division was selected.

I also requested the Chief of Staff of the Belgian Army to place at Gen. Plumer's disposal all the Belgian units which were not absolutely necessary to hold his front. Unfortunately, the Belgian high command, for constitutional rather than military reasons, was not able to accede to this request.

Defense Causes Concern

Finally, I sent Col. Destricker, my assistant chief of staff, to convey instruction to Gen. Plumer at Cassel, co-ordinate the action of the French units that had been moved north and insure the execution of my orders.

The defense of the southern side of the breach being assured and that of the northern side well on the way to improvement, the next question was to organize the resistance of the center.

On the afternoon of the 13th, I went to Rechicourt, headquarters of the British First Army, and discussed with Gen. Horne the measures taken and to be taken to hold up the German advance in the direction of Hazebrouck and protect the Bethune mining district. On the following day, in a note addressed to Col. Desticker, I insisted that the defense of Hazebrouck be made "as near as possible to the eastern edge of the Nippe forest."

In the presence of my cautious attitude, the British staff was much preoccupied by the following question:

"Supposing we are again driven back," they asked, "which base will you cover? Are you going to protect Paris and France before everything else and thereby abandon the defense of the Channel ports, the bases of the British Army? Or will you, in order to cover the Channel ports, sacrifice the protection of Paris?"

My answer was this:

"I do not intend to abandon or to uncover in any way either the road to Paris or the road to the ports; the first is indispensable to the French Army, the second to the British Army and also to the safety of the Belgian Army."

"All very well," they replied, "but suppose you are forced to concentrate your forces in one or the other of these two divergent directions, which one will you sacrifice?"

I replied, "I count on sacrificing neither one nor the other direction, neither that of the ports nor that of Paris. If either is lost, our men and our resources would be reduced by half. I am striving to save both, and I shall do my utmost to succeed. The thing seems to me possible, providing that we do not use up all our available troops to ward off the present attack, namely the one against the ports."

British Ask Relief

There was no denying that very great difficulties confronted us, through the danger of engaging the last remaining French troops on a portion of the British front, when other hostile enterprises were to be feared on other parts of the line.

In the course of a meeting on the morning of the 14th at Abbeville, at which Lord Milner was present, Field Marshal Haig reverted once more to the exhausted state of the British Army and the poverty of reinforcements. He again asked that the French relieve the British on a portion of their front.

In reply I could only limit myself to repeating the arguments against this course: To relieve units while the battle was in progress would immobilize both the relieving troops and those relieved during the time required for the operation, and this at the very moment when the Allied reserves were scarcely sufficient to man the whole front.

Furthermore, since a powerful German attack on some other part of the front might readily take place, we would be making a very bad use of the French reserves still available if we definitely condemned them to a more or less passive role. At present they were distributed and oriented so as to be able to intervene actively and powerfully at any point which the vast battle might disclose as dangerous.

Nor could I as yet, in spite of the Marshal's request, move the French 10th Army up to the line Bethune-Lillers and bring the 5th Army up behind it. It would have been dangerous to strip the Artois region; and, besides, it seemed that for the moment he had enough forces in Flanders.

However, being anxious to support the British commander-in-chief, I made arrangements to shorten the time required for the French to intervene in the north, if this became necessary.

After a respite of two days, during which the enemy's efforts were appreciably relaxed, he renewed the attack in a new direction. He had doubtless seen that by continuing his advance west without having first captured the line of the Flanders hills, he would be exposing his right flank to serious risk.

He therefore decided to attack that line before pursuing his march on Hazebrouck and Dunkirk.

On the evening of April 15th, therefore, he launched heavy attacks in a northerly direction against the 2nd British Army, and succeeded in capturing Bailleul and Wulverghem.

THREATS BRING GUARD FOR RICH

CHICAGO, April 13.—(AP.)—The author of letters sent to wealthy Chicagoans, threatening violence unless each paid $50,000, was sought today by police and postal authorities, although some of the "intended victims" were convinced the missives were written by a harmless crank.

Receipt of the letters, which asked the prospective "victims" to mail checks to East Chicago, Ind., and which warned of machine gun attacks, acid torture and kidnaping, prompted authorities to increase their guards at the homes of those involved. Plainclothesmen were also stationed at fashionable churches.

Among the recipients of the letters was H. Godfrey Haggard, the British consul in Chicago. His name was the only one made public by the authorities, but the Chicago Tribune said that others to be threatened included Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour, Col. A. A. Sprague and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

WOUNDED TOKIO PREMIER QUITS

TOKIO, April 13.—(AP.)—Disabled as the result of a shot fired last November 14 by a young assassin, Yuko Hamaguchi resigned today as premier of Japan and presented the resignations of his entire cabinet.

The appointment of Reijiro Wakatsuki, former premier, as successor to Hamaguchi was regarded as a foregone conclusion, and it was expected Wakatsuki would retain most of the Hamaguchi cabinet.

The Hamaguchi administration, which lasted less than two years, weathered many storms growing out of its acceptance of the London naval treaty, and the attempt upon the premier's life was attributed to dissatisfaction among patriotic extremists with Japan's position regarding the arms-limitation agreement.

Mexican President 33d-Degree Mason

MEXICO CITY, April 13.—(AP.)—The rank of thirty-third degree Mason was conferred upon President Pascual Ortiz Rubio in a ceremony at Chapultepec Castle last night. American and Mexican Masons were present.

KIDNAPING LAID TO BURKE GANG

CHICAGO, April 13.—(INS.)—Search for the kidnapers holding Fred J. Blumer for $150,000 ransom centered here today, following police information that the gang was composed of the remnants of Fred (Killer) Burke's mob, aligned with Martin O'Leary, Chicago outlaw.

The new lead resulted in preparations for a series of raids throughout the city for the abductors and the missing Monroe (Wis.) brewer, kidnaped Thursday night.

At Monroe today there were indications that a definite development was near. One such indication was that the family, heretofore appreciative of official efforts in the search, suddenly requested local officials to discontinue their hunt. The request was made to both Sheriff Myron West and Police Chief Jerome H. Schwaiger, of Monroe. Thus, Chicago detectives alone are left in the case.

Lieut. William Cusack, sent to Monroe, said Mrs. Blumer and her daughter, Marion, 20, promised to co-operate with his men and to refrain from negotiating with the kidnapers.

CAFES HELD UP, 2 THUGS SLAIN

CHICAGO, April 13.—(INS.)—The second bandit foray on a "Gold Coast" night club in 24 hours occurred early today when a band of eight robbers swooped down on the Entreclub, terrorized a score of guests and fled with nearly $1,500 in cash and jewelry.

The bandits, armed with sawed-off shotguns and revolvers, beat an employe who was slow to obey their commands.

During an attempted holdup of the L'Aiglon restaurant yesterday, Frank Abler, a waiter, who was a machine gunner in the German army during the war, exchanged gunfire with bandits, slaying James Hursch, 34, and Charles E. Nelson, 26. Four hundred guests were terrorized by the fusillade.

Abler was in the basement when three of the holdup men entered the cafe, one remaining at the wheel of a car. The waiter loaded an automatic shotgun and gave battle, killing Hursch and Nelson and putting their companions to flight.

St. Hugh's Grave Believed Found

CHAROLLES, France, April 13.—(AP.)—An American archaeological mission unearthed in the region of Cluny today a sarcophagus which, it was said, once contained the remains of St. Hugh, famous abbot of the Cluny Monastery, who granted the city its charter in the year 1090.

THE VALUES OF THE MONTH

IT'S HERE!

Pittsburgh swept by golden flood of pure, tree-ripe orange juice! Thousands of tastes succumb to tropical pleasure! Milkmen delivering "National Dairy" Orange Juice daily—phone your order today!

What! Orange trees in Pittsburgh?

NATIONAL DAIRY PRODUCTS CORPORATION

PURE, tree-ripe orange juice is here! It is real orange juice — the same juice you would get if you stood in an orange grove and squeezed the oranges yourself!

This is the first time people outside the orange country have been privileged to taste this delicious juice—only a few hours from the trees! Taste its marvelous flavor once, then you'll realize—for the first time—how good orange juice can be.

The only oranges you are now able to buy are picked before they reach maturity. And it's only on the tree that an orange drinks up juice and sweetness from soft, tropical sunshine. It is remarkable how quickly oranges reach the market, but at best they are deprived of weeks of tree-ripening. The ultimate flavor comes only in these last weeks, when the fruit gets so heavy with juice it is almost ready to drop from the tree. Only Nature can ripen an orange to the peak of its delicate flavor!

Not a new drink!

Do not confuse "National Dairy" Orange Juice with the so-called bottled orange drinks. National Dairy, by utilization of the latest scientific principles and development of modern machinery, now brings you real orange juice! Nothing has been added. Nothing has been removed. Frozen by a scientifically developed quick-freeze process, the juice comes to you just as it leaves the oranges at the groves. This process holds all the delicate taste and healthful qualities in perfect suspense. If you served it to a guest from the orange country, he would not detect any difference. The explanation is simple—there is no difference!

When the oranges are completely tree-ripe and heavy with juice, they are picked. Less than 48 hours afterward, they are peeled and squeezed by specially designed machinery. (Peeled because the "cream juice" is nearest the sunshine — and we want you to have this in its full deliciousness. It is one of the delights of real orange juice!) Our oranges are hand-selected and perfect; even if the slightest soft spot is overlooked, patented machines detect it in peeling and discard that orange.

Four and one-half minutes after an orange is squeezed, the juice is frozen under vacuum in the most scientific and sanitary way.

"National Dairy" is the most convenient way to buy orange juice!

The whole family will find a new pleasure in this drink and health-food. Its high content of Vitamin C and healthful minerals is vitally important. So pure, in fact, so rich in vitamins is "National Dairy" Orange Juice that one of New York's leading hospitals feeds it to 65 babies every day.

"National Dairy" Orange Juice is vacuum-packed in convenient cartons. Pint size sells for 20 cents. You may also order it in half-pint size at 11 cents.

Regular delivery started Saturday. Left on the doorstep with the milk, you place the package in your refrigerator and within 24 hours it completely returns to liquid. So that you may enjoy it to the fullest, order "National Dairy" Orange Juice one day in advance. Be sure not to change the delicate flavor by intensive heat. After melting, it will keep in your refrigerator as long as fresh milk. Telephone your order today!

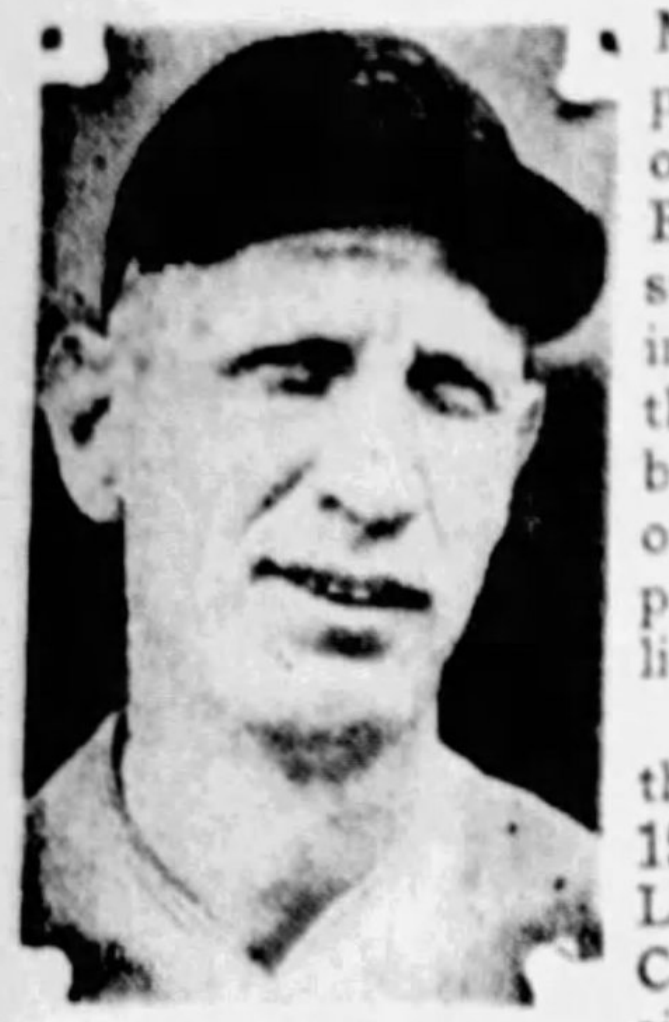
BUCS GOOD STARTERS IN LATE YEARS

IF THE OPENING-DAY performances of the Pittsburgh club in recent years could be trusted as a barometer, the chances might be said to favor a victory for the Pirates when Manager Jewel Ens sends them to the post in Chicago tomorrow for the hop-off in another pennant race. For the Buccaneers have ranked with the most successful starters in the major leagues in the last four seasons. In that period they won three out of four openers, each by one run. They were on the long end of the score in each of the last two campaigns and have not been defeated in a lid-lifter since 1928.



Jewel Ens

In 1927, the Freebooters grabbed the inaugural in Cincinnati, 2 to 1; in 1928 the took a 14-to-7 trimming in St. Louis; in 1929 they were victorious in Chicago, 4 to 3, and last year in Cincinnati they again got off on the right foot, 7 to 6. For a considerable stretch prior to that they were not so hot on the getaway, losing five out of six straight curtain-raisers, so that for the last 10 years their balance is on the wrong side—six defeats against four victories.

THE PIRATES STILL hold an edge in the opening day records for all time, however, as they prepare to begin Pittsburgh's forty-fifth year of membership in the National League. This applies both to openers played abroad and to inaugurals for the entire period. In six starting games at home they broke even, and on the road they have won 21 and lost 17, making their complete first-day record for 44 seasons in the league 24 triumphs against 20 reverses.

The Bucs have not started a season at home since 1893, as that would involve the loss of the first Sunday date of the year, or a jump by two clubs to another western city for a Sunday game and back again for the resumption of the series here on Monday. Starting in 1894, the locals have made their annual bow abroad, and tomorrow's appearance in Chicago will mark the thirty-eighth consecutive time they have played their opening game away from home.

TWO OF THE openers abroad were played in Louisville in the days of the 12-club circuit. Both resulted in defeats. Cincinnati is the only city in which the Corsairs have won more starters than they have lost.

Their record in Redland shows the big clean-up of 12 opening games won out of 16 played, and it is to their long string of successes in that city that they owe the margin they hold in first-day contests for their whole time in the league.

IN ST. LOUIS the Rovers have won seven openers and lost eight, and in Chicago they have won two and lost three. They did not start a season in the Windy City until 1917, and they lost on that occasion, 5 to 3. Again in 1919 the Cubs took them over in the inaugural, 5 to 1. In 1923, the Picaroons turned the tables on the Bruins, 3 to 2. In 1925 Chicago won for the third time, 8 to 2, and in 1929 the decision went to Pittsburgh, 4 to 3.

Freddie Lindstrom

ONE EXPERIMENT THAT will be watched with interest by National League followers from the time the pennant race gets under way tomorrow is the shift in the New York Giants' lineup whereby Freddie Lindstrom is being converted from a third baseman into a right fielder.

Rabbit Maranville and some other veteran players have pronounced this change harmful to the Giants' pennant chances, but there is no good reason why Lindstrom should not make good on his new job. Mel Ott, now playing center field for the same club, is a converted catcher. Tommy Leach became a star outfielder for the Pirates after shining at third base for years. Jake Stenzel and Elmer Smith, other old Buccaneer fly chasers, started as catcher and pitcher, respectively.

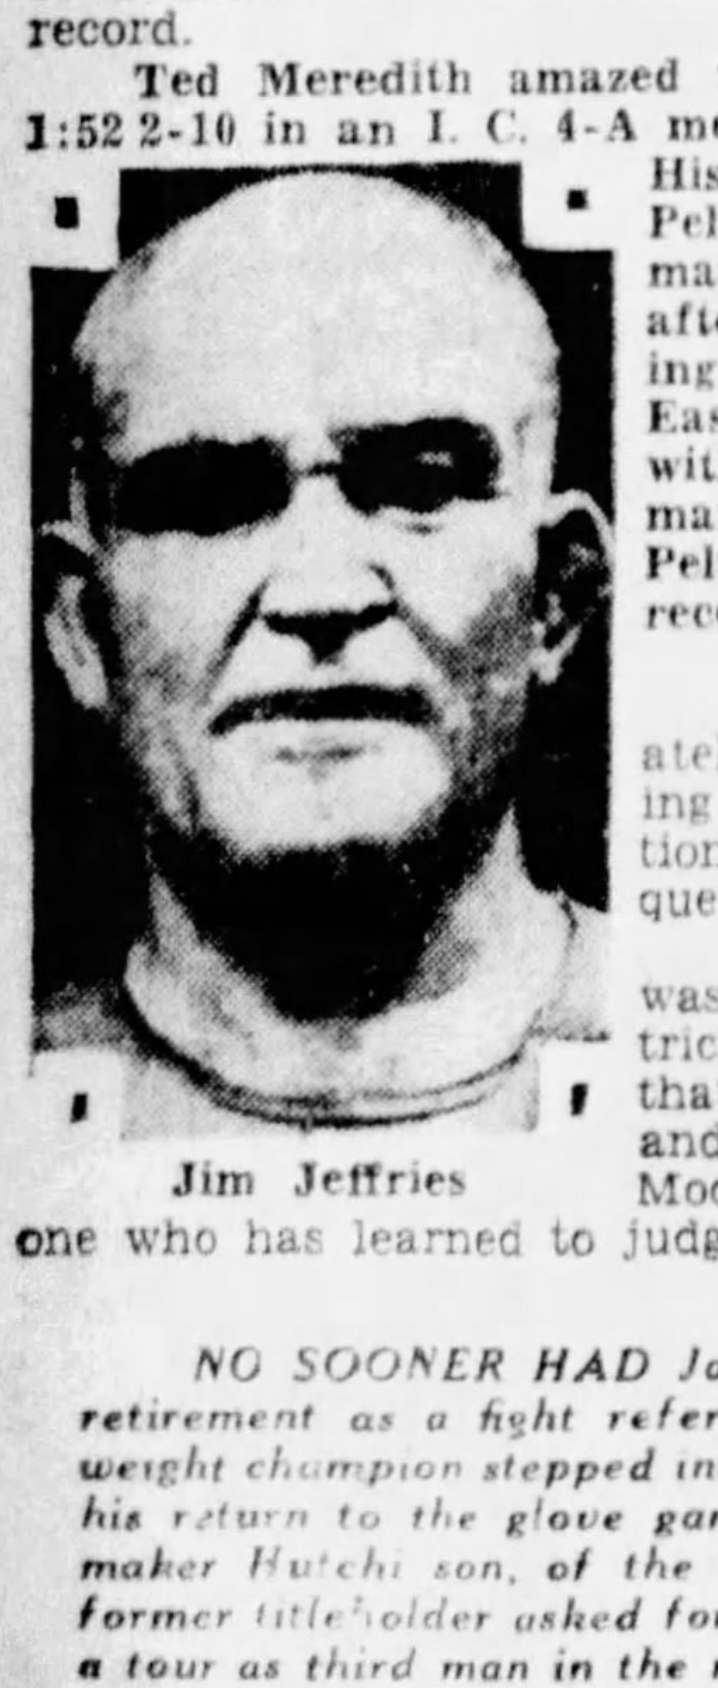
MANY OTHERS WHO started as pitchers became regular outfielders later. Babe Ruth, Bill Terry, Rube Bressler, Sam Rice, Smead Jolley, Goose Goslin, Bing Miller, Lefty O'Doul, Fred Schulte, Earl Webb are some of the present-day examples. Like Jess Burkett, Jimmy Callahan, George Van Haltren and many more in the past. George Burns, Fred Snodgrass, John Murray, Josh Devore and Hack Wilson were catchers.

And these were by no means the only successful shifts. Bobby Wallace began as a pitcher and became a great infielder. So did Johnny Ward and Kid Gleason. George Sisler also broke in as a hurler. Jimmy Foxx was a catcher and Don Hurst a flinger. Willie Keeler, though left-handed, started as a third baseman. Bob Meusel also began at the hot corner. Pitchers Bob Smith, Harry Seibold and Red Lucas were originally infielders.

THIS IS THE age of specialists in baseball, and players possessing such all-around skill as did some of the early stars are comparatively few. Starting as an outfielder, Honus Wagner played in every position for the Pirates except behind the bat, even taking a turn at pitching one day. Circus Solly Hofman played almost everywhere for the Cubs. Roger Bresnahan started as a pitcher, then played a fine game at third base, next became an outstanding catcher and later was converted into a center fielder. Buck Ewing, still rated the best catcher of all time, also played first and third bases and pitched several games in addition. King Kelly not only caught but played the outfield and third base. Ed Williamson was a neat catcher and outfielder in addition to being a star shortstop.

PROBABLY the best half mile ever run without the spur of competition has just been turned in on the coast by Ben Eastman, of Stanford, who covered the distance in practice in the remarkable time of 1 minute 52 4-10 seconds, less than a second behind the world record.

Ted Meredith amazed the sports realm in 1916 when he did 1:52 2-10 in an I. C. 4-A meet with keen competition inspiring him. His mark stood for 10 years until Dr. Otto Peltzer, of Germany, set the present world mark of 1:51 6-10 in 1926. Now, three days after an indoor meet in Seattle and following a 1,000-mile ride home over the rails, Eastman, in a mere practice run, comes within a fifth of a second of Meredith's old mark and within four-fifths of a second of Peltzer's. He surely looks to have world-record possibilities.



Jim Jeffries

THE BIG THING in tennis is accurately to judge the speed of the ball, according to Miss Mary K. Browne, former national star. Form and handling the racquet are minor considerations, she says.

Miss Browne points out that Bill Tilden was defeated by players who learned the trick of judging his speedy ball so accurately that his own speed was turned against him, and she predicts that Mrs. Helen Wills Moody will eventually be defeated by some one who has learned to judge her speed in a similar manner.

NO SOONER HAD Jack Dempsey announced his temporary retirement as a fight referee than another former world heavyweight champion stepped into replace him. Jim Jeffries announced his return to the glove game as an arbiter in a letter to Matchmaker Hutchinson, of the Garden City A. C. in San Jose. The former titleholder asked for a date there once said he was booking a tour as third man in the ring. Jeff had his first experience as a referee more than 25 years ago. After announcing his retirement as champion in 1905, he refereed the fight at Reno, Nev., on July 3, of that year, in which Marvin Hart knocked out Jack Root in the twelfth round, and "presented" his title to the winner.

RECORD ENTRY SEEKS MONEY AWARDS

The first annual duckpin tournament of the Greater Pittsburgh Bowling Alley Owners' Association got under way this afternoon promptly at 2 o'clock, on the Haus Alleys, North Side. The event, with a crack-a-jack and hefty entry list, bids fair to establish itself as the finest tourney ever sponsored in the tri-state district.

A total of more than $2,000 will be distributed in prize money. In all, there will be 81 awards, 25 in the singles, doubles and team events and six as special inducements.

One hundred five-men teams, some 75 doubles combinations and 175 individual entries will keep the pinmen busy for one week, the tourney being slated to reach its conclusion one week from today.

A group of singles bowlers will take the alleys at 2 o'clock, and at 3:30, the Wilson Owls will begin the team rolling. Doubles will be started at 2:45.

Women bowlers will have their fling today, also, the Plaza Girls, Brunswick Recreation Ladies and the East End Ladies taking the alleys simultaneous with the Wilson Owls men's team. More ladies teams, including the star Haus Girls outfit, the Ambridge Ladies, Nuss Brothers Ladies entry, St. Joseph Social Club, Arlington Girls, Haines Girls, Blue Bells and Penn Recreation, sponsored by Eddie Edwards, will bowl at 10:30 this evening.

The complete program for today follows:

MEN'S TEAMS
Wilson Owls—3:30 P. M.
Singles—2:00 P. M.

J. Reilly, M. McLaughlin, J. D. Reilly, M. Tomich, C. Martell, C. Gillespie, L. Reed, G. Payton.

Strikes and Spares

The finals of the bowling championships of the employes of the Philadelphia Company and affiliated organizations will be rolled on the Auditorium alleys, East End, tonight.

Harry Davis, individual champion of the Pressroom Bowling League of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph last season, with an average of 138, is leading the circuit in the matter of high individual score for three games this season, with a total of 510 pins. Howard Kaecher is leading the individual averages this season, with only two weeks of rolling remaining, with a mark of 142 and also has high score for one game of 238.

Tulsa to Challenge For Stanley Trophy

KANSAS CITY, April 13.—(AP.)—William F. Grant, president of the American Hockey League, said that Tulsa, crowned champion here Saturday, will challenge the National League for the Stanley Cup, emblematic of world professional hockey supremacy.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF SATURDAY: LISZT, FAMOUS HUNGARIAN COMPOSER, COULD NOT SPEAK HUNGARIAN—Franz Liszt, the famous Hungarian composer and pianist (1811-1886), who in childhood became known as the "Ninth Wonder of the World," was a native of Hungary, but left the land of his birth for Vienna, Austria, when a child. While Hungary acclaims him as her greatest musical genius, it is a fact that he could not speak his native language. He composed all his works in either French or German. Over the bed in which he was born at Doborjan, near Sopron, Hungary, they have suspended a framed letter of the great composer in which he declared "From the cradle to the grave I feel a Hungarian, though to my greatest regret ignorant of the language." THE WATER PUMP THAT DELIVERS GASOLINE—An old pump, which for many years has been supplying water at the rear of the Dooley Motor Company, South East Fourteenth street and Indianapolis road, Des Moines, Ia., suddenly changed its product to refined gasoline on January 11, 1931. The source of the gasoline supply is not known, inasmuch as there are no leaking gas tanks in the vicinity, but the product of the "Mystery Pump" burns as readily as motor fuel.

FLOOR RULES CHANGED

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Five changes in the playing code were made by the Joint Basketball Rules Committee which concluded a three-day session at the University of Pennsylvania Club.

The most important change cut all time-out allowances from two minutes to one, with the idea of meeting the rather general criticism that basketball was losing its popularity because of the frequent and lengthy interruptions in play.

Other changes were of minor character. It was ruled that no more than three overtime periods would be permitted in games involving high school or younger players. In the event the score is tied after two extra periods, a "sudden death" period would follow, the team first making two points to win.

Another new regulation makes any free shot which fails to touch either ring or backboard an out-of-bounds ball with possession going to the opposing team on the sidelines. On a free throw following technical or double fouls, players will not be allowed to line up along the free-shot lines, but will stand aside so as not to distract the attention of the shotmaker. The last definite change provides that, if a free shot is discounted for any reason, the jump will be made at center court rather than on the foul line, as previously.

Mill Creek Trio Downs Artillery

YOUNGSTOWN, April 13.—The Mill Creek Riding Club took the rubber game of a three-game polo series from the 107th Field Artillery, of Pittsburgh, here yesterday. The final score was 27-7.

The Creekers held the Soldiers to one goal in the final four chukkers while they were steadily mounting their own count.

FAIRMONT MAY LOSE FRANCHISE

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 13.—The Middle Atlantic baseball situation here is critical, according to Fred L. Doringer, president of the local club. It has been decided that no attempt will be made to play Middle Atlantic ball unless night ball is available. About $2,500 must be raised for a payment on the lights by tomorrow, Mr. Doringer says, and so far less than half that amount is in sight.

The club owners have a chance to sell the franchise to Martinsburg, formerly in the Blue Ridge League, at a profit, but they do not wish to give up the franchise, unless forced to do so. Effort is being made to sell enough season tickets to meet the light payment.

Grays Score Victory In Slugging Duel

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—The Homestead Grays, Pittsburgh's fast Negro baseball club, made it two straight over the St. Louis Stars when they won the final of the two-game series at the Stars' park here yesterday in 10 innings, 15 to 9. The Grays trimmed the stars, 6 to 3, Saturday.

Repeating their slugging performance of Saturday's game, the Grays bombarded Strong and Hunter, the Stars' hurlers, for a total of 15 hits, including home runs by Charleston, Wilson and Scales. Wells and Suttles contributed four-base wallops for the Stars. The score by innings:

BRAME, KREMER ILL, SOUTHPAW NOMINATED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Lawrence (Larry) French, youthful left-hander, today was assigned by Manager Jewel Ens, of the Pirates, to pitch against the Cubs in the opening game of the season at Wrigley Field tomorrow afternoon.

The Pittsburgh skipper made his announcement after the club physicians informed him that Ervin Brame and Remy Kremer, righthanded aces, were not in shape to do themselves justice.

Brame has been ill for several days, and this morning he complained of symptoms akin to sinus trouble. Kremer has only a cold, but he was under the physician's care.

Brame was the first choice for the slab assignment until he became ill several days ago.

REMY NOT IN SHAPE

The choice then narrowed to Kremer and French, and when the veteran of many campaigns reported ill today, Ens stated that in all probability French would be on the mound in the inaugural. Rolly Hemsley will catch.

Visalia Larry was late in reaching camp owing to holdout trouble, but he went to work with a vigor after reporting at Paso Robles. In his most recent appearance on the mound he baffled the Detroit righthanded attack through six rounds.

The Cubs will throw a righthanded offensive at French.

The whole lineup, exclusive of Lefty Grimm, hit from the right side, but French has a mean screw ball that offsets this advantage to a large extent; in fact, Larry is generally troublesome to the Bruin hitters.

CAPACITY CROWD LIKELY

A beautiful springtime day greeted the Pirates as they reached Chicago after traveling from Detroit. The balmy air put added pep in the Pittsburghers, and they were a merry crew as they headed for Wrigley Field.

Manager Ens sent his squad through a fine workout which started about 11 o'clock.

In the event of a continuance of the wonderful weather tomorrow, Wrigley Field will be packed for the jump-off game. The park is reported practically sold out. The Pirates expect to face Charley Root or Bob Smith. Both are righthanders.

LOSE TO BENGALS

The Pirates came here from Detroit, where yesterday they climaxed their direful springtime preludes with another defeat at the hands of the fast-going Tigers. The Bengals slammed the National League representatives with a 10-to-5 count in a game that was witnessed by almost 11,000 fans. The Detroit victory made it seven out of nine for Bucky Harris' smart club.

Both the Buccos and Bears are in shape for the opening clash. Pennant contenders, the two National League entries are companions in sadness concerning their season of exhibition games. Both were smeared early and often, but with something big at stake you may look for some fascinating baseball by the same two clubs.

Failure of Adam Comorosky to catch a low liner to left field in the second inning started the Pirates on the road to defeat yesterday in Detroit. The Buccos scored three tallies in their half of the inning and Heinie Meine appeared to be in possession of baffling stuff when Commy muffed a drive that netted a two-sacker for Shortstop Akers. One was out and none was on the sacks at the time. Meine then lost his control and before the inning was

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

WASHINGTON, April 13.—We are practically on the precipice of a new baseball season, waiting to be pushed off. Our Washington club starts in on whale meat tomorrow when we meet the A's. After that it's just a diet of minnows and sardines for us.

Nick Altrock

President Hoover will throw out the first baseball, and you can depend on the Republican National Committee to claim it was a strike. Personally, I don't think Hoover's arm is in good condition this spring. He sprained it vetoing bills.

Of course the experts have picked the A's and Cards to repeat this season, but by next September we will make them eat their words, and they will be gnawing at newsprint like mice.

A last-minute inspection has convinced baseball's 16 major league managers that all is well. They may not think so by the time July rolls around, but at the moment optimism is the keynote. There are no last place clubs in April managerial forecasts.

On the theory that what won last year should be good enough to win again, Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals, Champions respectively of the American and National leagues, will start the season tomorrow with lineups that closely approximate those that appeared in 1930. Ernie Orsatti will be in left field for the Cardinals, but that's only because Chick Hafey is a holdout.

CARDS MAY REPEAT

The Cardinals may repeat, but the Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Robins, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates all look strong enough to have a hand in the awarding of any pennant.

The Cubs were banking on the return to form of Manager Rogers Hornsby at second base; the acquisition of Pitcher Bob Smith and stronger reserves; the Robins on such new figures as Lefty O'Doul and Fresco Thompson and a terrific batting attack; the Pirates on the let-up in the injury jinx that ruined their chances last year; and the Giants on better pitching and a lineup shift that sent Johnny Verges to third base and Fred Lindstrom to the outfield.

The other three National League clubs, Boston Braves, Phillies and Cincinnati Reds, apparently will fight it out for the last three places, but the Braves may cause trouble.

SEE CLOSE FIGHT

A closer fight than usual looms in the American League where the Athletics may expect trouble from the Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers.

The Senators, who surprised the boys by finishing second a year ago, will start with virtually the same lineup. Cleveland, which has looked very strong this spring, boasts a crack pitching staff and a well-rounded offense and defense. Joe McCarthy's Yankees are a somewhat doubtful quality, but the old punch will still be there with Ruth and Gehrig in the lineup. Detroit's chances will depend largely upon how a new and young outfield performs.

Of the other three clubs, the Chicago White Sox look strongest with Luzerne Blue at first base and Mel Simons in the outfield. Bill Killefer's St. Louis Browns will start with a revamped and young lineup that does not look especially formidable. Shanno Collins is making few rash predictions about his Boston Red Sox, but he does say they won't finish last. He will get good pitching, but the attack again looks weak.

ROCKNE'S LIFE STORY—TWELFTH INSTALMENT.

By WARREN BROWN

(Copyright, 1931, Chicago Herald and Examiner. Distributed by Universal Service.)

If there was one phase of football for which Rockne carried on a continuous campaign, it was that part of offensive tactics known as the "shift."

The Notre Dame, of Rockne, system is based on the shift, and when agitation started against it, a few years ago, Rockne led in the counter-offensive, being supported by coaches whom he had developed, by Howard Jones, of Southern California, and chiefly by Doc Spears, of Oregon.

Knute Rockne

Rockne had said that the shift was not his invention. From time to time he presented a different version of its discovery. The popular theory is that Jesse Harper brought it to Notre Dame, having seen something of it demonstrated by A. A. Stagg, of Chicago.

I do not propose to fix the distinction of the discovery of the shift. For the purpose of this narrative, I am concerned only with the arrival of the shift at Notre Dame, and its development.

But let Harper tell it.

"I was in and out of Chicago," he says, "and heard upon my return, that Stagg had been shifting his line. I have reason to believe that Doc Williams copied something of that, and went on to develop it. I know that I didn't see it in operation at Chicago, and I certainly didn't use anything like it, at Wabash.

"The shift we first used was from a 'T' formation of the backs, with a balanced line.

OFFENSE LITTLE CHANGED

"Whether that was original with us or not, I do not know. Neither do I know how we happened to get into it. Maybe it was because we didn't know any better, and just got into it, accidentally.

"I do know that Notre Dame was the first team that ever developed a full offense from the shift. But I'll be hanged if I know who had the idea first."

"The signal system we used at Wabash wasn't much good for our purposes at Notre Dame," Harper says, "and I just happened to think up another one, which was put into use in 1913, Rockne's last year as a player."

In discussing Rockne's career, the Army game of 1913, in which the passing combination of Dorais to Rockne opened the eyes of eastern critics, always has to be mentioned.

I asked Harper about these passes, and what they might do, at the present time.

"They seem to be doing very well," he said. "I can tell you that they will still go, because I see them completed, every now and then."

DORAIS PRAISED

Dorais, Harper says, was the greatest passer he ever saw.

"Yes, greater than Gipp," he said, when the obvious protest was raised.

"Gipp was a short passer. Dorais could toss them out to any distance, with accuracy.

"There was nothing complicated about those passes. They merely required perfect execution, and this they got from Dorais and Rockne."

As his teams came along, he suited his attack to their physical qualities.

Thus the "Four Horsemen," who brought speed and rhythm into a Notre Dame backfield, were operating with an offensive that might have looked basically the same as that which was used so effectively by Gipp, by Barry and Mohardt, by Brandy and Wynne, but which was different in the finer points. Similarly, the 1930 team, Rockne's last, operated with an offensive that was, in Harper's judgment, "the most popular and most beautiful offense in football."

"It was the most complicated, too," says Harper.

"I know it as well as anyone, apart from Rockne, and I can't get it all. I miss the fine points and the fine points are what make it go."

Success of Notre Dame teams contributed largely, no doubt, to the agitation against the shift, and its opponents crystallized their attack around the charge that the shift gave momentum.

OBJECTS TO TABLEAU

"Momentum?" Rockne answered that. "The crab is the only creature able to get momentum moving laterally. Our objective is straight ahead, not the side lines.

"We are prepared to come to a full stop, after the shift, before putting a play in operation. But we fail to see why we should be required to stand out there long enough to permit an opponent to know what we intend to do.

"Our idea is that a shifting team should not be required to stage a tableau, so that mentally sluggish opponents could discover, in their own good time, what was impending."

Rockne defended the shift on another basis, that of giving the small man a chance in football.

And Rockne in his time, enabled many a small man to have his chance, and profit by it, culminating in the presence on the last Notre Dame team, of a guard, Bert Metzger, who weighed less than 155 pounds, and yet managed to gain national recognition for his playing.

The Buccos rode to a deadlock in the third and they took the lead in the fifth by adding another run, but the Bengals, the clouter Alexander doing his stuff, jumped out in front in the last half of the fifth and they were not apprehended again. Alexander drove a smashing homer over the left field fence at the start of the home half, his inspiration being deep in the three runs of the inning. The Tigers put three more tallies across before the contest ended.

Meine worked the whole game for the Pirates, Victor Sorrell and Arthur Herring doing slab duty for the Jungaleers.

MORGAN GAINS FLAG DESPITE SETBACK

The Morgan club, of the Keystone League, wound up its season yesterday afternoon by losing one of the greatest games of the season, Dunlevy defeating the Panhandle boys by a 1-to-0 score.

However, with the two Cecil games being called off, Morgan was awarded the championship of the league, with five points more than the nearest opponent.

The wonderful spring day brought out a great crowd, and the game saved the upriver club financially, Grandy and Williams getting a break to put them on the right side of the ledger after a hard soccer season.

Morgan started the game minus the Donnelli boys, who got off the road, but even when Buff and Fred did arrive it made little difference. Dunlevy was on, and the West Penn champion played Morgan to a standstill and deserved the victory.

The only goal came after 75 minutes' play. Referee O'Conner awarded a penalty against Cyle and Stan Urbanic made no mistake with the kick. That finished the scoring, but plenty of action marked the playing of the game.

In the semi-final round of the spring tourney, Horning and Mollenauer played to a 1-1 score at Shannon, while at Bridgemont, Shannon Fintex defeated Heidelberg by a 4-to-2 score. Cuddy and German Sport Club played a 4-to-4 tie. The Morgan-Dunlevy lineup:

Two wee fighting mites, Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia and New York, claimant of the world flyweight championship, and Archie Bell, of Brooklyn, do the honors in the 10-round windup in the Motor Square Garden ring tonight.

They are not strangers to the local fans. Both have made their mark here, Wolgast in two winning fights against Willie Davies, of Charleroi, one several years ago and the other one recently, and Bell against Jackie Rodgers last year and against the same Davies several months ago.

Both Bell and Wolgast combine boxing skill with speed and fighting action and the pairing, on paper, shapes up as the makings of one of the best battles of the season here.

Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw bantamweight, and Frisco Grande, Buffalo Filipino veteran, meet in the eight-round semi-final; Len Porter, Negro, of California, who defeated Chet Smallwood, of Akron, at the Garden last week, although he did not get the decision, and Nick Zinnia, of Jeannette, box the second bout, and Joey Bazzone, of McKeesport, and Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, are in the opener.

Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, boxes Young Firpo, of New Jersey, in a return non-title bout at the Arena, in Philadelphia tonight, after having dropped a decision to Firpo there recently, and a 20-round bout for the Negro middleweight title between K. O. Kelly, of Akron, and Jack McVey, of New York, at Barberton, O., is another feature of the night.

Between Rounds

Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, and Angel Vergione, of Swissvale, lightweights, have been matched to box the second bout on the Ted Yarosz-Tiger Joe Randall card at McKeesport Thursday night, with Buddy McArthur and Lloyd Clements in the semi-final.

Apples Meyers, Moose Temple promoter, is completing his preliminary card for his Pal Silvers-Joe Walters return battle, Friday night. He has Frank Novak, North Side heavyweight, and Lee Peer, former Marine, in the semi-final and Jack Thompson, of Warren, O., and Joez Bazzone, of McKeesport, in the second bout.

Three A. M. A. senior champions, Fred and Eddie Zivic and Max Elling, will appear in bouts on the amateur card in the Pittsburgh Lyceum ring, Thursday night. Fritz will box Gerald Clements, Eddie will meet Steve Smith and Elling is in against Jack Snyder. Dan Pulley, of the Lyceum, and Sparky Ewalt, of McKees Rocks, box the heavyweight final bout. Seven battles are listed.

Jim Londos, one of the world heavyweight title claimants, may headline the second show of the wrestling revival that gets under way with a card of five matches at Motor Square Garden, Wednesday night, according to Promoter Arthur Sharkey. Jim McMillen, who has met Londos a number of times, engages Young Romano in the main event of the opening show and Dick Shikat and Andy Zahraroff are in another finish match. Three 30-minute time limit bouts complete the card.

SCHENLEY GOLF STAFF NAMED

The golf season at the Schenley Park course will be ushered in next Thursday morning with a new staff of workers in charge. Bob Graham, newly-appointed professional, succeeding Al McBride, who will serve in a similar capacity at the South County Park, has named Monty Oneretta, assistant pro, while Tom McDonough will serve as club-maker. Another assistant pro will be chosen later, Graham said.

FORMER CIVICS TO POSSESS STRENGTH

By TOM BIRKS

With the many eyes following the local sandlots focused on the West Penn League, classed as the greatest loop ever organized outside of the city limits, the makeup of the various teams is attracting the fans' attention.

A newcomer into West Penn League warfare is the Linwood club. Under the leadership of Hugo Pasquerelli, the boys from the Lincoln avenue district are being given serious consideration.

This is the first year under the name of Linwood. For many years the club has been a power in independent football, so this season the club has branched out and taken baseball under its wing. And the best team in the district, the Lincoln Civics, well known on the sandlots, will represent Linwood.

SEEKS STAR PLAYERS

Manager Hugo has been working hard lining up talent for the fans at Hartman Park, and if the men under consideration come through, Linwood will be more than a threat.

For his pitching staff, the Linwood mentor has under consideration Fred Hall, Jimmy Arrigo, Walter Benzie, Bob Paisley and Joe Gallagher. Paisley and Jimmy Arrigo are two youngsters that are rapidly forging to the front. Both have a world of stuff.

A quartet of good receivers will be available. Bobby Herron, Doc Diller, Val Lowery and Walter Newport will battle for the first string job.

The infield berths are wide open. Mike Somma probably will start at first base, Billy Pape and Vince Lambert will be on hand for the keystone sack, and Paul Rentler and Dude Moore will be trying to cinch the third base position.

MAY GET BRILEY

There is a possibility that Tom Gettings, a warm favorite out Lincoln avenue way, might throw in his lot with the Linwood club. Should Hugo be successful in lining up that aggregation to throw at the other outfits in the loop, the East Enders will be warm contestants for the trophy to be awarded by Honus Wagner.

Nick Collins, former catcher with the Boston Braves and the Edgewood Club, has been signed by Book Shoe, of the City League.

MEYERS, FRANK PIN LEADERS

Meyers and Frank are setting the pace in the doubles event of the annual Votel Brothers tenpin tournament in East Pittsburgh with a total of 1188. Thirty-five pins behind are Torreyson and Euler with a total of 1153.

In the singles, Haverstick has taken the lead with a total of 609. Wagner is second with 605 and Paulus third with 603. The scores of the leaders:

DOUBLES.

Meyers-Frank 1188; Torreyson-Euler, 1153; Haverstick-Reister, 1141; Wagner-Anick, 1140; Groll-Lackner, 1122; McCoy-Conley, 1107; Procter-Masters, 1061; Arner-Candee, 1057; Breckstone-Rubin, 1053; Bennett-Mike, 1042.

SINGLES.

BOWIE MUTUELS

BOWIE, Md., April 13.—(Special.)—The mutuels on the seven races at the Bowie race track Saturday paid a total of $275.90.

PITT TRACK OUTLOOK GLOOMY

By JESS CARVER

There is moaning and gnashing of teeth mixed with some right cheerful smiling out at Pitt. The boys look at the track and field prospects and shudder, and then they peer in the direction of the football practice field, where Dr. Jock Sutherland is putting his varsity gridders through their ardorous spring paces, and have a chuckle.

Pitt's football prospects are about as bright as the track situation is dismal. The squad is coming along very well indeed. Capt. Eddie Hirschberg has been shifted to the right side of the line, paired with Big Jim MacMurdo, who, since he's been moved back to his tackle spot, is a very much changed (for the better) young man.

LINE POTENT

The entire line, well bolstered in point of reserves, looks like a very, very potent force. Rip Collins, MacMurdo, Mike Milligan, Hart Morris, Ralph Daugherty, Paul Cuba and one or two others, not forgetting Tiger Walton and Tarcicio Onder, are providing the potency.

But the trackers. Tch! tch! tch! Let anything happen to Everett Utterback, Marshall Lewis, Woody Harris, Len Monheim, Watkins and Caesar and Coach Frank Shea will pick himself a nice high bridge, with the water high on both sides.

Of course, there is a Carver on the squad, young Joe, who aims at being a weight man. This Carver comes from another branch of the family, being from what is known in our circle as one of the across-the-alley Carvers. But he's a Carver, so things can't be nearly as bad as they might be.

SPORT SHORTS

CHICAGO.—(AP.)—The Fall River Yanks and the Chicago Bricklayers fought to an overtime one-all tie in the second game of their National Soccer Cup final yesterday. Fall River scored in the first period on Billy Gonsalves' kick, but the Brickies tied the score in the next on a penalty kick by Bob Gregg. An overtime period failed to break the deadlock.

CLEVELAND.—(AP.)—Carl Lind, shortstop, will be released to Indianapolis of the American Association, along with Pitcher Orel Hildebrand, on 72-hour option, the Cleveland Indians announced last night. It is hoped regular work will bring Lind back to his form of 1928, when he was the most promising short fielder in the American League.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md.—(AP.)—The second of four 1931 charity racing days opens the spring meet at Havre de Grace track today with Equipoise, book Favorite for the Preakness and Kentucky Derby ready to make his first appearance this year.

CHICAGO.—(AP.)—Stewart Gardner, Scotch golf professional, died at his home yesterday after a lingering illness. He was 53 years old. Gardner was one of the first of a large school of Scottish golf professionals to come to America.

BETHANY, W. Va.—Two matches with Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Geneva and Wash-Jeff, and a single match with Broaddus grace the Bethany College tennis card. The season opens with Pitt in Pittsburgh next Saturday.

TODAY'S SCRATCHES
Havre de Grace.

STOCKS RALLY AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Trading Remains Listless And Professional Traders Move Cautiously; Radio Up

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—The stock market began the new week today with a vague upward flutter.

Bearish efforts caused some recession during the early trading, but failed to impel important selling, and the list soon reflected short covering. Tobaccos and utilities were leaders of the advance. Radio was also brought forward. Trading remained listless, however, and professional traders moved cautiously.

Strength in American Tobacco was accompanied by unconfirmed rumors of an increase in wholesale cigaret prices, as a sequel to the recent ending of the so-called price cutting war by two tobacco store chains. There was considerable difference of opinion in financial quarters, however, as to how well grounded these rumors may be.

There was nothing new to account for the strength of Radio, although there has lately been some brokerage house gossip to the effect that the first quarter was relatively satisfactory, which presumably means only that preferred dividends were earned, as contrasted to a deficit during the early part of last year.

The sluggishness of the steel shares apparently reflected the growing belief that the peak operations of the first half of the year were reached about three weeks ago. Although current operations will not be definitely known until Wednesday's reviews appear, the estimate for Youngstown showing a recession from 45 to 44 per cent of capacity, and the closing of its rail mill by Colorado Fuel and Iron may be straws in the wind.

The rail shares stiffened a little, although Southern Railway sagged to still another new low for the past seven years. Advance estimates of freight car loadings for the week ended April 4 indicate another moderate recession from the preceding week.

Credit conditions remained about steady, with call money at 1½ per cent, both officially and in the outside market.

Rio Grande Elects Sinclair Chairman

NEW YORK, April 13.—H. F. Sinclair, chairman of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company, has been elected chairman of Rio Grande Oil Company. Mr. Sinclair said the position will provide an opportunity for both companies to ascertain whether it would be advantageous to establish a closer relation between them.

R. R. Cavauaugh, representative of Bancamerica Blair Corporation on the Pacific Coast, and H. H. Rogers, president of Exchange National Bank, Tulsa, and a director of Sinclair Consolidated, have been elected new directors.

Canadian Freight Loadings Decline

TORONTO, April 13.—Loadings of freight by Canadian railways in the week ended April 4 totaled 45,322 cars, a drop of 4,094 cars below the preceding week and of 13,084 below the like week in 1930. Loadings January 1 to April 4 totaled 653,117 cars, against 798,540 in the like 1930 period and 868,790 in 1929.

Electricity Demand Rapidly Picking Up

WASHINGTON, April 13. — Matthew Sloan, president of New York Edison Company, told President Hoover today that the demand for industrial electricity was rapidly picking up on both the East and West coasts of the country.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 13.—Grains advanced early today influenced by reports that European stocks of wheat were dangerously low and that flour supplies in the United States were scanty. Dust storms indicating persistent need of moisture in spring wheat territory northwest were also a bullish factor. Opening unchanged to 1⅛ cents up, wheat afterward held near to the initial limits. Corn started unchanged to ⅜@½ cent higher, and then continued firm.

C. & A. HEARING REOPENED

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—The controversy over the purchase of the Chicago and Alton Railroad Company by the Baltimore and Ohio today was reopened before the Interstate Commerce Commission, with stockholders of the former claiming an equity of $65,000,000 in the property.

George M. Shriver, senior vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio, said his company had spent $47,550,395 in acquiring securities of the road, which were overdue, and the purchase price paid at the receiver's sale. In addition, he said the Baltimore and Ohio would assume unmatured bonds totaling $49,545,400, bringing the total purchase price to $99,664,595.

The stockholders protective committee, intervening in the application of the B. & O. to take over the C. & A. road, claimed that the value of the line was at least $122,000,000.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, presented the contention that the best interests of the public would be served by his road taking over the Chicago and Alton.

The troubles of the old system, he said, were due largely to overcapitalization and the changing times. The new company will be capitalized on the basis of a $75,000,000 purchase price and he estimated the road could easily earn the necessary interest charges.

FORGINGS FIRM ON LOCAL MARKET

Better Demand for Stock Noted in Early Trading; Fuel List Holds Steady

A moderate upturn in Pittsburgh Steel Forgings and a generally steady tone in other directions marked the initial trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange as the new week opened today.

Forgings is understood to be operating at a satisfactory rate and should business measure up to expectations for the year, an increase over the $1.52 a share reported for 1930 seems likely. Such developments would indicate that the stock is on an attractive price-earnings ratio, around 12 to 13, and apparently assures the dividend at the present rate of $1 annually.

The fuels held to a narrow range. Lone Star continued to sell at a small fraction above 19, the new low to which it dropped the latter part of last week. Western Public Service was steady around 10⅝.

Anthracite Yield Declines for 1930

HARRISBURG, April 13.—Anthracite production in Pennsylvania last year decreased more than 4,000,000 tons from the total for the preceding year, the department of mines announced.

Luzerne county lead all other anthracite producing counties with a total of 27,456,102 tons, and Schuylkill County was second with 15,673,224 tons, while Lackawanna County was third with 15,312,853 tons. These three counties last year produced 85 per cent of the 68,776,559 net tons mined in Pennsylvania. In 1929 Pennsylvania produced 72,985,844 net tons of anthracite.

Eastern Gas and Fuel Shows Expansion

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

CONTINUED EXPANSION OF the Mellon interests in utility operations in the New England states and along the Atlantic Seaboard is reflected by the annual report of Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates. This company was formed in July, 1929, by interests identified with the Koppers Company and its operations since that time have been closely tied up with those of this organization. At the time of its formation Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates acquired control of the Connecticut Coke Company, Koppers Connecticut Coke Company, Philadelphia Coke Company, Massachusetts Gas Company, which owns all of the stock of Boston Consolidated Gas Company, Old Colony Gas Company and New England Fuel and Transportation Company.

The report of Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates, after providing for interest depreciation and taxes, shows net earnings for 1930 of $6,212,439. After deducting dividends on the prior preference stock and preferred stock this was equivalent to $1.34 a share on 2,000,000 shares of common. For 1929 consolidated earnings of the properties were $4,103,808.

Plants Expanded

DURING THE YEAR the property account was increased $17,000,000 to $159,887,887 before providing reserves for depreciation. This was due to expenditures for pipe line extensions, new coke and gas producing facilities, improvements to coal mines and the extension of the steamship fleet. The balance sheet showed reserves for depreciation and depletion of $7,888,958.

W. F. Rust, president of the organization, stated that the benefits from these improvements were not fully reflected in the earnings for 1930 since many of them were not completed by the close of the year and others were in operation for only a short time.

Operations Fully Integrated

THE EASTERN GAS AND FUEL properties have been so closely linked together that hey form a complete operating unit. They have their own coal properties, their own fleet of steamships, their own plants for converting coal into coke, gas and by-products and their own facilities for distributing these products.

In summarizing a description of the properties Mr. Rust said in the report:

"Gas is distributed and sold in the Boston metropolitan area by your public utility companies. Comparative gas sales for this year over last year in the same relative territory showed an increase of 4.81 per cent, which is the highest percentage of increase in any of our large cities. Total of all gas sales showed an increase of 11.1 per cent over the year previous.

Sells Domestic Coke

"DOMESTIC COKE FOR househeating purposes as well as coke for industrial use is produced at your plants in Boston, Philadelphia and New Haven. This highly desirable fuel is constantly increasing in popularity on account of its low ash content, cleanliness, ease of handling and economy.

"Coal from your mines in West Virginia, together with other high-grade coking coals, is transported to your three coke plants by Mystic Steamship Company, a subsidiary of your association. During the year this company carried over 4,800,000 tons of coal, 14 per cent more than the tonnage carried the year previous. This company not only transports coal to these coke plants but also to other large consumers on the Atlantic Seaboard."

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

CONSOLIDATED GAS DIRECTORS

John A. Walls, vice president of Pennsylvania Water and Power Company; David Bruce, director of Union Pacific Railroad Company; Albert D. Hutzler, of Hutzler Bros. Company, and Wilbur Miller, president, Davison Chemical Company, have been elected to fill vacancies on the board of directors of Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company of Baltimore.

HUPP'S CANADIAN PLANT

The Hupp Motor Car Corporation plans to open an assembly plant in Windsor to take care of the corporation's Canadian business. A plant and modern shipping accommodations on property owned by the corporation in Windsor will be converted into a factory with approximately 30,000 square feet of floor space available for manufacturing purposes.

Investment Trusts Had Influence on Market In First Quarter

Quarterly reports of investment trusts now making their appearance tend to confirm the belief that their operations in the direction of adjusting their portfolios has been an important factor marketwise through the first three months of the year. The reports of several trusts and the changes shown in their respective holdings explains much of the selling that has been in order in the railroad list and in certain specialties like Allied Chemical, and at the same time much of the buying that has been influential in keeping the public utilities in the forefront of the list by reason of their strength.

Judging by the usual week-end reports from several leading steel producing centers, principal manufacturers are not contemplating anything in the way of important change in their respective mill operating rates. Indicated slackening at some of the tube and pipe producing mills, however, may possibly find reflection, it is believed, in a further slight letdown in the general average.

The surplus stocks of refined and blister copper on hand in North and South America at the close of March, was reduced to 553,016 short tons, disclosing a drop of 13,837 tons from the total of 566,853 tons reported on hand at the end of February. The shrinkage last month brings the present total to a level 52,000 tons under the peak reported at the end of October, last year, when combined refined and blister surplus stood at 605,000 tons. The reduction last month was largely in refined metal, the total of which dropped 9,424 tons to 354,205 tons. Blister stocks were reduced by 4,413 tons. Production for the month reached 102,058 tons, or well under the total shipments at 111,482 tons. Output in March, last year, aggregated 127,064 tons or well in excess of shipments of 104,167 tons in that month.

Wall street expects the March operating statements of the country's railroads will make a distinctly better showing by comparison with last year than proved the case in the instance of the February results. Such calculations are based on knowledge of the fact that carloadings stood up relatively better last month than in February by comparison with the same periods in 1930, and moreover the belief that railway managements are given to cutting expenditures to the bone. In the four weeks of February carloadings ran about 20 per cent under the corresponding period of last year and as a result net operating income of class 1 roads disclosed a drop of 46 per cent compared with February, 1930. March carloadings ran only 16 per cent under last year and in consequence the operating statements for last month are expected to make decidedly better comparison.

Dow, Jones & Co. says continuance of the conservative policy so rigidly adhered to by the management of the Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville and Nashville railroads will necessitate reductions this year in the dividend disbursements made by those carriers. Practically all of the roads in the so-called "Walters" group failed to cover disbursements made during 1930. Although the drain upon reserve was not particularly great, and the companies entered 1931 with ample cash, the long standing policy of paying dividends only if earned probably will be followed.

At a time when the government is striving to effect some semblance of stabilization in the oil industry, it is interesting to note that crude oil prices in East Texas have fallen as low as 20 cents a barrel. Because of pipe line charges of five cents a barrel, the 15 cents netted to the producers does not cover the costs of raising the oil, even in the new flush pools. This may eventually bring the situation in this sore spot to a head, since curtailment will uncoubtedly result in view of the profitless basis of current operations.

COPPER BUYING MORE ACTIVE

NEW YORK, April 13.—Demand for copper is moderate in the domestic market. Sales have been mate at 10 cents a pound delivered. Foreign sales, with prices again in parity with domestic, have picked up with 1,000,000 pounds sold Saturday and 2,000,000 pounds this forenoon.

The indication is that domestic consumers intenc to take a few days to see how firm the price is at the present level before buying in fair volume.

Soft Coal Output Declines for Week

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Total production of soft coal during the week ended April 4 is estimated at 7,214,000 net tons, the Bureau of Mines advises. This is a decrease of 295,000 tons under the preceding week and compares with 8,248,000 tons mined in the corresponding week in 1930.

Total production of soft coal during the present calendar year to April 4, amounts to 108,159,000 net tons compared with 129,817,000 tons in the like 1930 period and 144,533,000 in 1929.

Income From Oil Leases Taxable

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The United States Supreme Court held that income derived from oil and gas leases granted by the state of Texas as part of the state's public lands is subject to taxation. The question was involved in the suit of Group No. 1 Oil Corporation against the collector of internal revenue.

Nation's Leaders Wait for Times to Improve Themselves

By B. C. FORBES

WE HAVE a race of Micawbers as leaders: they are all waiting for something to turn up.

Mr. Forbes

Eighteen months after panic struck us, we are still drifting in a rudderless sort of way. There has been plenty of talk and plenty of Washington Chamber of Commerce committees, but of action there has been none. Capitalists don't seem to have any suggested solution for the most momentous economic problem which ever faced the modern world in peace time.

Labor leaders at least offer something concrete: a shorter work day and a shorter work week without any reduction but, as rapidly as possible, an increase in wages; also provision for the unemployed.

IT IS ALL a pathetic, tragic picture.

HOW MUCH longer is it likely to last?

AT THE BEGINNING of the year it was generally hoped that spring would bring the decisive turning point. That optimistic estimate has been abandoned. Sentiment, especially in the very highest places, is now veering toward fall; little or nothing in the way of important improvement is expected during the summer.

There are some who, more pessimistic, cannot foresee cheerful business or employment conditions next winter.

THIS TONING down of cheerfulness has occurred notwithstanding that favorable developments have outnumbered unfavorable developments of late.

For example: Steel orders have increased; automobile manufacturers report an unexpected increase in orders, tire output is mounting, pig iron production is increasing, more electric power is being consumed, cotton cloth output is gaining, some districts report increased building activity, savings deposits are rising, gold stocks in this country have reached the highest level of all time.

ON THE OTHER hand, the general price level continues to sink to lower and still lower depths; wage-cutting, as was to be feared, is becoming more common; freight car loadings are greatly under last year, and still on the decrease; farm exports are falling off badly—it is estimated that the decline for the fiscal year ending June 30, will be well over half a billion dollars; unfavorable dividend action by many large corporations continues.

ONE NEW YORK Stock Exchange house, Bear, Stearns & Co., is notifying its customers that "the appropriate time for the accumulation of stocks for the long pull and for investment will be the period of summer dullness."

After claiming that "1930 should have been compared with 1920 (not 1921)," this, we are told, is what we may expect:

"An upward movement in the spring (which we have already seen), a decline to a level closely approximating the lows of December, 1930, followed by a rally commencing about August and carrying through to the end of the year. In commodities we may expect first stability around current levels and then an advancing price movement.

"On this basis the appropriate time for the accumulation of stocks for the long pull and for investment may be estimated to be the period of summer dullness, with a reasonably safe expectation of a price range at the end of the year substantially higher than the midsummer level."

These statements would not be reproduced here were it not for the fact that they represent what is a constantly spreading sentiment. There has been extremely little accumulating of stocks by top-notchers lately. They are willing to gamble on being able to lay in their lines at lower prices later in the year.

Chain Store Sales Down for Quarter

NEW YORK, April 13.—Forty-seven chain store companies, including three mail order concerns, for the first quarter had total sales of $851,544,483, a decrease of 4.89 per cent from figures for the like period of 1930, a compilation by Merrill, Lynch & Co. shows. The mail order companies alone showed sales of $127,804,077, a decrease of 12.17 per cent. Excluding the mail order companies, 44 companies showed sales of $723,740,406, a decrease of 3.48 per cent.

Racketeers Worried About Arrested Flunky

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Louie Scorpio, known as "Slaughterhouse," is looked upon as a tough character. While in a disreputable restaurant he talks to the proprietor, Johnny Franks, and Nick Mizoski, known as the "Gouger." They ask him to join them in selling moonshine. Prompted by the great profits he will make, he consents. He accompanies them to the place where they make the stuff. While in the building police raid it. A Russian who had been helping to make the whisky is arrested, but the others elude the police and hide in another part of the building. They succeed in getting away altogether. Hank Rogers and Carl Luckner, rival newspaper reporters, get the story.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.

Hank's "line" anent the girl's blue eyes had so engrossed him with its own artistry that he hadn't picked up the change from his $10 bill. The opening of the door of the telephone booth apprised him for the first time that someone else had been there.

"Carl!" he exclaimed. "Where in 'ell did you drop from?"

"Oh—just popped in to say 'Hello' to Bright Eyes here," grinned Carl. Then, noticing Hank's change, on the glass counter, he reached over and seized a bill. "Loan an old friend a five, won't you? I'll buy you a bowl of chili with it!"

"I don't eat chili. Besides I've got to drop in and see my grandmother. She lives down here."

"Oh, yeah?" inquired Carl. "That's strange. So does my Aunt Emma. Well, so long, kid." Carl left the store, stowing Hank's five neatly folded in his billfold. Hank waited until he disappeared, then started in the opposite direction.

Stop in Restaurant

The reporter sauntered along the street until he reached Johnny's steak house, still open for the benefit of the early workers at the slaughter houses. A gaunt, slatterly cook was serving them. His hair was unkempt and his chin was black with a three days' growth of beard. Taking a stool at the counter, Hank asked for chili. Then, as the cook served him, he whispered significantly.

The chilis arrived. Meanwhile Hank remembered business in hand.

"Say," he demanded of his rival, "why the deuce don't you dig up your own stories?"

Carl grinned. "Why should I, Energetic?" he parried. "I've got you to do it for me. When I followed you here, I thought it was a hot lead—nothing hot here but the chili! Who do you think owns that still?"

"Some humanitarian," elucidated Hank. Then he remembered. "Bring us two glasses and some ginger ale," he instructed the cook at the counter. From his pocket he withdrew the purloined pint from the raid.

They raised their glasses. "not bad gin," said Carl.

The toast was interrupted. Through the rear door, Scorpio, Metz and Johnny Franks entered. Franks knew the reporters from other visits.

"Hello, boys," he greeted the pair. "Glad to see you. Anything you want that you don't see?"

"Well—it's a cold night," hinted Carl.

"Sorry. I don't deal a drop here. You know that."

Worried About Prisoner

"Sure, sure," said Hank. "Carl just thought living so near the still, perhaps—"

Johnny assumed a look of studied indifference.

"Well, well," grinned Carl. "Maybe there is a Santa Claus, after all!" He looked at Johnny's companions.

The worried Franks again interrupted.

"Sorry we gotta be running along," he chattered on, seizing Scorpio's arm. "But I gotta be getting in my orders for tomorrow. You know—now's the time the commission markets do their stuff." Almost dragging Scorpio, he withdrew into the office at the rear. He carefully locked the door.

The Gouger eyed them searchingly.

"What's eating you?" he inquired.

"Vronski. I made a mistake when I let the bulls get him. They got him in the can, and they'll be working him over. You know he ain't got the guts of a louse. Suppose he squawks—"

"He wouldn't dare!" declared the Gouger.

"Well—supposing he does?" Scorpio inquired. "What'll we do—beat it away from here?"

"Just one thing to do and do it quick," decided Johnny. "Come on—we gotta go see The Lip!"

DAILY TRUE STORY 'Not Interested'

Expensive Necklace Found Cheap Imitation

"Do you suppose you could afford as much as $85 for a necklace, Fred?"

Mrs. King said it with just a shade of sarcasm and Fred King flushed a little and eyed her rather timidly.

"I have to keep up appearances. Just because you were fool enough to lose your money is no reason for me to crawl into a hole and not see any of my friends or to go around with them. I have—"

"Yes, yes, I know," he answered quickly. He had heard the same thing over and over for nearly a year, just because he had retrenched a great deal.

He had tried to explain that he hadn't lost his money. It was tied up. He had bought long ago at bottom prices—prices that were considered to be low then—and he had held on too long. Wiser men than he had done that. When the bottom fell out of everything and everything seemed to follow the bottom, Fred King's holdings were worth about a quarter of what he had paid for them.

All of this explanation didn't seem to make Mrs. Flora King understand the situation.

Outlines Plan

"You had a couple hundred thousand in that stuff, whatever it is, and it isn't worth fifty now—and it was swept away," she had said.

"Not that—I've got it—I'm holding it—all in good time I'll——"

"You are holding the bag, with nothing in it," she had answered him, every time, and laughed at what she thought to be a sarcastic witticism.

Fred wondered where she learned that expression, for she didn't know a thing about the market or any of its argot.

"Well," Mrs. King said this time, "as I was saying, I have to keep my end up. I was going to get a lot of new jewels when you were stupid enough to lose your money."

"But, Flora—an $85 necklace is—er — an $85 necklace — I mean, I didn't think you would wear one.

"That shows how little you know. Most of the society women never or seldom ever wear their real jewels. I have read about it. They have imitations made. Because they are in society or because they dress well, it is never questioned."

"Too bad you haven't any wonderful jewels to have imitations made of them, Flora."

"That's where I'm bright—you don't know just how clever I am, Fred; you never will.

She chuckled.

The husband who does that isn't such a fool.

"I can have a wonderful imitation diamond necklace made. It will look like the real thing—that is, I mean I can buy one already made. If anyone questions it I can say that it is just an imitation of my real diamonds and that in these days with so many crooks about I don't dare wear my real ones. Clever idea, isn't it."

"Not so bad; go ahead and buy it, Flora."

Little was said about this necklace after that. Fred continued in his office. Business was improving.

But he used to get rather lonesome. His wife seemed to be on the go more than ever. She had so many friends and she seemed to be quite popular. Often she was up at Mrs. Smythe's mountain lodge for a week or so. Fred managed to send her to Florida with some of her friends.

Efficient Secretary

As for himself, he didn't go about much these days. He worked so hard during the depression, he had so many little irons in the fire that were gradually putting him on his financial feet again, that he was too tired to gad about.

"I hope you keep your new secretary. It must be upsetting to be changing all the time," she said.

"How many maids have you had in the past year, Flora?"

"Oh, maids are different—come and go — they don't amount to much anyway."

But Fred King's new secretary amounted to a great deal to him. Her name was Olive Brenton. She was most efficient. More than that, she was clever and sympathetic.

But there was this much about Olive Brenton, she never repeated to Fred King a single whisper she had heard about his wife, and she heard plenty.

It wouldn't do. She knew it. She was sorry, she wished he knew some of the talk that was going on, but it wasn't her place to tell him.

The time came when Fred King could ignore his domestic affairs no longer, although he did not let his wife suspect this. He did not object when she went on a trip to Canada for a week with Mrs. Smythe in the Smythe car.

Extremely Cautious

Mrs. King came back one day when her husband was at his office. She promptly telephoned him.

"Yes, lovely trip—splendid weather. It did me a lot of good, Fred," she said.

"Wasn't it? Too bad."

"It was just a nice beautiful outing up there in Canada, nothing gay about it, Fred. I see there's a new maid."

"The one you left sent word one day that she had to go away. I telephoned over to an agency and got another."

Fred King came home for dinner. Everything seemed to be quite all right. Mrs. King was extremely cautious for some weeks, and the same maid seemed to be a jewel—she put up with Mrs. King's tantrums and worked steadily.

Mr. King plodded at his office as usual. His wife asked him one evening how things were coming.

Good Imitation

"Humph!" she said.

"Thanks for the encouragement," was all he said.

It was shortly after this that the crash came. It was the usual thing. King went up to the Smythe mountain lodge one day and with two detectives paid a midnight call.

Mrs. King was there, just as she had told him she would be. But Mrs. Smythe was not there although Flora King had said that she was to be Mrs. Smythe's guest. The man who was there disappeared through a window, but that didn't matter. In fact, his sudden departure in that manner helped King get his divorce in almost record time.

"Where's the maid?" she asked.

"She wasn't a maid, really. She was a sort of detective. In fact, she is really my secretary, but she's going to quit her job and get married next week—"

"Not interested," Flora said, sharply.

"Perhaps this will interest you," Fred King said, smiling at her in a way that made her furious. "I'm the one my secretary is going to marry. More than that, I've had that necklace appraised. You will find that the man didn't cheat you. It is imitation, worth eighty-five dollars —"

"You lie—that's another thing I put over on you, Fred King. That was a real necklace, worth two hundred thousand!"

"My man here will lock up the place after you get your things out," was all he said to that.

The former Mrs. King rushed her necklace to the jeweler's. He assured her that it was a splendid imitation!

Real Action Needed to End Illiteracy in U. S.

"A SYSTEM of public instruction," wrote Thomas Jefferson, "as it was the earliest, so it will be the latest, of all the public concerns in which I shall permit myself to take an interest."

And in his last message to Congress, he appealed for federal assistance to "the great purpose of education."

But the one hundred and eighty-eighth anniversary of Jefferson's birth, which the American people observe today, finds the United States still suffering from the curse of illiteracy.

As late as 1920 there were nearly 5,000,000 of our citizens over 10 years of age who could neither read nor write.

Of these nearly 4,500,000 were adults above 20 years of age.

And among the nations of comparable size throughout the world, the United States ranked tenth in the number of illiterates.

In other words, there are nine other of the larger nations of the world which have a better record of literacy than the United States.

Recent returns from the 1930 census on 16 states show a reduction of illiteracy in the last 10 years amounting to more than 12 per cent, but it will take 70 years to eradicate illiteracy in some states unless the federal government does far more to promote public education than it is doing now.

In his recent condemnation of the curse of illiteracy and the blessings of public education, the Secretary of the Interior is most eloquent.

With the assistance of a national advisory committee on illiteracy, supported by private philanthropy, Secretary Wilbur has assembled a mass of facts on this vital subject.

BUT NEITHER HE NOR ANY MEMBER OF THE HOOVER ADMINISTRATION HAS YET SHOWN THE COURAGE TO FOLLOW WHERE THESE FACTS LEAD.

Neither private philanthropy nor local effort can eradicate illiteracy in this or the next generation.

If this enemy of our own national household is to be eliminated the warfare must be waged under the leadership of the federal government and supported by the governments of the several states.

This was clearly seen by Calvin Coolidge when he was President.

HE WAS ELECTED IN 1924 UPON A PLATFORM WHICH PLEDGED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION IN CHARGE OF A SECRETARY OF EDUCATION WITH A SEAT IN THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET.

During the Coolidge administration a carefully drafted bill was introduced providing for the establishment of a department of education that would place education on an equality with agriculture, commerce and labor in the President's cabinet.

In urging the immediate enactment of this legislation, President Coolidge in a message to Congress said:

"FOR MANY YEARS IT HAS BEEN THE POLICY OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO ENCOURAGE AND FOSTER THE CAUSE OF EDUCATION. LARGE SUMS OF MONEY ARE ANNUALLY APPROPRIATED TO CARRY ON VOCATIONAL TRAINING. MANY MILLIONS GO INTO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS. THE GENERAL SUBJECT IS UNDER THE IMMEDIATE DIRECTION OF A COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION. WHILE THIS SUBJECT IS STRICTLY A STATE AND LOCAL FUNCTION, IT SHOULD CONTINUE TO HAVE THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT. I AM STILL OF THE OPINION THAT MUCH GOOD COULD BE ACCOMPLISHED THROUGH THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION AND RELIEF, INTO WHICH WOULD BE GATHERED ALL THESE FUNCTIONS UNDER ONE DIRECTING MEMBER OF THE CABINET."

Washington, the chairman of the constitutional convention; Madison, Federalist and Father of the Constitution; Jefferson, anti-Federalist and defender of states rights; Adams and Monroe all favored ASSISTANCE AND ENCOURAGEMENT OF PUBLIC EDUCATION BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

Calvin Coolidge was only applying this fundamental principle of the fathers when he appealed to the Congress to establish a department of education.

Not until such a department is created, with a secretary of education at its head, will there be raised up in this country a leadership able to rid the American people of the curse of illiteracy.

President Hoover and Secretary Wilbur may be content to gather facts and study statistics about the evils of illiteracy and the benefits of education.

BUT WHAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT TO DEMAND IS A LEADERSHIP IN THE FEDERAL CITY POSSESSED OF THE COURAGE TO FOLLOW WHERE THE FACTS LEAD.

Only under such a leadership will the department of education which Thomas Jefferson strongly favored be added to the executive branch of the federal government.

Science Is Helping All

Annual Report of Mellon Institute Covers Food, Sleep, Brick, Etc.

What does the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research mean to you—or a home builder—or a housewife, preparing a meal? Not much, one might be disposed to answer without knowing details. The fact that it is an institution for cooperation between science and industry is not a glowing recommendation to the lay mind, that sees in science something interesting only to scholars, and visions industry as anything from a laborer with a shovel to a vast manufacturing plant.

But it does mean something to all of us, as is revealed in the annual report, prepared by Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of the Institute, for presentation at the annual meeting of the board of trustees.

In the summary of work accomplished under fellowships there is information about an investigation of air pollution, a more extended and detailed investigation of soot-fall in Pittsburgh than any ever held. Comparisons show a decrease in eight years, but an amount still more than it was 20 years ago. The conclusion is that smoke abatement methods now in operation are inadequate.

Then there were investigations of sleep, covering more than a year of experiments. This developed, for one thing, that afternoon rest for children is quieter than the nocturnal rest. Also that night rest is hardly affected by the afternoon nap, so the latter is a clear gain in rest.

Then there is a report on the study of foods cooked in aluminum utensils, still going on, but tending to show "a safety factor of about 100," as far as the effect of food-corroded metal is concerned.

There also were investigations concerning the common, everyday brick, also of by-product coke technology, fertilizer that makes more vegetables and flowers, the use of iodine in several fields and many other subjects, all of which are of direct benefit to you and the house builder and the housewife—everybody.

To Bar Death Penalty

Bill Introduced in State Senate to Substitute Life Imprisonment.

Progress is being made in the drive to eliminate legalized murder in the form of capital punishment in Pennsylvania. A bill has been introduced by State Senator Leroy Chapman, of Warren. The measure would make life imprisonment the only sentence for first degree murder. It would eliminate the present system under which the juries are required to determine whether the sentence is to be execution or life imprisonment.

Most students of criminology insist that the certainty of punishment rather than its severity is the deterring influence in crime. During the past century the number of offenses punishable by death has been steadily reduced until at the present time first degree murder is the only crime carrying the supreme penalty in most states.

With the advance of civilization a more understanding attitude has been taken toward crime. Some states already have taken the final step in eliminating the barbaric life-for-a-life law from their statute books. It is to be hoped that Pennsylvania will soon join the ranks of these more enlightened states.

Old Age Pensions

Prospects for Passage of Needed Amendments Are Better Than in Past.

Favorable action should be taken on the constitutional amendments permitting the state to make old age pensions and give assistance to mothers. The measures have passed the Senate by a vote of 35 to 9, with every Senator from Allegheny County favoring the legislation.

Some opposition is expected in the House, but a step of such genuine merit should not again be sidetracked as it was the last time old age pensions became an issue. At that time the state Republican machine blocked the attempt to extend aid to needy cases of this kind.

It is understood that Gov. Pinchot is sympathetic toward the old age and mother pensions, so that the chances for the approval of the amendments are bright.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Somebody said that modern youngsters are brighter than all previous models—

I wonder.

There's certainly a big show of something that looks like talent. You see it particularly in a job like this. Hundreds of boys and girls writing or dropping in. What poise they have — and what a "line!" How in the world did they learn so much in their scant 18 or 20 years.

Remember what goofs you and I were at that age? Didn't know what to do with our hands or feet. Hadn't been anywhere or seen anything. Couldn't write, couldn't sing, couldn't draw. Push us into the spotlight and we'd just stand there and giggle and wiggle and blush. But these Bright Young Things! They look like a Barrymore, talk like a Shaw and wise-crack like a Will Rogers. Nothing fazes them. They'd be equally at home with Einstein or Ghandi, Secretary Mellon or King George—and they'd probably make any one of these old gentlemen feel like 30 cents.

And it isn't merely effect. They actually Do Things. They write astonishing short stories and poems, paint amazing designs—play half a dozen musical instruments—chatter divertingly on any subject under heaven and back up their chatter with real facts.

Yes, they certainly LOOK brighter, and SOUND brighter and ACT brighter than their dads and mothers did at their age. But I wonder if they really ARE brighter.

Now and then I meet one of them after a lapse of six or seven years. They've stepped out of their Bright-Young-Thing framework ... married ... had a baby or two ... come to actual grips with life. They still look pretty much the same. Time hasn't nicked them, as far as face and figure go. They're just as slender and sleek and smartly care free.

And yet there is a difference. I wait for the old sophisticated chatter—I inquire after that book or painting which they were about to create. The chatter doesn't come. The book hasn't arrived. They've kept up with their football and they've taken up bridge ... if possible, they're even more noisily collegiate—BUT AS INTELLIGENTSIA, THEY'VE DONE A FLOP. It seems to my seasoned ear—and my ear has had plenty of seasoning—that there's mighy little difference between their I. Q. (which means brain heft) and that of their mothers and dads.

For here they are, dealing with Real Life—not theories or hearsays. And do they understand it any better, do they manage it any more skillfully, do they buck up under it any more bravely than the Old Folks did? They do not. In spite of their brilliant start, they've settled down into the same old steady jog.

For which reason I'm doubting the much advertised brightness of our younger generation. They're good eggs, but nothing exceptional. It's true they are more facile and graceful, more wised up, more at ease. But that isn't because they're precocious. It's merely because this is a franker, more stimulating age. The air is full of flashy facts and wise cracks. Every confession magazine teaches you how to gabble about things your grandma dasn't mention. . . every movie teaches you how to strut. AND EVERY KID IS COPY-CAT AND OPPORTUNIST.

Nothing in particular.

LIFE STILL HAS THE BULGE.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 13.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Came a letter from President Walter Williams, of Missouri University, to attend journalism week at Columbia and I should go. Inasmuch as by not going to Ray Long's recent literary gathering I missed the Sinclair Lewis-Theodore Dreiser set-to.

So across the town and saw Walter Wanger, gay with a red rose in his lapel, and also John Golden, tanned black by the Florida sun. So wandering along Fifty-seventh street, and came upon the boarding house where I once lived and in which were made great sacrifices to pay the $18 weekly board.

In the evening with my wife to dine at the old Cafe Lafayette and recalled it was the first place I ever saw a woman smoke in public, and as I remember it was Evelyn Nesbit. Thence to a play and homeward, walking a short space with Queenie Smith and Robert Garland, the critic. To bed late.

A well-known essayist and critic was married a number of years ago to an eminently respectacle lady who happened, however, to be the star of a burlesque show. Since that time he has spent a small fortune buying up every picture of her or a program containing her name. Now she is to be glorified in a book on burlesque history.

The Sutton Place neighborhood may have a building exclusively for writers. The plan is for a five-storied structure on a cooperative basis. There will be high-ceiled, north lit studios and the prospectus stresses "perfect quiet." Amid such crackling aristocracy there will be room for 28 scribblers.

Personal nomination for the most finished performance in the current plays—that of Herbert Marshall in "Tomorrow and Tomorrow."

Long ago Oliver Herford, the last of the mid-Victorian wits, gave up attending dinner parties because he was always expected to be funny and amuse the guests. Irvin Cobb is also a reluctant dinner guest. He will only accept the invitations of old and intimate friends. This is the story of a poet who was with Gen. Pershing a recent dinner guest. In the midst of the dinner he was asked to recite one of his poems. "I will," he replied, "if you will get Gen. Pershing to shoot off a cannon."

It has been estimated New York uses 8,000,000 eggs daily. Seven out of ten New Yorkers eat eggs in some fashion every day for breakfast. And Robert Ripley—none other—eats them not only for breakfast but devours two raw with dashes of paprika before going to bed.

Incidentally as an old eggist, the best I ever tasted were cooked in a place in rue Volney and were called "Oeufs Florentine." They were poached in a sort of thick sauce of spinach and melted cheese and sprinkled thinly with chopped onions. All of which sounds a mess, but in the hands of a master becomes something inspiring you to catch the first Paris bound boat now and then.

Another simple dish I have never been able to get same in Paree is what they know as "Creme Caramel." It is only vanilla custard with a covering of brown sugar sauce properly burnt. Over there it becomes an epic, but here it is just "vanilla custard with sauce." But can we beat them frying chicken? O lady, lady!

The high priced exclusive dressmaking establishment both in New York and Paris is at grips with a desperate effort to survive. The big ready to wear houses are importing materials a week after hat and dress models are shown in Paris. In another week they are duplicated by French workers brought to America and at a far cheaper price.

He is one of the epicene 'kerchief-in-the-cuff gentleman who peacocks along Park avenue in the late afternoon. As he tripped by today a traffic cop in the 40's looked up, yelled: "Hi Tough!" and went right on with his trafficking.

From a morning paper: "Aside from refusing to work, she said he sat around all day reading funny papers and chuckling quietly to himself while she made the living."

A giggle-low!

CRADLE OF RACE

By Archibald Henderson

The discovery of archaeology, of anthropology, of geology, of geography and of climatology are all bringing us nearer to a solution of one of the most absorbing and baffling of problems in the history of the human race. It is not as yet positively known where the white man came from, this white race which many centuries ago inundated Europe and displaced the race living there.

Is Africa the cradle of the white man? Or is it Asia? And why does the choice narrow down to those two localities?

By slow and very gradual steps, working painfully from reasonable inference to virtual certainty, science has long been advancing irresistibly towards the solution of this problem. It is one of the revolutionary discoveries of modern science that Europe was not always inhabited by white men. Scientists no longer doubt that white men displaced a different race, which had long inhabited Europe.

Almost three-quarters of a century ago, to be precise, in 1857, fossil bones were found in a cave, at Neanderthal, near Duesseldorf, on the Rhine. These bones were pronounced by Dr. Schaffhausen to be those of a peculiar type of man, different from the modern European stock. But no one suspected, and no one had the right to suspect on the strength of this isolated discovery, that the man whose bones had been discovered represented the real aborigines of Europe. This man was Neanderthal man. Some scientists, notably Virchow, hastily concluded that the bones were those of a pathologically deformed white man. Huxley shrewdly suspected that the bones were those of a primitive type of man, akin to the aborigines of Australia. Professor King, in Galway, made the surmise which has since proved to be correct; that in Neanderthal man a totally unknown, very ancient species of mankind had come to light.

Since this discovery of the bones of Neanderthal man, 74 years ago, remains of a similar type have been found in many parts of Europe, and even in Palestine and the Crimea. Scientists have definitely concluded that there was a time, perhaps 20,000 years ago, when the sole inhabitants of Europe were people of the Neanderthal type. It is probable that they came from the western part of Asia, possibly Turkestan, rather than from Africa. And this for the reason that many remains recently uncovered in Kenya show considerable and marked dissimilarities to the Neanderthal type of man.

Isn't It So?
